The Beam Farm: 33 Years Of Conservation

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ELVERSON (Chester Co.) — Omar Beam is concerned about the changes. During just the last 35 years he has lived and farmed near Elverson, Beam has seen an increasing amount of development of land in this section of Chester County.

A few years ago, Beam became a member of the Chester County Agriculture Development Council, and spent time educating people about the increasing amount of land being sold to developers and speculators — which may, according to Beam, have profound effects on how we farm.

Beam farms about 650 acres and raises 1,100 head of hogs and 300 head of steers in partnership with his son, Nelson Ray; his associate, John Wilmer Stoltzfus; and Stoltzfus' son, Scott. Beam enjoys the benefits of a family farm. "We all farm together, but each one farms some of the acreage on his own," he said.

Beam has been a member of the Soil Conservation District since 1957. Recently, he was awarded the Chester County Conservation Farmer of the Year Award at the Chester County Crops Day.

Practices different

Beam said that conservation practices are different today than 20 years ago.

"When I signed up for membership in the district, the reason I signed up was that I thought I could try to make the best out of the the land I could," he said. "Not only that, I wanted to save on a lot of water and a lot of runoff, which would give me better crops."

Beam plants a cover crop of rye during the winter. When the rye reaches 10 inches in height, it is sprayed with herbicide. The rye acts to keep the soil moist, retains soil nutrients, and keeps the soil in overall good condition.

"The secret is to not let the rye get more than 10 inches high," he said. "If it gets too high, it becomes matted too much and it can become a harbor for insects."

Adds nitrogen

Manure is taken from a holding pit, tested, and spread before corn is planted in the spring. If necessary, Beam adds commercial nitro-

Omar Beam has been practicing soil conservation for about 33 years. Using contour strips and cover cropping, Beam farms about 650 acres and raises 3,000 head of hogs per year and 300 steers in partnership with his son Nelson Ray; an associate, John Wilmer Stoltzfus; and Stoltzfus' son, Scott.

Cousins Earn Big Bucks For Berries

LOU ANN GOOD

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — "Look at these berries. What'll you bid?" auctioneer Harold Keller called out.

Twelve-year-old Joel Leaman lifted the one-quart box of strawberries a little higher as the brisk bidding jumped from $100 ... $200 ... $300 ... $400 and....

"Smile a little more," Keller advised the Lancaster 4-H'er, "you might get more."

And Joel did get more for his berries that took the grand champion award at the annual 4-H Strawberry Roundup sponsored by the Lancaster Rotary Club. He got a hefty $470 for his box of juicy, sweet berries.

The highest bidder was Donald Horn, president of Pennfield Corporation, a Rohrestown feed company.

"When I left home this morning, I told Mrs. Horn to have the shortcake made," Horn said, "because I planned to bring home the prize berries this year."

Horn, who for several years had purchased the reserve champion's berries, said that he feels strongly about the importance of supporting 4-H and the farm community.

Joel's stiffest competition in the strawberry competition was his counsin Hans Leaman who took the reserve championship.

"We're born only five days apart," Hans, the son of John and Nancy Leaman of Bird-In-Hand, said of his cousin.

Although the cousins are good friends and live within five miles of each other, they did not visit each other's strawberry patch.

Both top winners insisted that they don't have a secret for raising

Lancaster Rep Proposes Egg Refrigeration Law

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster County Rep. Kenneth Brandt (R) on Monday introduced legislation before the state House that would mandate refrigeration of eggs within less than a day of hatching.

The proposed law was sent to the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee on Wednesday where action is expected to proceed quickly, according to Brandt's aide.

Both Brandt, the chairman of the Ag and Rural Affairs committee and Samuel Morris (D), vice chairman, support the bill along with 27 other co-sponsors.

Currently, eggs are considered non-perishable foods and are not required to be refrigerated under federal law. If passed, the Brandt bill would change that.

Heindels Ready New Dairy Facility

Nestled in the rolling green hills of southern York County near Airville, the Williamsburg-blue and ivory colored buildings of the Heindels' dairy complex make a picturesque color contrast.

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

AIRVILLE (York Co.) — Doing things a "little different" has never bothered Horace Heindel.

So when the opportunity arose about a year ago to build a from-the-ground-up dairy facility, the Yorkana farmer broke stride with industry trends toward rapid-exit parlors and free-stall housing.

Instead, crews of installers and earth-moving machines are putting the finishing touches on a dairying complex revolving around a state-of-the-art, 200-head, tie-stall barn.

"I want to look down through the barn and see cows tied," was Heindel's preference.

Heindel, York R9, has farmed some 50 years, beginning with five milk cows of mixed breeds. In the days when most general farms kept a family flock of chickens, Heindel tended upward of 50,000 of all sizes, many out on range at the Yorkana farm.

The family, including his late wife, Thelma, and their 10 children, tended market across the Susquehanna River in Columbia during the 1940s. They were the first to market the once-popular colored chicks at Easter and the first to offer pre-cut chicken parts at a

Delmarva Broiler Fryer Report

Thursday, June 7, 1990

Movement of ready to cook whole fryers was fairly good today but about as expected. However, buyer inquiries for additional product for next week deliveries were better than expected. Supplies were in good balance with immediate needs. Less than trucklot asking prices were steady at 52-62 cents. Live supplies were adequate. Average live weights continue to run desirable to heavy. Processor schedules were heavy. The trade sentiment was steady. In the parts complex, supplies of cutlets and legs were adequate, whole breasts were short of the active buyer demand, wings were in close balance to tight, and leg quarters were at least adequate but improved buyer interest for next week deliveries was noted.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, June 6, 1990

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: Cartoned egg prices were unchanged to higher in the Midwest and New England, unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was steady to firm. Demand was fair to good, mostly moderate and best where scattered features were in progress. Supplies were generally balanced; large sizes were tight to adequate in the Midwest. Breakers cautiously bought shell eggs for immediate needs only as prices trended higher and finished product demand diminished.

N.Y. & Phila. Frozen Eggs

June 5, 1990

Prices were unchanged. Trading was spotty. Breakers were cautious and generally adopted a wait and see position. Raw materials were usually adequate to maintain desired schedules. Floor stocks were sufficient to satisfy current trade requirements.

National Grain Summary

St. Joseph, Mo.
Wednesday, June 6, 1990

USDA DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN MARKET SUMMARY WHEAT PRICES LOWER AGAIN, ESPECIALLY FOR HARD RED WINTER. WHEAT MATURATION ACROSS THE AREA LOOKING VERY GOOD. KANSAS REPORTED 90 PERCENT OF WHEAT CROP IS GOOD TO EXCELLENT, WHILE 10 PERCENT IS FAIR OR POOR. THIS YEAR'S CROP COULD BE A RECORD YEAR. CORN PRICES ADVANCED, SUPPORTED BY WET WEATHER DELAYS IN PLANTING AND AS TIME IS RUNNING OUT, MANY FIELDS WILL END UP SORGHUM OR SOYBEANS. GOOD EXPORT DEMAND ALSO A FACTOR. SOYBEAN PRICES SLIGHTLY HIGHER DUE TO IMPROVED FOREIGN DEMAND.

UNITED STATES...A GENERALLY OPEN WEATHER WEEK PREVAILED ACROSS THE WESTERN CORN BELT, ALLOWING ROW CROP PLANTING TO PROGRESS AND FIELDS TO BEGIN DRYING OUT. THE DELTA CONTINUED TO BE WETTER THAN NORMAL, LIMITING FIELDWORK TO 3 DAYS OR LESS. SOIL MOISTURE WAS SURPLUS TO ADEQUATE IN THE CORN BELT AND EXCESSIVE IN SOME PARTS OF THE DELTA. RAIN WAS WIDESPREAD ACROSS THE NORTHERN GREAT PLAINS, NORTHERN ROCKIES, AND THE PACIFIC AND NORTHERN ATLANTIC STATES DUE TO WET AND COOL CONDITIONS. IN ALABAMA, GEORGIA, AND SOUTH CAROLINA, WEATHER WAS GENERALLY SUITED TO FIELDWORK AND SOIL MOISTURE WAS ADEQUATE TO SHORT. AMPLE RAINS FELL OVER PORTIONS OF CALIFORNIA AND TEXAS. FLORIDA HAD SCATTERED THUNDERSTORMS, WITH MOST AREAS RECEIVING SOME RAIN. USSR...IN WESTERN USSR, UNSEASONABLY COOL WEATHER ACCOMPANIES WIDESPREAD LIGHT TO MODERATE PRECIPITATION, FAVORING CROP GROWTH. IN THE NEW LANDS, SPRING GRAIN PLANTING NEARS COMPLETION, HELPED BY GENERALLY DRY WEATHER. UNSEASONABLY WARM WEATHER FAVORS RAPID CROP EMERGENCE BUT INCREASES EVAPORATION RATES. EUROPE...MODERATE TO HEAVY RAIN HELPS REDUCE DRYNESS IN MUCH OF THE BALKANS. COOL TEMPERATURES SLOW CROP GROWTH IN THE NORTH. SOUTH ASIA...CONTINUING RAIN IN SOUTHERN, CENTRAL, AND EASTERN SUMMER CROP AREAS IMPROVES PLANTING CONDITIONS. EASTERN ASIA...HEAVY RAIN CONTINUES IN SOUTHERN CHINA. RAIN IN NORTHERN AND EASTERN CROP AREAS BENEFITS WINTER AND SPRING CROPS. SOUTHEAST ASIA...EXCESSIVE RAIN CONTINUES ACROSS NORTHERN THAILAND. INUNDATING RAINS IN THE NORTHWESTERN PHILIPPINES CAUSES SOME FLOODING. SOUTH AMERICA...SHOWERS MOISTEN TOPSOILS IN ARGENTINA FOR WHEAT PLANTING, BUT INUNDATING RAINS SOAKS SOUTHERN WHEAT AREAS OF SOUTH-CENTRAL BRAZIL. AUSTRALIA...RAIN FAVORS WINTER GRAINS IN NEW SOUTH WALES AND WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

JUNE 11-17, 1990

Strawberries ripe in southern N.H.

June 13, 1611, Fabricius discovers sunspots ... June 14, 1777, the Continental Congress resolves that the Stars and Stripes will be the new nation's flag ... June 14, 1834, sandpaper is patented June 17, 1775, the Battle of Bunker Hill (actually fought at Breed's Hill) results in heavy British losses ... Don't brew while beans blossom

Ask the Old Farmer: I have water stains on a ceiling that I have tried to paint over, but the stains always show through. How can I cover the stains? J L , Pa

Paint on one coat of any white-pigmented shellac, then paint as before.

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Rain returns to cool things off, and it's heavy rain in the east. Sunny skies reappear; it's getting warmer, have no fear.

Greater New York-New Jersey: In for a drenching — mighty thirst-quenching. Several days of heavy rain, then turning sunny and hot through end of week.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Heavy rain to start the week again and continuing through midweek Clearing, and a hot, sunny reprieve before more rain.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Ready or not, it's finally hot! Clear and hot to be exact. Then becoming more seasonable before changing, once more, to rain.

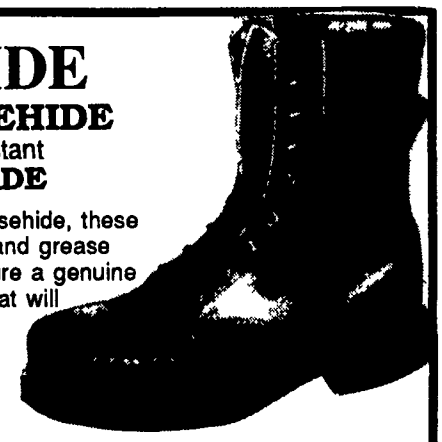
HORSEHIDE
GENUINE HORSEHIDE
Barnyard Acid Resistant
AMERICAN MADE



Made of tough, long wearing horsehide, these shoes stand manure, silage, oil and grease better than cowhide. Shoes feature a genuine Goodyear welt, nitro cork sole that will not track, steel shank, padded collar, cushion insole and arch support. Ideal for barn use. Sizes 7-13 including ½ sizes. 1st quality. Our experience shows that horsehide outlasts good cowhide by 50% or more for farm use.

OPINION

Reading, Writing And Agriculture?

Could it be that Americans live too comfortably to be in touch with reality?

Not that anyone should give up or stop pursuing a better life for themselves, but it's obvious that when the hard labor shrank out of most lives, the ignorance of basic life functions grew into them.

This observation has arisen out of a quest to understand the animal rights activism and growing American ignorance of gathering food, water, clothing and shelter. The most logical answer is that too many people own a silver spoon (or plastic) instead of a spade.

The progress that came from the American desire to be creative, make more money, expand horizons and so forth, resulted in most Americans leaving the farm several generations ago.

For the most part, present generations can not go back to the farm, if they wanted to.

Maybe that's the way it should be. Progress can't be stopped and for the most part, the progress has been good.

However, the United States sorely needs to stop dead, do an about-face on its march toward progress, and take a hard and thoughtful look at what it has dropped along the pathway.

What it will see, strewn along the road to a better world, are packages of various necessities lying on the ground - they were tossed off in the rush to get ahead quickly.

These are things such as understanding basics of living, morals, ethics . . .

Every explorer must have his essentials, and they get carried along the way, even if the pace is slower than it could be.

What we've done is to drop a few essentials in order to lessen the load.

Thus, without these essentials, it seems we have created a variety of factions within society that are made up of people without the knowledge of fundemental rules of survival — it is these factions, such as the animal rights activists, which are causing problems now for all of us.

The situation can be corrected. The answer lies within the schools and ultimately within ourselves.

We suggest that a good start is in early education.

School districts should offer, in addition to vocational agriculture and other elective agricultural courses offered in later grades, mandatory basic agriculture for every student.

The morals and ethics can come from home, church, and society, but schools now need to include a fundemental education of living that used to be taken for granted.

The educational system, instead of using so many computers and televisions as teaching aides in early grades, should reappropriate some funds for the sole purpose of getting a sound foundation of knowledge of food culture, water cycles and other aspects of day-to-day life.

Schools and teachers often get blamed for many social problems, but in this case the finger pointing is not merely to redirect responsibility. We need the schools.

Human Survival 101 should start in elementary school, before sex education, and include actual, hands-on plant and animal culture as part of the curriculum.

When we left the farm, we left a lot of knowledge that is still taken for granted. It can't be that way any more.

To Complete the U.S.D.A. Annual Farm Survey

Nearly 3,000 Pennsylvania farmers will be asked to participate in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Annual June Survey. Totally 117,000 of the nation's over 2 million farmers will be asked to answer the survey. The information gathered in the survey will be used to make state, regional and national estimates of crop acreage, grain stocks, livestock inventories, the number of farms and the amount of land being farmed. Farmers selected for participation in the program will be getting survey forms between June 1 and June 15.

The survey is important in making accurate crop and livestock estimates so I would encourage you to complete it to the best of your ability. These estimates are the basis for the development of marketing programs by the U.S.D.A. In addition, the information is used by state and federal government in developing rules and guidelines. The June survey is considered the most important survey of the year by the Department of Agriculture.

Facts about individual farms are strictly confidential and used only in combination with reports from other farms to produce agricultural statistics for the state and nation. If farmers have questions about the survey they can contact the Department of Agriculture at (717) 787-3904.

To Keep Pesticide Records

Today's battle with insects, fungus, rodents and weeds requires the use of many different chemicals. It is important to keep an accurate record of any chemical used. This would include the date, name of material, application rate, field number and even the direction the wind is blowing. This might save a lot of trouble and loss of income in case there is some question.

Many food items are being checked by Food and Drug representatives for pesticide residues. It is possible to find residues even where the producer followed regulations and every recommended practice. Your records would be very important in these cases. In any event, always follow label instructions.

To Manage Ventilation Systems

Fresh air is the most essential and least expensive item we use in producing poultry and eggs.

A great deal of air, in fact about three billion cubic feet of air may be movced through a poultry house in a year. So, we see where a single fan must be clean, lubricated, and well-powered so that it can move 10,000 tons or more of air each year. I'd suggest using a checklist to examine the condition of fans in poultry houses. The checklist should include these items:

- Remove all dust, dirt and feathers from blades, louvers, belts, pulleys and motors once each month.
- Lubricate all bearings that may cause friction.
- Replace bearings, motors, pulley's belts, pulleys and motors once each month.
- Allow the right amount of inlet space so as not to choke off air flow.

About 12 square inches of inlet is needed for each 50 cfm of fan capacity. The amount of inlet space should always be adjustable so that it can be open in hot weather and nearly closed in cold weather.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IT'S NOT FAIR!

June 10, 1990

Background Scripture: Psalms 37.

Devotional Reading: Luke 18:9-14.

Some months ago, as I was waiting to tape a program at a Dallas television station, I met a man who was to appear on the same telecast in another slot. We had quite a while to wait, so we talked together at length. I found that he was to be interviewed because of his experiences during World War II in the Auschwitz extermination camp. A Polish Jew, he was taken to the camp as a young boy and saw both his father and mother murdered, along with tens of thousands of others. He himself had to endure great suffering, humiliation and privation. After the war he came to the U.S., penniless and without any promise of help from anyone. Today he is one of Dallas' most prominent businessmen.

His is a dramatic success story. But his greatest success, I found, was not his survival of Auschwitz nor his financial enterprise, but an inner victory that is even more spectacular. For that which impressed me most about him was his complete freedom from bitterness. Life had dealt him more misery than most of us can even imagine and he has not one resentful or bitter bone in his body. Life had been unfair to him, but he has not let it defeat him.

WHY BE SURPRISED?

Somehow, this man learned quite early what has escaped so many of us: life is not fair. That comes as a shock to most people -- in fact, some people never seem able to grasp it -- for they assume that it is written somewhere that it must be. This includes most Christians I have known. But that is ironic, for the Bible itself is one long testimony to the unfairness of life. What could be more unfair than Christ's crucifixion?

In the Dallas Morning News the other day was the story of a man who had spent 20 years in jail, only to be released when another finally admitted his guilt. Worst of all, it was learned that people who would have testified to the first man's innocence had been ignored by the police and the prosecutor. A few days ago saw the untimely death of Ryan White, the Indiana teen-ager who, through no fault of his own, contracted the deadly AIDS disease. How can we continue to be surprised that life is not fair?

FRET NOT!

Although probably not on that level of magnitude, who among us has not experienced the unfairness of life? We lose a loved one who fails to reach the prime of life. The doctor tells us we have a disease that is incurable. Someone else receives the promotion we should have had. Our well-off next door neighbor wins the lottery. The blatantly immoral political candidate wins the election. Why? Because God never promised us that life would be fair.

In the face of all this, the Psalmist counsels "Fret not!" Why? Because, as the man I met in the television station knows, the more important question is not, "Is it fair?", but "What can I make of it?" This man would certainly be justified in hating for the rest of his life. But as he told me, "Hate destroys the hater." Terrible as were the things that heppened to him, he knew that even worse would be a life consumed with bitterness. That's why the Psalmist says, "Refrain from anger, and forsake wrath! Fret not yourself; it tends only to evil" (37:8).

Life is not fai, but in the total perspective of time God is just. And it is that by which we hope and live.

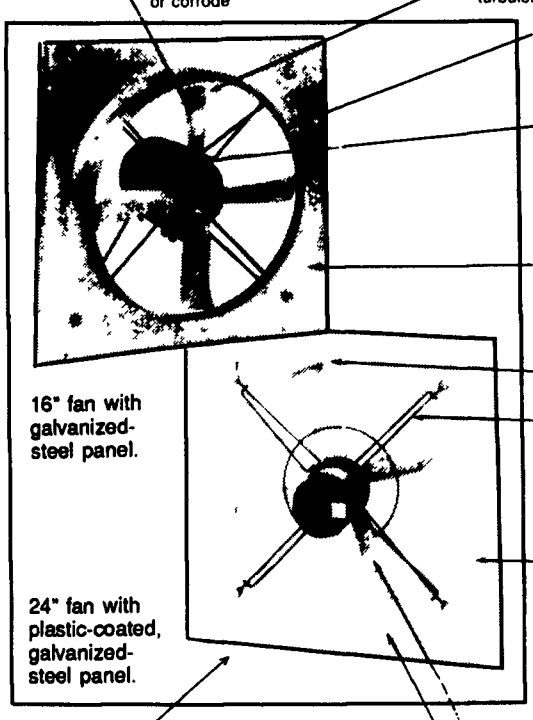
HIGH EFFICIENCY FANS

- 9" 14" 16" 18" and 24" sizes to match your precise needs
- Cast-aluminum propellers won't rust or corrode
- Aeroflow propeller tip reduces vortex turbulence to increase airflow efficiency
- Large-radius venturi smoothes and speeds airflow through the fan for greater efficiency
- High-efficiency, variable-speed motors reduce operating costs
- Galvanized-steel panel for economical ventilation in non-corrosive environments
- Flat-panel design permits easy, do-it-yourself flush mounting for neat, clean installations and easy weather-stripping
- Close tip clearance improves fan performance
- Plastic coated steel motor mount features full-circle support and a spring-suspension design to absorb starting torque and vibration for smooth quiet operation
- A tough plastic coating provides corrosion protection in severe environments while dampening noise and vibration Coating has UV blockers to prevent weathering
- Pre-drilled mounting holes speeds installation of fan and optional housings and cones
- Propellers are individually balanced for smooth efficient operation
- Clean white color looks great in any building
- Airfoil-design propeller moves more air per watt than old fashioned stamped blades



AEROTECH FAN EFFICIENCY. Extra-deep Aerotech venturi extends past the propeller to reduce efficiency-robbing turbulence.

TYPICAL COMPETITOR'S FAN. Shallow venturi produces power-robbing turbulence from excessive propeller overhang.

OUR STANDARD TRACTORS AREN'T.

Kubota M-30-Series tractors range from 43 to 76 horsepower. So they're big enough to do all kinds of chores around a farm. And they're loaded with standard features.

For example, wet disc brakes, hydraulic draft, position and combination implement control. Power steering and direct fuel-injection also come standard. You can choose a 2- or 4-wheel drive model.

It's easy to see why we say Kubota standard tractors aren't. They've got all the features you need to take on a big workload. In fact, the only thing small about 'em is the price.

Come in soon and take a look at our new standards.

Reward Offered To Combat Farm Insurance Fraud

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) is offering a reward of up to $10,000 to help combat rural crime and insurance fraud.

Announcing the program, PFA president Keith Eckel said, "Farmers are finding out that property insurance is getting harder to obtain and is becoming more expensive. Some insurance companies have dropped the line of business completely because of excessive losses, sometimes due to fraudulent claims. The unfortunate result is that honest farmers who want to protect their hard earned investments in buildings and equipment are faced with paying higher premium costs for coverage."

Eckel explained that the PFA Board of Directors recently approved the reward program on the belief that a lot of property insurance losses resulting from arson, theft or dishonesty can be eliminated.

"That's why PFA, along with the Highland Mutual Insurance Co. of Berlin, and Great American Insurance Companies, Farm Division, Kansas City, Kan., which are helping to underwrite the program, are willing to put up to $10,000 on the line to tackle the problem and protect insured farm property," Eckel said.

William Deeds, manager of PFA's Insurance Service, emphasized the need to keep property insurance available to farmers. "Companies writing farmowner's insurance are finding it difficult to continue doing so in Pennsylvania," he said, "Companies like INA, Fireman's Fund and The Travelers Companies have dropped out of offering farmowner's insurance here in the last few years."

Deeds said, "According to insurance industry reports, companies writing farmowner's insurance in Pennsylvania have had an

Lancaster Steer Takes Top Title At Franklin 4-H Show

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.) - Forty-four steers from five states competed for trophies and cash awards at the Eighth Annual Franklin County 4-H Spring Preview Show.

Held Saturday, June 2 at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds, judge for the event was Chester Hughes, extension livestock agent for Lancaster County.

Grand Champion of the show was a medium heavyweight Angus/Chiana cross steer owned by Kristin Chubb of Lancaster County.

Hughes said he admired the grand champion for its completeness and correctness. The reserve champion, "a carbon copy of the champ," according to Hughes, was a light heavyweight steer owned by Chris Mullinex of Howard County, Md.

Earlier in the show, Mullinex had been named champion fitter and shower. The reserve champion fitter and shower award went to Eric Sheiss of Franklin County. The 4-Hers were judged 70% on showing and 30% on fitting.

Hughes complimented the 4-Hers on the depth of quality evident in the classes. "It was a powerful show with excellent steers," he said.

A partial list of results follows:

FITTING

Novice (Ages 8, 9 & 10)

1. Jil Brant, Somerset Co; 2. Heather Fuls, Cumberland Co, 3 Lucas Naylor, Cumberland Co

Judging Contest Coincides With Western Holstein Show

WASHINGTON (Washington Co.) — The Washington County Holstein Club is sponsoring a judging contest in conjunction with the 1990 Western Pennsylvania Championship Show.

The contest will be held during the show hosted by Washington County on July 27th.

The contest will consist of six-classes, four animals to a class with a five-minute judging time for each class.

There will be two age groups for participants, Junior Division 8-13 years old; Senior Division 14-21 years old as of July 27. Teams will be made up of four people.

Awards will be presented to the first place team in each division and the first place individual in each division.

This contest is open to any young person. People can enter as a team or as individuals.

More information about the judging contest can be received by contacting Bruce Lloyd at the Washington County Extension Office, 601 Courthouse Square, Washington 15301, 412-228-6881.

1990 Gypsy Moth Status For Dauphin County

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.)— Since 1988, Dauphin County's forestlands havce received three years of relief from the gypsy moth. This milestone was not a result of man's intervention, but rather an act of nature.

During the spring of 1988, Dauphin County participated with the Department of Environmental Resources to conduct the largest gypsy moth suppression program that has occurred since 1974, when this forest pest first became a problem in the county.

In 1988, 41 forested residential treatment areas, consisting of 7,415 acres received aerial spraying using the biological insecticide, Bacillus Thuringiensis (Bt).

Immediately after the 1988 spring spraying, a prolonged period of precipitation accompanied with below normal temperatures paved the way for a wilt virus to spread throughout a high gypsy moth population. This wilt virus is fatal to gypsy moth caterpillars and occurs naturally in the environment. During these ideal harsh weather conditions, this virus becomes a very effective natural control.

An extensive gypsy moth population collapse occurred in Dauphin County during 1988 and failed to recover during 1989.

The effect of the 1988-89 collapse will again provide a reprieve from the gypsy moth across Dauphin County this spring. If normal weather conditions prevail this spring, the gypsy moth population may become more noticeable.

As a cyclic species, the gypsy moth is capable of a five year cycle that goes from an infestation, to a near total population collapse and back to a level of infestation.

Since 1974, three of these cycles occurred in Dauphin County. The first cycle peaked in 1977 when over 91,000 acres out of the 160,000 acres of forestland in Dauphin County was defoliated by the gypsy moth. Extensive mortality of oak stands resulted in subsequent years.

A 1990 Dauphin county gypsy moth forecast would include a few small isolated areas of a nuisance population, along with the potential for limited defoliation to impact the north scope of Berry Mountain between Lykens and Williamstown.

Last summer 58 landowners across Dauphin County had requested potential spraying for their properties. The Dauphin County Conservation District coordinates the Gypsy Moth Suppression Program on the County level. Staff from the Conservation District conducted on-site surveys to determine if these landowners would qualify for spraying under guidelines established by D.E.R. Results of the surveys indicated gypsy moth populations were below the minimum required for spraying.

For the second consecutive year 1989-1990, Dauphin County will not have a gypsy moth suppression program due to the desirable low gypsy moth population.

If during this summer your property is affected by the gypsy moth and you are at a loss as to what you can do to control a nuisance level population, obtain a copy of Gypsy Moth Control Options for the Homeowner. The controls covered in this publication can have positive results when contending with a minor population. To request a copy call the Dauphin County Conservation District at 921-8100.

Eastern Junior Simmental Exposition

WASHINGTON (Washington Co.) — An Eastern Junior Simmental Exposition is to be held Tuesday through Friday at the Washington County fairgrounds.

The annual event is open to Junior Simmental Breeders in every state east of the Mississippi River. In its seventh year, officials expect more than 100 participants from most of the elibigible states.

The event sponsored is by the American Simmental Association (ASA), numerous agricultural business and various breeders.

Scheduled for Tuesday is registration from noon to 5 p.m. Starting at 6 p.m. is a barbecue at the fairgrounds, courtesy of the Pennsylvania Simmental Association. At 7 p.m. is an ASA general session meeting at the fairgrounds.

On Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. participants will be take a written herdsmen and sire summary quiz. At 11:30 a.m., a free lunch is offered by the Washington County Livestock Association. From 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. livestock judging is scheduled. At 7 p.m. a public speaking contest is to be held at event headquarters at the Washington Holiday Inn.

On Thursday, at 1 p.m., a sales talk is set for the fairgrounds, which consists of a mock sale of participants animals. At 7 p.m., a beef bowl contest is to be held at the Holiday Inn.

On Friday, starting at 9 a.m., a heifer show and showmanship competition is scheduled at the fairgrounds. Later, an awards banquet at the Holday Inn is scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

One More Reason To Reorganize

Rockchucks and Young Studs
DICK BARTH
General Manager, PA DHIA

Those who attended the PA DHIA annual meeting last March will probably remember the comments that Mike Quesnell made regarding the changes that the DHIA system needs to make to stay in business in the future.

Mike is a dairyman from Idaho and the vice president of National DHIA and he brought with him a keen perspective on "staying alive."

One of the stories he brought related his personal experience with a rockchuck, a type of woodchuck that inhabits Idaho, when he was a 16-year-old "stud."

Even though the rcokchuck's legs were only several inches high and much shorter than Mike's, and even though he caught the annual by surprise, he could not run the animal down before it reached its burrow. The animal had found an effective way to stay alive.

Sometimes I think of that story when I think about the legal liability that local DHIA directors are exposed to.

For years, like the rockchuck, local directors have been able to outrun lawyers and stay just out of legal reach. And it's a good thing too, because nothing protects their personal assets (farm, home, etc.) from being exposed to adverse legal decisions if they are sued by disgruntled members for decisions they made as directors.

Most local directors don't seem to realize such exposure exists. At least that's the impression I get from talking with many of them. And when it's discussed, incorporation of the local association is often suggested because it seems to be a logical solution.

In reality, it does not help much because a local corporation's assets would be sparse protection from the cost of legal defense if a director was sued.

The day seems to be at hand when rockchucks may no longer be able to outrun the young legal studs.

Most of us would agree that volunteer leaders of a vital service like DHIA should not be exposed like that.

They contribute their time and energy to keep the services going and deserve to have their personal assets protected. Even so, how many members do you think would be willing to contribute toward the cost of legal defense if a local association director was sued? Worse yet, how many would remain as members if they were to be assessed for the cost of legal defense?

This is a difficult and sensitive issue for most folks; one we don't like to think about, but one that won't go away because DHIA has a monopoly on official records and bears an obligation to provide official records services to just about anyone who wants them.

What can we do?

REORGANIZATION HELPS

Tweleve counties in the state have voluntarily solved the problem for themselves by merging with the state association.

By merging, the separateness of the local association disappears and the need for a board of directors at the local level is gone. This simple act eliminates the liability confronting local directors, but preserves the unique local flavor of each county as a local unit of Pennsylvania DHIA.

This is not to say that all possibility of being sued is gone. Our system of justice in this country pretty much allows anyone to sue anyone else at any time. However, with no local decisions about providing service being made, the chance of a local represenattive being sued is reduced significantly.

As a point of interest, the state board does not share this exposure because the state association is incorporated and has assets to use to protect state directors, including insurance, if need be.

This point is number eight in favor of reorganizing DHIA into a single statewide, direct-member organization in Pennsylvania.

There is one more major reason for reorganization to cover in my next column. Then we will take a look at what it actually involves, how members will be affected and what some of the potential downsides are. Please stay tuned.

Dairy Trends In Franlkin County

PHILIP WAGNER
Franklin Co. Dairy Agent

Dairy farming continues to be big business in Franklin County.

Cow numbers at 41,000 are up 4,000 from ten years ago with the current herd size averaging 75 cows and climbing.

The optimism in dairying is seen when one travels the countryside. The amount of new construction that has occurred the past three years has been tremendous considering the ups and downs in milk prices as well as weather patterns.

The new barn of choice for lactating cows is the free stall barn. Off hand, I cannot remember the last time a totally new tie stall facility was constructed. Two, three, and four row barns are the most common.

An arrangement gaining interest is multiple two row open front barns with the cows head to head. Reasons given for this arrangement include better ventilation with the narrow building, maximum benefit from winter sunshine, and reduced cow discomfort from summer afternoon sunshine for cows lying in stalls along an outside wall.

Most new buildings are well ventilated.

The most common side wall material is curtains from the eave to near ground level. This has worked very well.

Some dairymen have installed insulation under the roof to reduce the summer heat load and eliminate condensation during winter. Just as many have opted to not insulate. The final verdict on this practice is not in.

Sprinkler systems for summer cow comfort are becoming more common each year. Most dairymen have not incorporated fans into this system, especially if the barn is well ventilated to begin with.

Free stall base materials do not set any particular pattern. You name it and we have it.

The oak plank base has been used often during the past couple of years. This stall works well if it is kept well bedded.

Used railroad ties have been used with success for both lactating cows and heifers. However, we in extension cannot advocate their use for lactating cows because of the possible crossover of creosote from the tie through the teat shin into the teat cistern. We do not need another foreign product showing up in our milk supply.

The latest material gaining interest is the woven plastic material attached to the breast board, positioned over the stall bed and cut off to hang down over the back of the curb. This can be used over any free stall base. A layer of bedding is put over the base before the plastic is put down. A light layer of bedding can then be used on top of the plastic. Cattle use these stalls very well.

Manure handling becomes more critical as herds and barns become larger. Most dairymen at least take a look at options other than daily tractor scraping.

Alternatives include slatted floors, automatic alley scrapers and flushing.

Slatted floors are gaining attention because no mechanization is required. Slats offer two manure handling options. The area under the barn can serve as the manure storage structure. Manure odor and gases do not present a problem in well ventilated barns.

The other option is to construct a four foot deep gravity channel under each slatted alley and allow the manure to flow by gravity to an outside storage.

Automatic alley scrapers have worked well for some people and not so well for others. Be sure to talk to several users before deciding if this is the best option for you.

Given the right circumstances, flushing is a viable option for some operators. The system should be designed to recycle water. A separator can be included to remove a portion of the solids but this is not a necessity. A settling lagoon can serve the same purpose.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's this week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania. Remember these are averages so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

USDA Increases Order Assessments

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture will increase assessments on imported pork and pork products by one-hundredth-of-a-cent per pound, or the equivalent of two-hundredths-of-a-cent per kilogram, effective June 29.

Daniel D. Haley, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said the upward adjustment reflects the 1-percent increase in hog prices paid at major U.S. markets last year. The assessment adjustment is authorized by the Pork Promotion, Research, and Consumer Information Act of 1985, he said. The rate of assessment, one-quarter of one percent of market price, remains unchanged.

Pay Tribute To Ice Cream Soda

PHILADELPHIA — More than 15,000 people are expected to gather on Independence Mall on June 28 as "Everyday is Sundae" joins Philadelphia's "Festival of Firsts" in its tribute to a man of many firsts, Benjamin Franklin, by honoring another famous Philadelphia first — the ice cream soda.

Yes, the ice cream soda was invented right here in Philadelphia created much by accident in 1874 during the 50th anniversary celebration of the founding of the Franklin Institute.

The Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association (MAMMA) kicks-off July as National Ice Cream Month, with its annual free ice cream extravaganza, as the city continues its year-long salute to Benjamin Franklin, celebrating 200 years of his genius.

"Everyday is Sundae" returns the ice cream soda to the era of its heyday — the 1950s. Dust off your white buck dancing shoes and step back 40 years with rock 'n roll classics compliments of WOGL-FM, Oldies 98.

Order your ice cream soda made with delicious Barq's Root Beer, which is distibuted in the Delaware Valley by the Philadelphia Coca-Cola Bottling Company, from your favorite Oldies 98 radio personality.

Test your hula-hooping skills against some of the best or twist the day away as you compete for prizes.

For those of you not into this type of locomotion, there will be a 1950 trivia test, or, just relax and be entertained by "Today's Kids," three talented young ladies, clad in poodle skirts, who bring back the 50s with their song and dance routines.

For the more adventuresome, you can pet a live cow from the Delaware Valley College of Agriculture.

Free ice cream treats are to be provided by a number of leading manufacturers and distributors, including: Haagen-Dazs, Jack & Jill, Matt's Ice Cream, Richman's, Friendly's, Cloister Ice Cream, Breyers, Bassetts, Ben & Jerry's, and Turkey Hill.

The event is scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., at Independence Mall, Judge Lewis Quadrangle, on Market Street, between 5th and 6th streets. Rain date is Friday, June 29th.

The Philadelphia Water Department will also be hooking up drinking fountans to fire hydrants along the Quadrangle's perimeter for the public's convenience.

"Everyday is Sundae" is sponsored by the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association, a non-profit organization which advertises and promotes milk and other dairy products.

30 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK

-The Lancaster County 4-H council elected two of its members named Boyd to the presidency of the agricultural and home economics division of the organization at their meeting in the Poultry Center Monday night.

Darvin Boyd, Ephrata R1, and Londa Boyd, Manheim R4, no relation, were named to the top spots in the agriculture and home economics clubs respectively.

Miss Boyd, elected to the council as the representative from the Mastersonville Sewing Club, succeeds Betty Umble, 2350 Old Philadelphia Pike.

Darvin, one of the representatives to the council from the Red Rose Baby Beef and Lamb Club, succeeds Gerald Greiner, Manheim R4, who was returned to the executive board as a member-at-large.

-The editorial staff of Lancaster Farming has received requests from both the major national political parties asking for suggestions to aid the party leaders in drafting the platform planks for the forthcoming campaign.

-A contingent of fifty-six Future Farmers will represent Lancaster County in contests, musical organizations, and meetings at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Association of the Future Farmers of America at the Pennsylvania State University next week.

Attending from Lancaster County will be the state president, Gerald Greiner, Manheim R4, and National Regional vice president, Dean Hoffer, Manheim R3.

-The Society of Farm Women 6 voted to donate $25 to the Elizabethtown Library fund and another $25 to the American Red Cross for the relief of Chilean earthquake victims.

The meeting was held on June 4 in the home of Misses Stella and Lela Coble with Mrs. Willis Hackman, co-hostesses having charge of devotions.

Each member responded to roll call by giving the date and place of her wedding.

Mrs. Harry Saylor had charge of the auction after which Mrs. Myers, home economist from PP&L showed a film on the freezing of foods.

-The family of Walter Overgaard, Lancaster R4, made it two in a row in the 4-H strawberry roundup at the Brunswick Hotel Wednesday.

Kieth Overgaard made a clean sweep with his exhibit of four quarters of Red Glow berries, winning first place in the exhibit and scoring 100 percent in his management and record keeping.

In the contest last year Esther Overgaard took top placing. On Wednesday her exhibit placed third behind the Catskills of Mary Jane Herr, Refton, but Esther scored 99.5 in management and records to take second place in the all around competition.

-Mrs. Harold Mower presented a most enjoyable and instructive demonstration on flower arranging at the Saturday afternoon meeting of the Society of Farm Women 7 held at Shreiner's Greenhouse near Paradise. Mrs. E. E. Shreiner and Mrs. Arthur W. Eshleman were co-hostesses. Devotions were under the direction of Mrs. Eshleman.

A resolution of respect in honor of a charter member of the society, Miss Ella McIlvaine, was read and accepted.

Miss Sheila Eddy, a 1960 graduate of the Pequea Valley High School, was presented this society's award for her work in English at school.

Farm Forum

Dear Editor:

Over the weekend, we had a very unpleasant experience while attending the Pennsylvania Fair in Bensalem. The animal rights people were present and made their presence known.

I know and can fully understand that each and every animal rights activist is entitled to their own opinion. However, they need to listen to the agriculture industry's side.

As an opponent of the number 1 industry in the United States, they are doing more serious harm than good. By protesting and picketing, I feel they are not properly addressing their viewpoints. They need to meet with agriculture officials and discuss their concerns and beliefs.

This will better enable livestock producers to correct problems and misconceptions.

While they are picketing, the livestock producers are joining together to correct any problems which may be occurring. If both sides could join together, a solution to the many misconceptions and concerns could be reached.

As a youth growing up on a cow-calf operation, I learned so many valuable things I could no doubt write a best-selling book.

No one can begin to imagine the experiences a youngster can gain by being involved in the agriculture industry.

My involvement with the 4-H program showed me that the rewards are much more than a room full of ribbons and trophies. I learned caring, responsibility and the management of others as well as financial management. I learned how to deal with winning as well as how to cope with losing.

I understand the animal rights activists plan to be at each and every 4-H and/or open fair or show. They are going to protest the cruel and inhumane treatment of the 4-H animals.

I just wish these people would see the hours each child spends with his/her animal. The training, bathing, feeding, watering, walking, loving, caring and the tears shed, in joy and in pain.

One activist said to me over the weekend, "4-H teaches the wrong type of thing." I question that, if 4-H is teaching the wrong, what is the right?

I have made the best of friends thru my 4-H years. Though many live hundreds of miles away, when the show comes, it's like we never separated.

I guess one of my major concerns is that so many of these activists are of my age group. These are the future leaders of our country and the misconceptions they have will directly affect the future of our great country.

I realize some of their protests have some basis in fact, but they are blaming and harming a whole industry for a few unscrupulous members.

As always, my door would be open for any or all of the activists to visit with me and see how we manage our operation. I am sure that there are many other farmers who feel that if someone would like to see their operation, they are more than welcome.

My suggestion to these people would be that they need to take a look at what they are working for and realize this industry is working to make both sides satisfied.

If they are still unhappy, meet with the appropriate representative of the industry in hopes of bringing about reforms. The present means being taken are not the answer, only a means of future uneasiness between both sides.

time when poultry sold by the whole bird.

Hogs eventually replaced chickens, as many as 100 brood sows at a time. Swine feed rations utilized waste products, an innovative idea for that time. Along with his other ventures, Heindel raised German Shepherd dogs for the government, a "crop" which once broke into a chicken house and wreaked havoc.

"I always believed in diversity," quietly smiles the Yorkana innovator, who also cropped such commodities as tobacco, strawberries and tomatoes.

After purchasing a neighboring farm, complete with dairy barn, early in the 1970s, Heindel decided to diversify into the dairy business. Son Bill, then employed at Borger Steel and with no dairy background, agreed to return home to run the 100 head milking string on its way from New England.

"The cows arrived on April 6, 1973. I had no idea how to milk cows, didn't even know how to put a milker on," laughs Bill at the memory. "Boy, did I learn that first year."

"And I still learn something every day," he quickly adds.

"Well, you have to," agrees Horace philosophically. "If people don't keep learning they'd better quit."

Bill credits friend Marlyn Flaharty, now owner of Service Feed and Supply at Delta, with help and a guiding hand through those first, almost overwhelming, milking sessions.

The 30-footx128-foot concrete stave unit for corn silage is believed to be the tallest of its kind east of the Mississippi River.

As a further step toward diversity, Heindel began utilizing acreage for municipal landfill use many years ago. Recently, due to expansion at Modern Landfill by the operating Waste Management firm, the Heindel's dairy facility needed to be relocated.

The 900 acres north of Airville on which the dairy complex is located were purchased in 1988, with relocation of the cattle in mind. Since then, additional land has been purchased nearby, to total about 1,500 acres.

Already on-site for almost a year, across the meadow from the diary facility, is the Heindels' nearly 1,000 head cow-calf and finishing herd of Black Angus. Feed storage handling for the beef cattle is being integrated with that of the dairy herd in the overall design.

Central to the facility is the 42-footx440-foot dairy barn and attached 36-footx60-foot milkhouse, utility and offices complex. An 8-½ -foot center alley separates the two tail-to-tail rows of 100 stalls, each 4-footx6-foot with riveted-down rubber mats. Feed troughs are ceramic tile, 30 inches wide, with an additional 6 feet of alley for accommodating mechanized cart feeding.

'I always believed in diversity,' quietly smiles the Yorkana innovator, who also cropped such commodities as tobacco, strawberries and tomatoes.

Interior walls and ceiling are insulated, 6 inches in the walls and 12 inches in the ceiling, and covered with white, plywood-backed glassboard for durability. Overhead florescent lamps were installed for four times the recommended light level, further enhancing the long barn's bright, open appearance.

Ventilation design was for 20 times university recommendations for air turnover, utilizing ridge venting, 35 double windows, 9 overhead garage-type doors for catching cross-breezes, and ten 36-inch in-wall fans. Engineering of the dairy barn is designed to facilitate air conditioning if it is ever desired.

The DeLaval milking system encompasses two completely separate pipelines, one for each end of the barn, to accommodate 12 automatic-takeoff milking units. Milk will be cooled enroute to the 4,000-gallon tank via a plate cooler, which also doubles as a reheat unit to maintain water temperatures during pipeline cleaning cycles.

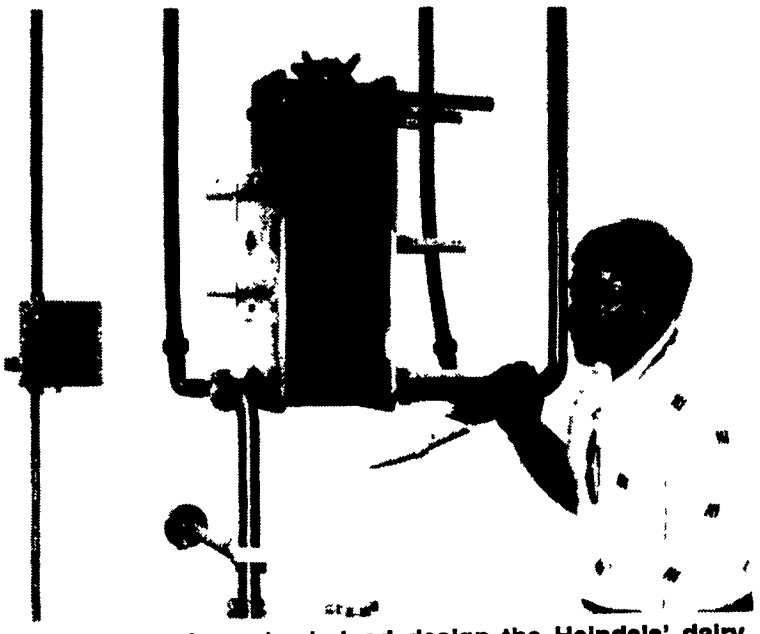
The manure system was designed with the capability of expansion to a methane digester, if that technology is ever wanted for energy recovery.

Estimates are for use of a million gallons of water per year by the plate cooling system, a potential burden of extra liquids in the manure storage. With the addition of a 6,000-gallon holding tank, water used by the plate cooler will instead be recycled into the cattle watering system.

Two deep wells supply the facility, with valves enabling complete shutoff of either into the system. Additional valves divide the dairy barn fountain piping into eight sections with separate shutoffs for repairs.

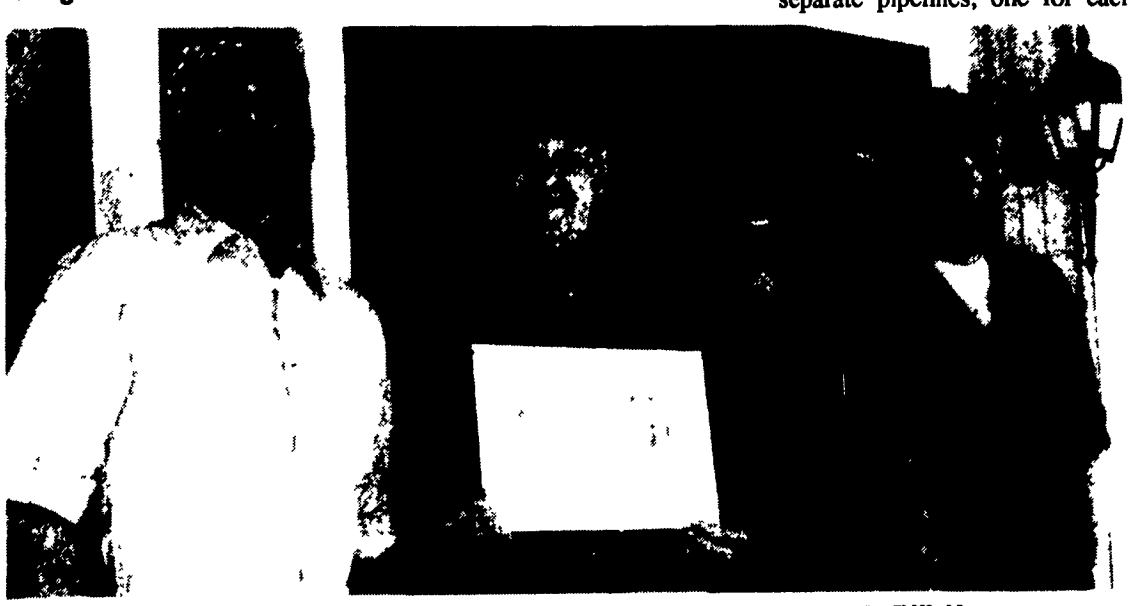
A 36-footx60-foot maternity/hospital wing is off the opposite side of the dairy barn from the milkhouse. On the hill above the stall barn is housing for young stock and dry cows, a pair of approximately 200 feet long, steel-sided pole structures with drive-through feeding and easy clean-out design.

(Turn to Page A27)

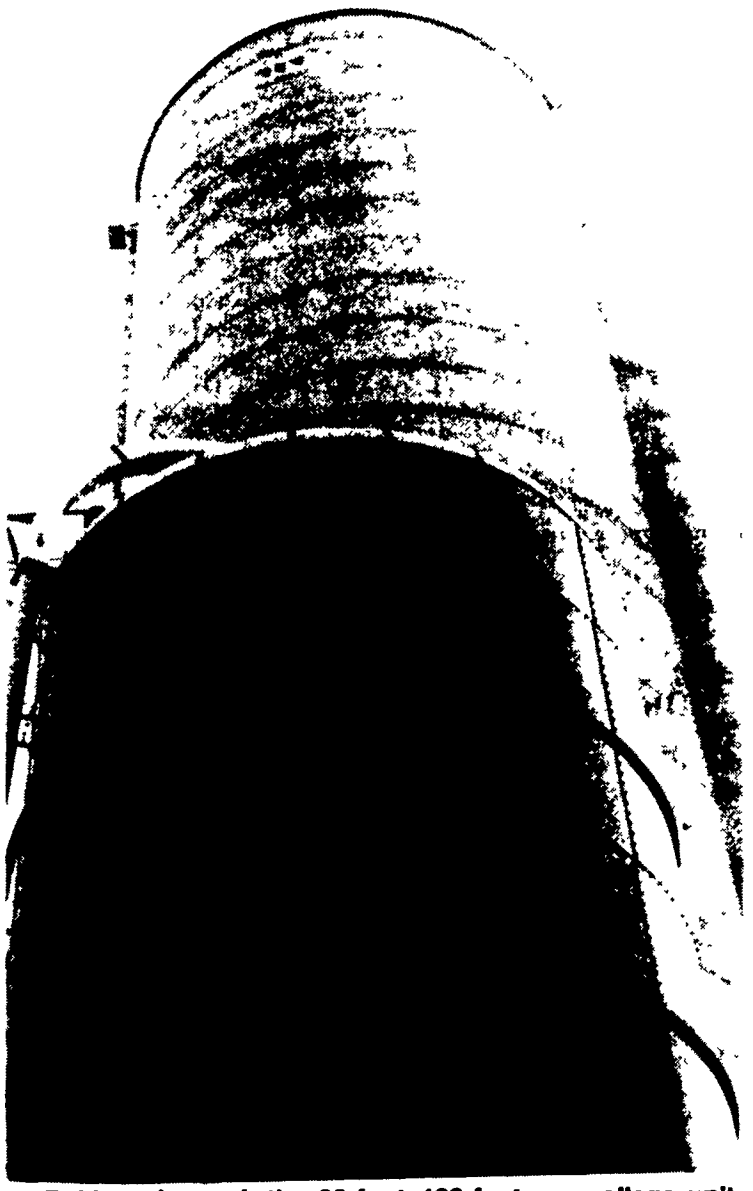


Tedd Rhodes, who helped design the Heindels' dairy complex, examines the pipeline plate cooler. Dual purposed, the plate unit re-cools milk enroute to the 4,000 milk tank, and reheats wash water circulating during cleaning cycles.

An 18-foot concrete apron ties the five silos together and provides convenient, solid access for forage and grain filling.



Looking forward to moving into the new dairy facility are from left, Bill, Horace and Jeff Heindel, and Horace "Smitty" Smith, a farm employee since he was a teenager.



Poking skyward, the 30-footx128-foot corn silage unit towers over the Heindel facility. It is reportedly the tallest structure of its type east of the Mississippi River.

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

Joyce Bupp and her husband, Leroy, milk 200 head of registered Holsteins and crop 700 acres of corn, hay, beans, and small grain at their Bupplyn Farms, Seven Valleys. They have a daughter Patty, 20 and son Richard, 17. Joyce writes a weekly column for Lancaster Farming and for "The York Dispatch." She has also been published by "Farm Journal," "Hoard's Dairyman," "Holstein World," and "Pennsylvania Holstein News." She is a book reviewer for the "Christian Herald Family Bookshelf."

Joyce serves as a Middle Atlantic division and corporate director of Dairymen, Inc., and as secretary of the Upper Chesapeake Bay Dairy Council.

Four Harvestore silos were moved from the Yorkana farm, one 25-footx90-foot and one 25-footx80-foot for haylage, and a 20-footx70-foot and 20-footx50-foot for high moisture grain. The 30-footx128-foot concrete stave unit for corn silage is believed to be the tallest of its kind east of the Mississippi River. An 18-foot-wide concrete apron connects the silos and provides a solid, mud-free drive for unloading forage wagons.

Silos are located around the back and side of the 72-footx90-foot feed room adjoining the dairy barn. Feed from each can be unloaded separately or into a connecting elevator system running to a 300-bushel capacity Rissler weigher-mixer for blending total mixed rations. Five 25-ton bulk bins and a pair of roller-mixers handle dry ingredients. A hay storage pole barn of equal size is adjacent to the feed room and silos. Planned as part of the overall design is the eventual addition of a commodities structure with storage bins for bulk feedstuffs.

Shredded newspaper is planned for use as stall bedding. Two separate chain gutter cleaners will move dairy barn manure and soiled bedding to an underground holding tank. Ground into a slurry by a chopper, it will be pumped uphill in an underground pipe to a poured concrete receiving tank for handling manure from the dry cow and young stock barns.

Combining of the dairy barn slurry with drier group-pen manure will help liquify the receiving tank's contents to gravity flow through a 24-inch PVC pipe into the 12-footx126-foot diameter concrete-stave storage pit. The manure system was designed with the capability of expansion to a methane digester, if that technology is ever wanted for energy recovery.

'If people don't keep learning, they'd better quit.'

Special efforts have been made throughout the building process to eliminate stray voltage problems, according to Tedd Rhodes, Gettysburg, who has served as a project consultant for the facility construction.

"We've grounded every possible way to eliminate potential stray voltage," said Rhodes. "Every inch of wire is in conduit. There are fire walls between all connecting sections for added safety."

Even before the Heindel's doubled-size herd settles into its new home, plans are under way for another addition. Excavation is complete for a 72-footx300-foot clear-span exercise building with drive-thru feeding, where cows can be turned out for exercise and heat detection, while keeping them out of muddy pasture and feedlot conditions.

Several of the Heindel family members are involved in operating the various farming enterprises. Bill heads up the dairy side of the business, Michael operates the beef herd, Bob is responsible for field work, lime truck, and "all around" chores, while Donnie is in charge of the farm shop. Jeff, studying for an advanced counseling degree, is handling the accounting and computerization. Peggy Leber, the youngest, tends to home and housekeeping details for her dad.

Patsy Buser and her husband Bill operate a swine herd near the Yorkana home farm. Nancy Foust and her husband Ron are dairy producers in Perry County. Son Stanley is a minister in Florida and daughter Judy Hendrickson and her husband are in mission work with SEND, Int. Thelma Heindel passed away last fall, and a permanent memorial to her will be placed outside the complex.

A three-day open house and ox-roast for the Heindel's Airville dairy facility is tentatively planned for late June. Prime suppliers for the construction include Morton Buildings, Sollenberger Silos and Witmer Equipment DeLaval.

Dairy Month Celebrated Since 1937

COLUMBUS, OH — June Dairy Month (JDM) has been celebrated since 1937 when it was launched with the theme, "Keep Young - Drink Milk." Every year this month-long salute to the dairy industry is observed in homes and restaurants, in supermarkets and stores and wherever dairy foods are sold. It has become the accepted time of the year to extend a special "thanks" to the dairy families of America who produce the milk we drink and consume in dairy products.

At a time when Americans are more concerned than ever about health and fitness, dairy foods are especially important to consumers. They fit well with today's busy lifestyles because they're convenient, nutritious and a good buy, when the cost of other food items is considered.

Newspaper and magazine food editors help extend this message and join in the celebration each year by spotlighting dairy products. Recipe suggestions for using milk and milk products and stories about specific products fill newspaper food pages. Community celebrations also abound during June in the form of parades and celebrity "milk-offs," traveling exhibits and ice cream socials, farm tours and weekend brunches.

As the most productive part of agriculture, dairying deserves this annual salute. The most recent figures indicate, for example, that in 1988, 10.24 million cows produced 145.5 billion pounds of milk. That's 16.9 billion gallons of milk. Even more remarkable, the 10.24 million cows in 1988 outproduced the 17.5 million cows in 1960.

Since 1957, the American Dairy Association -- the advertising program of the United Dairy Industry Association -- has chosen June Dairy Month to kick off the summer season for dairy products with a variety of special advertising and promotion programs. In Ohio, western Pennsylvania, and parts of West Virginia and Kentucky, Mid East United Dairy Industry Association (UDIA) extends these advertising and promotional efforts to focus on both June Dairy Month and July Ice Cream Month. Point-of-Purchase materials which feature appetizing product photography and recipes encourage shoppers to stock up on dairy products for the summer. Foodservice promotions remind consumers that they can liven up their out-of-home dining experiences with real dairy products. And radio and television advertising highlights dairy products' nutritional and good-tasting benefits for consumers of all ages. So as we settle into the slow, hazy days of summer, it seems only right that we join in the June Dairy Month salute and toast the dairy industry...with a refreshing glass of milk, a generous scoop of ice cream or a serving of our own special dairy treat.

Mid East UDIA is the dairy farmer-funded and directed advertising and promotion program serving Ohio, western Pennsylvania and parts of West Virginia and northern Kentucky.

Ag Committee forms In 33rd Senatorial District

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Sen. Terry Punt (R-33) has appointed an eight-member agricultural advisory committee, which recently held its first meeting in Harrisburg.

The Senator said he formed the committee with the goal of establishing a strong and candid dialogue with farmers throughout the 33rd Senatorial District. Toward that end, Punt included farmers from the sprawling, rural five-county district he represents.

The members of the committee are Linda Golden, Greencastle, chairperson; Joseph Middour, Waynesboro; Herbert Dice, Chambersburg; Jim Hoover, Newport; Paul Hornbaker, Shippensburg; Horace Waybright, Gettysburg; John Lott, Aspers; and Glen Henry, Port Royal.

"This is a diverse agricultural group that brings a total of 241 years of farming knowledge and experience," Punt said. "Their operations vary in size from 50 acres to 2,000 acres focusing on a wide variety of commodities, including 150,000 turkeys, 3,000 cows and a large orchard operation."

At the committee's first meeting, Punt discussed the group's function.

"This committee will perform an essential function that will be much broader than a discussion of legislation that I present to them," Punt said. "These men and women have an intimate knowledge of the farming community in my district, and I will depend on them to bring issues to my attention."

Punt also said that the committee will become a conduit for information to share with the farmers in his largely rural, agricultural district.

At the meeting, the committee discussed proposed wetlands legislation, and bills that provide for deposits on beverage containers. In addition, the group discussed the Governor's proposed budget for agriculture.

Following the session, Punt said the group will significantly augment his ability to serve the agricultural interests of his district.

"There's no better way to learn about people's concerns than from the people themselves," Punt said. "Through our meetings, I will be able to gain an intimate knowledge of the needs of the agricultural community in my district. With our state depending on farming as its number-one industry, that's good news for everyone in the 33rd Senatorial District."

Deer Creek Fiddler's Convention Sunday

WESTMINSTER, Md. — On Sunday, June 10 from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m., the sounds of blue grass and "old timey" music will fill the air at the Carroll County Farm Museum during the annual Deer Creek Fiddler's Convention.

The first of two festival/competitions held each summer on the Museum grounds, musicians from several states meet to demonstrate their talents on the fiddle, banjo, mandolin, guitar, and other instruments during this day-long musical competition.

Visitors are invited to bring lawn chairs, a blanket, and relax with a picnic lunch under the large shade trees on the Museum's 140 pastoral acres. Pit beef, homemade pies, and many other food items may be purchased if desired.

Tours of the historic mansion will be provided by guides, and all exhibit buildings and the rose and country kitchen garden will be open.

Crafts will be sold and many craft people will be demonstrating 19th Century skills.

Admission is $6.00 for adults. Children under 18 are admitted free, if accompanied by an adult.

No pets or alcoholic beverages are permitted on the grounds.

For more information, contact the Farm Museum, 500 South Center Street, Westminster, Maryland, 21157, (301) 848-7775 or 876-2667.

the prize berries. But they did say that to take home the top ribbons, their berries must be uniform in size, color, not have any white spots and the green tips must be turned up when placed in the berry box.

This was the first win for Joel who has been growing 100 berry plants for four years. Joel, the son of Robert and Judy Leaman, grows two varieties, but used Raritan for his winning display.

It is Hans' second year in the 4-H strawberry project, but the first year he could compete since it takes two years before the plants produce berries. He used the Early Glow variety to entice bidders to buy his box. Dick Witmer, the county register of wills, purchased them for $100.

To raise berries, the children battle slugs, birds, mold, and weeds. They need to keep exact records encouraged in part by the Rotary's offer of a $100 prize for record keeping. The most exciting part, they say, is the auction and seeing how many boxes they can sell.

About 100 members of the Lancaster Rotary Club attended the auction. The lowest bid for a box of berries was $20. The 13 boxes that were sold totaled $1,012.50.

"Thirteen wasn't an unlucky number for us," one strawberry grower remarked.

Zoann Parker, 4-H extension agent agreed. She said, "The thing that makes me the happiest is that all the kids made money."

Keller said of the event, "It's a great way to teach the free enterprise system."

The Rotary has supported the auction for more than 30 years. A Rotarian said the club supports and encourages young people in 4-H to show them the enjoyment of turning efforts into cash. "We reap great satisfaction in seeing young people succeed."

PFA Wants Sportsmen To Help Farmers

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — A statewide organization of farmers wants to enlist the assistance of sportsmen in combatting a severe crop damage problem caused by deer.

"Every year deer eat millions of dollars worth of farmers' crops right out of the fields," said Keith Eckel, president of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA). PFA is a voluntary farm organization which represents over 22,600 farm families in 54 county associations.

A recent PFA survey indicated that one-third of the membership are experiencing heavy or extensive crop damage because of deer. Individual estimates of damage ranged from $720 to $20,000 a year. Statewide estimates by others have ranged from $50 million to $100 million worth of crop losses to Pennsylvania farmers resulting in higher prices to consumers because of reduced supplies.

"Deer will eat almost everything a farmer grows -- corn, alfalfa, vegetables, tree seedlings. It has become an intolerable situation," said Eckel.

PFA is seeking legislative support for a proposal in the General Assembly to allow farmers to utilize the services of sportsmen this summer and fall to harvest deer causing crop damage. State Representative Jim Merry (R -- 5th Dist.) is offering the proposal as an amendment to Senate Bill 647 currently in the House Game and Fisheries Committee. The proposal would allow a farmer with crop damage to apply to the state Game Commission for a permit to designate one licensed hunter for every 40 acres farmed to help harvest the deer. The program would be in effect only from August 1 through November 15, 1990 for antlerless deer only, or antlered deer with spikes under three inches.

"Under present Game Commission rules, a farmer, his family members or regular hired help can harvest deer for crop damage anytime," Eckel explained, "The problem is that farming is a full-time occupation with 14-to 20-hour days during harvest time. The way the deer situation is now, a farmer could go out every day and find deer in his fields, but he simply doesn't have the time. With the help of volunteer hunters, the problem could be eradicated in a few days.

"We know the Game Commission is aware of our concerns about the problem. They have tried to reduce the size of the state's deer herd with bonus hunting tag programs and bigger license allocations but have not been successful. The deer population, which was expected to decrease last year, didn't," Eckel said.

The Commission has approved a record deer license allocation for this season which begins in December. "We believe this will help us next year. But that's too late for farmers trying to get a crop to harvest this fall," Eckel said,

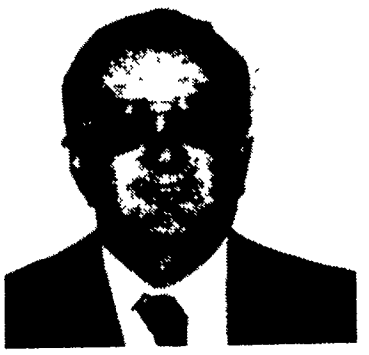
"There goes Casey beating on PMMB"

says Ed Nehrig



Ed Nehrig is an Indiana county dairyman and regional coordinator for Pennsylvania Ag Republicans.

With all the hoopla of June Dairy Month it's hard to figure the state dairy industry has a problem. But it does. Namely Governor Casey and his attempt to starve out the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board.

PMMB is the dairy farmer's cop on the beat. A stabilizing force in an often chaotic milk market.

Now the governor wants to cut PMMB's budget by $331,000.

Is the state really that strapped? Or is it a matter of priorities.

Casey had no trouble finding $13 million in the state treasury to help build a baseball stadium in his hometown.

It was the milk board that came to the rescue ..not Casey when the searing drought in 1988 and soggy weather of 1989 left dairymen with sky high feed bills

Under state law, PMMB must consider the dairymen's cost of production in setting milk prices. And the board did just that, adding an extra $1.05 to the price of all Class I milk.

It was a real helping hand. An estimated $141 million in disaster aid over three years. And not a penny paid out of state treasury

I think members of the milk board deserve a medal Not a slap in the face

Keep PMMB working for us

Casey's budget cut doesn't have to happen. June Dairy Month also happens to be Budget Crunching Month in Harrisburg.

So call or write your state lawmakers today. Tell them how you feel. Ask them to say "no" to Casey on PMMB budget cuts and help Ag Republicans restore the funds. You can make it happen.

To join Ag Republicans, write us at address below. We'll send you a brochure with all the details.

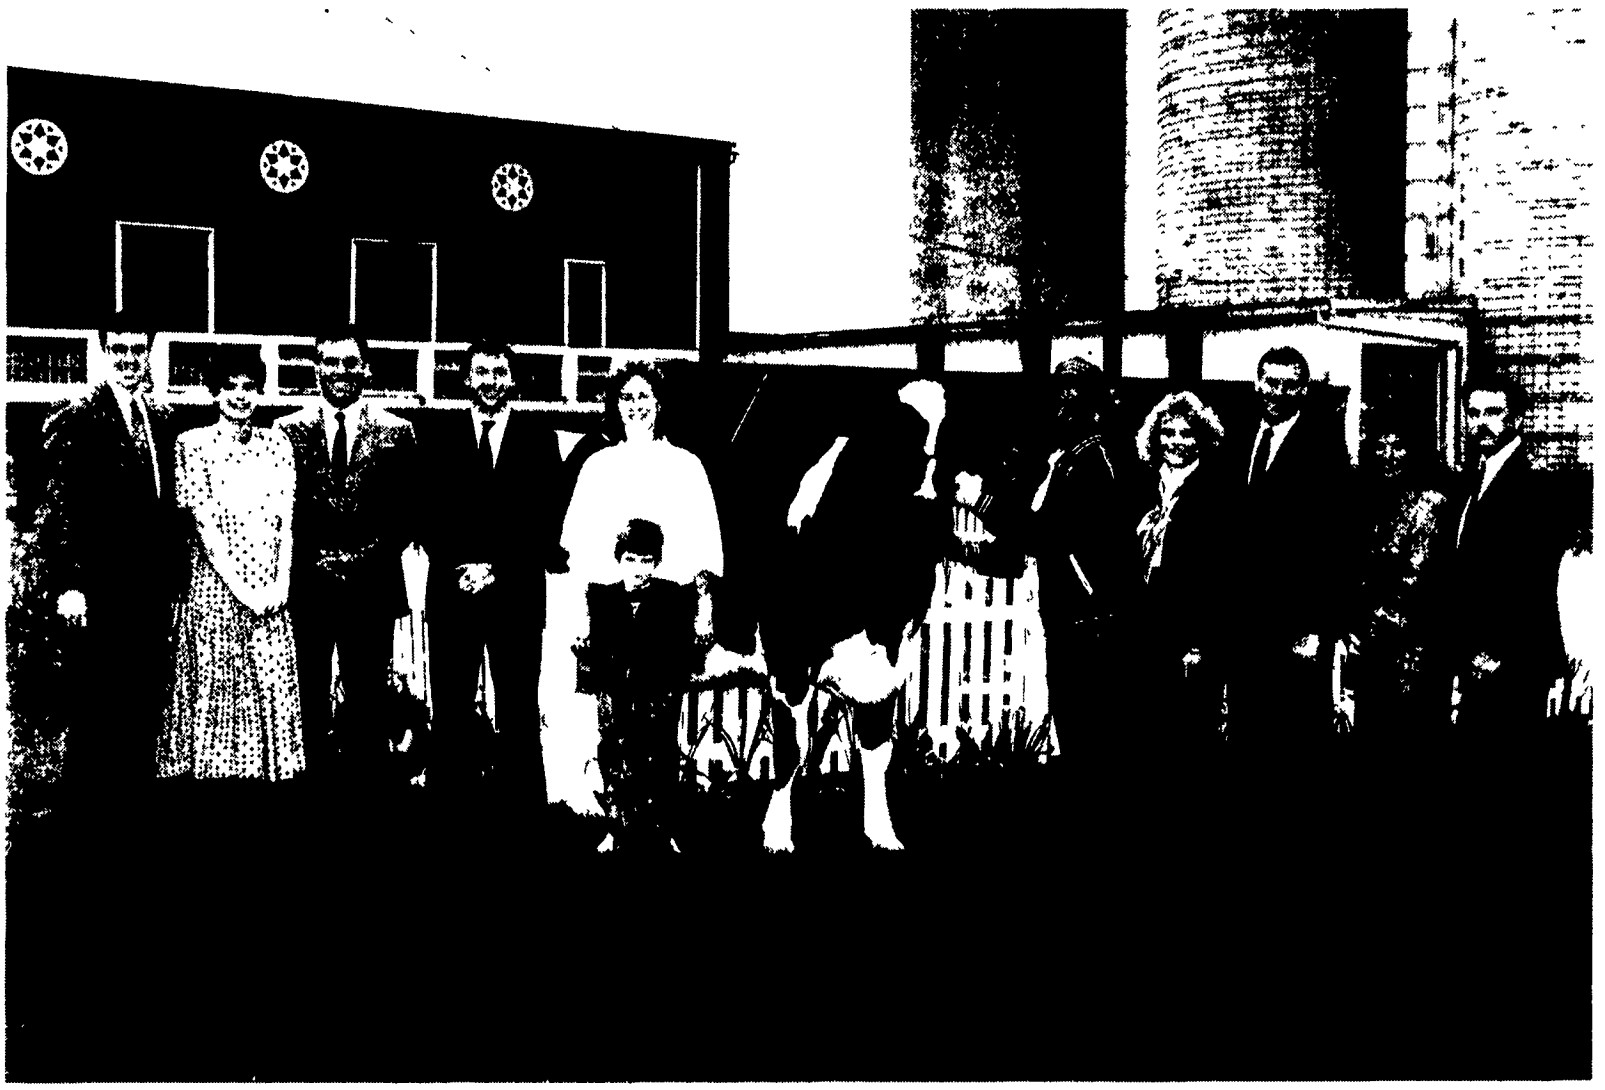
CONGRATULATIONS TO THE BITLER FAMILY FOR THEIR COMMITMENT TO AGRICULTURE AND THE DAIRY INDUSTRY.



Pictured (L to R): Darvin Boyd, Suzanne Oatman, Roger Rohrer and Ted Bowers from the Agri-Finance Department of Hamilton Bank; Phoebe, Jesse and David Bitler with Vista Grande Reputation Olive Ex 90 (at 4 years of age she produced 32,697 lbs. of milk, 1,052 lbs of butterfat and 1,034 lbs of protein in a 365 day lactation), and Patricia Trout, John Moose, Karen Dinkel and Jeffrey Troutman from the Agri-Finance Department of Hamilton Bank.

HAMITON BANK BELIEVES "THE FAMILY FARM IS THE BACKBONE OF AGRICULTURE". On behalf of all dairymen, we are pleased to salute the success of the David Bitler family of Fleetwood, R.D. #4 in Berks County The Bitler's VISTA GRANDE FARM is a 163-acre, 90-cow Holstein dairy farm with a current rolling herd average of 19,522 pounds of milk a year, 703 pounds of fat and 631 pounds of protein. David and Phoebe are the chair couple for the Pennsylvania Holstein Convention which will be held in Reading in February, 1991. They were the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative Outstanding Young Cooperator Couple for 1988 They were elected 1989 Secretary Couple for the National Milk Producers Federation Young Cooperator Advisory Council.

A SALUTE TO DAIRYMEN. EVERY MONTH IS DAIRY MONTH WITH US.

In June a lot of people pay tribute to dairy farmers because it's National Dairy Month.

At Hamilton Bank, we feel you deserve credit a lot more often than that. Managing a successful dairy operation requires working capital all year round. So we're here to help you meet your capital requirements whenever you need us.

Dairy is the major agricultural enterprise in Pennsylvania and accounts for 29 percent of the total agricultural production value. The total annual volume of dairy production for our seven-county area is $445 million. This represents 33 percent of the yearly production for Pennsylvania. Now that's a record you can point to with pride, and we're proud to be able to help–any way, any time. At Hamilton Bank, every month is dairy month!

Not By Milk Alone

VERNON HOCKENBERRY
New York Correspondent

EAST SMITHFIELD, (Bradford Co.) — NOT BY MILK ALONE..... describes the Ben and Dean Jackson farm. Located in the Endless Mountain country of Bradford County, near East Smithfield, the farm is picturesque, but definitely has the feel of a down-to-earth operation.

Much like the 76 trombones that enabled the Music Man to create his successful band, the 76 Cow System used by the Jackson's is the key on this farm. Ben Jackson says, "We know what we need to make it work. It's a fit, everything; labor, machinery, barn equipment, manure handling and crops are built around it. It's all geared to a good producing cow in each of the 76 stalls in the barn."

Ben started farming, with his dad, at the ripe old age of 3 and has been at it ever since. "I always liked it -- the satisfaction from the accomplishments -- and raising my family on the farm. Ben and Regina quickly pointed out the hard work and dedication of Ben's parents, Scott and Helen Jackson, (now deceased) who purchased the run-down farm in 1929 and built the foundation for MT-GLEN Farms to pass on to their family. Also the contributions each of their four children made to the business, while at home. Son Dean with whom Ben has formed a partnership reside nearby. Dean's wife, Dottie and daughter Courtney play an integral part in the farm. Ben and Dean could not say enough for their colleague, Kevin Pautz, who is a vital part of the total operation.

Daughter Cathy and Dean were active during their teenage, tending and showing their cattle. Cathy is now married and living nearby, while Dan is a corporate pilot for American Express. Dave, another son is fiscal director at STRAIGHT, a drug & alcohol abuse program.

The past decade has been tough for dairies in NE Pennsylvania, as several milk processors have gone bankrupt. The Jackson's as-well-as many others, were severely hurt by these bankruptcies. So when we say - NOT BY MILK ALONE - we look at the breeding program, which produced many prize cows. The sale of many prize-winning, registered Holsteins has helped them weather the financial storms which hit the dairy farmers in Bradford County.

Current reigning princess is MT-GLEN A JET JUBILEE, who in 1989, as junior 2-yr-old, was all New York and nominated for All American -- as well as honorable mention All Canadian.

How does this come about? Ben says, "I look for longevity, type, and production in that order and the other qualities come along." The Jackson's philosophy of care for their cows is, "We try to do our best, but don't always succeed, due to the demands of running a full-scale dairy farm. We feed the same high-quality ration year round. The cows do not have to adjust to changes in the feed."

The Jackson's have no pasture, due to lack of suitable quality pasture for 76 milkers. But they have, to their knowledge, a bedding program unique in Bradford County. They use Reed Canary Grass, grown in wet fields near the creek. Seeding has been established 10 years, top-dressed every year, cut in August when field is dry. "We let it grow to full maturity, the cows don't eat it. We are able to use it for bedding without chopping it. The manure pump will handle it and it goes directly into liquid manure. Two people can bed our 76 cows in 20 minutes." Dean noted, "By using no commercial fertilizer on the canary grass near the creek, we keep the fertilizer out of the watershed."

When asked about technology, Ben and Dean said "It is moving too fast. The DHIA program, which has been a big help in operating the farm and marketing cows, is becoming more centralized, taking away the local administration and costing more money." They have no problems with embryo transplants, but are very concerned with BST. "We must have a product the public will buy. Why increase production when we need to control the supply and demand."

Asked about LISA, they like the idea. "We use minimum amounts of herbicide and really would like to cultivate our corn if we could.

NOT BY MILK ALONE -- The breeding program, sale of cows, the 76-Cow System, and taking advantage of opportunities have enabled this family to continue to be a vital part of our food supply. With the obvious dedication of everyone involved, it appears this farm is here to stay. Despite adversities, they feel there is so very much for which to be thankful.

The 76 stall barn was built in 1971

VERNON HOCKENBERRY
New York Correspondent

Born near Pittsburgh, Vernon Hockenberry, New York correspondent, spent every summer till high school graduation on his grandfather's horse farm near Slippery Rock. He has "memories of raking hay, shocking wheat and oats, keeping up with the hay loader, and throwing black racers off the loads."

In 1948, his family moved to Vestal, New York. He was graduated from Vestal Central, served in the U.S. army for three years, married, and purchased the farm adjacent to his in-laws. Vernon then worked for IBM and farmed part-time and said that his outside employment supported his farming habit.

Over the years, his family has raised sheep, goats, and beef cattle. "Now we have beef and draft horses," he said. "I'm sure the draft horses are a throwback to my childhood."

In 1957, after 33 years with IBM, Vernon retired to farming. The Hockenberry's have two children, James Olin and Melanie Hockenberry Collis.

USDA Recommends Changes To Pricing Milk

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture is recommending several amendments to the New England, New York-New Jersey and Middle Atlantic federal milk marketing orders.

USDA based its recommendations on an extended public hearing, held on industry proposals in June, July and November 1988, and August 1989.

Daniel D. Haley, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said the most significant change being endorsed by USDA is the replacement of the two-class pricing systems in the three market-order areas with the three-class pricing system that is in operation in most federal milk marketing orders.

Federal milk orders price milk on the basis of the way it is used by processors. Under the three-class pricing system recommended for the three orders, drinking milk (Class I) is priced at the highest level. A lower intermediate price (Class II) applies to milk used in soft products such as cottage cheese and yogurt, and milk used to produce hard cheeses, butter and milk powder (Class III) is priced at the lowest level.

Haley said the two-class pricing system now used in the three northeastern orders results in pricing differences between handlers regulated under those orders and handlers in other areas regarding milk used in certain manufactured dairy products.

USDA is recommending that milk used in soft dairy products and now classified and priced at the lowest price level under the two-class pricing systems be classified in the new intermediate Class II.

This milk, which is processed primarily into cream products, cottage cheese, ice cream and yogurt, would be priced at the same level as milk used in the same products under other orders.

"Adoption of the three-class pricing system for these three marketing order areas will raise the price paid for milk used in soft dairy products and will provide more equitable competition for sales of manufactured dairy products throughout the northeast and in other parts of the country," Haley said.

The AMS administrator said USDA is also recommending two other significant changes for the New York-New Jersey order.

Handlers regulated under the New York-New Jersey order would be required to furnish minimum amounts of their receipts from dairy farmers for Class I purposes during the months of short milk production to qualify the milk of such dairy farmers for pricing under the order and to assure their eligibility to share in the market's higher-valued Class I sales.

Haley said that, under the second recommended amendment, the New York-New Jersey location pricing schedule would be updated by increasing the rate used to reflect the cost of hauling milk for the market. The price in the base (201-210 mile) zone would be decreased so that adoption of the higher rate per zone would not increase the Class I price level at New York City.

"These changes are needed to assure that fluid milk plants will have enough milk to process so that consumers will have adequate supplies of drinking milk," Haley said.

Service Specialist Graduates

Kevin Snyder, service specialist at Chambersburg Farm Service, has just completed a 4½-day training course at the Case IH Training Center. The course emphasized the repair and servicing of Case IH axial flow combines.

This training program included information on hydraulics, drive train, electrical and electronics, threshing and separating systems.

To sharpen their service skills, students performed hands-on testing and troubleshooting of the electrical and hydraulic systems. They also made adjustments to the headers and combine threshing and separating system.

Cow Has Unique Human Relation

COLUMBUS, OH — "The dairy cow, in her relation to the human race, is unique and fundamental. The unique character of this relationship reaches back to the earliest recorded history. It is shown in the form of tablet and mural depiction which present the impressive realization that ancient people had of the importance of the cow in their daily lives. The fundamental character of this relationship, and the reason - products of the cow are essential - remained unknown until the twentieth century."

These words were written by M.D. Munn, president of NATIONAL DAIRY COUNCIL from 1919 to 1936, in a foreword to the story of the organization. As the industry celebrates June Dairy Month for the 54th year, the story of scientific discoveries concerning the importance of milk and its products in the human diet is an exciting highlight.

The discovery of vitamin A in butterfat by E.V. McCollum, Ph.D., Sc.D., at the University of Wisconsin in 1913, has been called the beginning of modern nutritional science. Vitamin A is essential in human nutrition for formation and maintenance of skin and mucous membranes. It is also necessary for normal vision in dim light. Based on his studies, McCollum was instrumental in preventing the rationing of milk during World War I.

Studies by Robert Recker, M.D. and Robert Heaney, M.D. at Creighton University in Nebraska, have documented the importance of calcium in maintaining bone health. Other studies by David A. McCarron, M.D. Oregon Health Sciences University, on the effects of calcium have associated the intake of calcium with reduction of high blood pressure. While the importance of calcium in the development of teeth and bones has long been recognized, the work of McCarron, Heaney and Recker points out the importance of continued calcium intake throughout life.

Charles F. Schachtele, Ph.D., and other microbiologists at the University of Minnesota learned that aged Cheddar, Swiss and Monterey Jack cheeses may act as "dietary toothbrushes" in fighting tooth decay. They continue to study dental caries in the hope that the apparent anti-cariogenic (anti-cavity) substance in these cheeses can be isolated and added to other foods.

Documenting the properties and value of food has been a challenge for scientists throughout the century. As a result, milk and other dairy products continue to be recognized as unique and fundamental to the human diet.

Egg Refrigeration Law

Brandt couldn't be reached for comment by early Friday morning on how much the law would cost producers and others who currently handle eggs without the benefit of cold storage. Also, other issues such as targeted startup of the law and enforcement are not known.

In a statement from his Harrisburg office, Brandt said the bill would set up general standards for storing eggs both prior to shipping from the farm and during subsequent handling and selling.

The proposed law would require that eggs must:

- Be stored at 55 degrees Fahrenheit within 18 hours of being laid.
- Be kept at an ambient temperature of 45 degrees Fahrenheit until reaching a distributor.
- Be stored at an internal temperature of 45 degrees Fahrenheit until used or purchased by the ultimate consumer.

It also provides for a method to trace all egg cartons back to their point of origin in case of any problems, according to the statement.

"Eggs are a natural, wholesome and convenient way for consumers to include protein in their diet, Brandt said. "With this legislation, we will insure that Pennsylvania egg buyers are getting the best product possible."

According to Brandt, the need for such legislation is evident and cited a New York case where it was alleged that the improper storage of eggs permitted the growth of the salmonella enteritidis bacteria. It was reported that this case was not the result of a contaminated flock, but that the problem was in the storage and handling of the eggs.

Al Wenger, who serves the region as an officer of the Northeast United Egg Producers and nationally on the United Egg Producers' food safety and animal health committees, said that Brandt's proposal is the first major egg legislation in the state in more than 20 years, according to Brandt's statement.

According to the statement, Wenger said "Like any other animal product, eggs do need to be refrigerated and handled properly. Rep. Brandt's measure will help educate residents and others on the proper methods, in addition to protecting the industry, the product and the consuming public."

Brandt said that because "Agriculture is this state's number one industry, and our egg production constitutes an important part of that effort, we must do everything possible to protect the egg market within and outside of the commonwealth."

Northeast DHIA Members Win Milk Quality Awards

ITHACA, N.Y.— Among the approximate 4,500 Northeast Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) members who are measuring the quality of milk produced on their farm with the DHIA Somatic Cell Count Report, 328 have won Outstanding Quality Milk Awards, based on 1989 records.

The DHIA Somatic Cell Count Report is a monthly monitor of individual, group average and herd average somatic cell counts. Somatic cells are white blood cells and milk-secreting cells normally found in milk. The major factors contributing to high somatic cell count milk are clinical and subclinical udder infections. Low somatic cell milk comes from healthy udders.

According to officials, Northeast DHIA's Quality Milk Award winners care about producing clean, quality milk. They know that high somatic cell count milk is generally off-flavored, has a decreased shelf life and a decreased yield of cultured milk products. They also know high somatic cell counts cost money, as increased somatic cell levels correspond to permanent, significant losses in milk production.

Constant monitoring of barn and pasture cleanliness, working condition and cleanliness of milking equipment, milking technique, and udder infection is necessary to achieve the low level of somatic cell count recognized by the DHIA Quality Milk Award.

The following Northeast DHIA members were praised for their diligence and success in producing this outstanding, quality milk:

For The Week Ending June 3

Fair Week For Fieldwork

Cool wet weather at the beginning of the week was followed by more seasonable conditions by week's end. Heavy rainfall fell in the east central and southeast regions. Several locations received more than two inches of rain.

By the end of the week, warm and humid temperatures moved into the state.

The respondents in our survey indicated that three days were suitable for field work across the state.

Activities for the week included spring plowing; planting corn, oats, soybeans, potatoes and vegetables; cutting hay and haylage; repairing fence; hauling manure; spraying; spreading fertilizer; maintaining machinery; and caring for livestock.

Soil Moisture

Topsoil moisture across the state was rated adequate by 54 percent of our respondents and surplus by 46 percent. In the northern region, 54 percent of our respondents rated soil moisture as adequate, while 46 percent rated it as surplus. In the central region, 50 percent of our respondents rated soil moisture as adequate and 50 percent rated it as surplus. In the sourther region, 60 percent of our respondents rated soil moisture as adequate, and 40 percent rated soil moisture as surplus.

Plowing

Spring plowing was 93 percent completed by the end of the week. Last year at this time, 88 percent was complete and the five-year average for this date was 96 percent. Spring plowing was 88 percent complete in the northern region, while plowing in the central and southern regions were 94 and 97 percent completed, respectively.

Corn

Seventy-two percent of the state's corn was planted by week's end. Last year at this time, 52 percent was planted. The five-year average was 81 percent. Planting was 65 percent completed in the northern region, 74 percent completed in the central region, and 84 percent completed in the southern region.

Soybeans

Soybean planting in Pennsylvania was 35 percent complete by the end of the week. As of this date last year, 18 percent was planted, and the five-year average was 50 percent.

Oats

In the state, 97 percent of the oats had been planted by week's end. Last year's figure was 95 percent, and the five-year average was 99 percent. the oats crop across the state was rated by our respondents as 23 percent excellent, 57 percent good, 16 percent fair, and four percent poor.

Potatoes

Pennsylvania's potatoes were 83 percent planted, according to our respondents. Last year 77 percent was planted and the five-year average was 91 percent.

Wheat And Barley

Wheat in the commonwealth was reported as 10 percent pre-boot, 25 percent boot and 65 percent heading by week's end. Last year's wheat was 27 percent pre-boot, 24 percent boot and 49 percent headed at this time. The wheat crop was rated 19 percent excellent, 56 percent good, 21 percent fair, two percent poor, and two percent very poor by our respondents. Pennsylvania barley was 10 percent pre-boot, 18 percent boot and 72 percent heading. At this time last year, the state's barley was 19 percent pre-boot, six percent boot and 75 percent heading.

Fruit

By the end of the week, 100 percent of the state's peaches and cherries were in the full bloom or past stage. At this time last year, three percent of the peaches were pink and 97 percent were full bloom or past. Last year at this time, three percent of the cherries were pink and 97 percent were full bloom or past. By the end of the week, apples were three percent pink, and 97 percent full bloom. Apples, at this time last year were five percent pink, and 95 percent full bloom or past.

Hay And Pasture

Alfalfa hay stands were 38 percent good, 58 percent fair and four percent poor. Clover-timothy stands were rated good by 48 percent and fair by 52 percent of the respondents. Statewide, 22 percent of alfalfa had been cut for hay. Quality of hay was rated as good by 12 percent, fairy by 72 percent and poor by 16 percent. Twenty-five percent of the respondents rated the amount of feed being obtained from pastures by week's end as above average, 73 percent rated it as average, and two percent indicated below average feed value.

Reward Offered

average loss ratio of 66% over the last five years -- a loss level considered by the industry to be marginal for a company's continuation in that particular line of business."

He noted that the property values being insured by farmers today have increased substantially. "Farm structures valued and insured at $300,000 to $400,000 are not uncommon," Deeds said, "and farm equipment has also increased drastically in value."

As the stakes have gotten bigger a temptation has been created. "The insurance loss record reports in our agency frequently reflect suspicions of arson, theft and deliberate fraud," Deeds said, "That's why steps are being taken by PFA to offer a reward. Although it will be hard to measure, we hope that the reward will be a step in the right direction toward preventing future losses of a suspicious nature."

Under the Rural Loss Prevention Program, reward signs will be available from PFA Insurance Service agents to PFA members who have either a farmowner's or a homeowner's insurance policy through PFA Insurance.

PFA president Eckel said, "My advice is to post the signs as soon as you get them and let your neighbors know it will be worth their while to keep a watchful eye on your property and equipment. The more everybody knows about it the more effective the reward program will be."

PFA will pay a reward of up to $10,000 to anyone providing information leading to the arrest and conviction of a person or persons for insurance fraud, arson, theft, criminal mischief, burglary, robbery or criminal trespass committed on real property in Pennsylvania insured by PFA.

The insured PFA member who owns or rents the real property and his or her immediate family and household members are not eligible for the reward, nor are law enforcement officials. The reward will be made after final conviction and appeals.

"The reward will benefit participants two ways," said Eckel, "First, it will provide a serious level of protection against rural crime with up to $10,000 in rewards. Second, it will help control property insurance costs in the long run by weeding out dishonest claims."

gen or other minerals to the soil, if soil tests call for it.

"The sad part of it is, to me, there are some farmers that will let some fertilizer salesman talk them into needing sulfur and other minerals," said Beam. "And they really don't — they should take a soil test and have it analyzed. If you have manure, you don't need a lot of these other minerals. You can add, but it's a cost that doesn't do you any good."

Beam admitted that, in 35 years since he moved to the area, farming is "just a whole different world today.

"Today you have to produce just to survive," he said. "Years ago, you could farm enough for a family to live off of and they could easily do it. But today it seems the price of equipment is so high that you just got to do so much to make it pay off."

Raises hogs

The partnership raises 1,100 head of hogs, including 150 sows. In addition, Beam raises about 300 head of steers — as many as 200 per half-year cycle.

For the hog operation, Beam

Nelson Beam, a partner in the Beam farm, adjusts a soybean drill before seeding.

farrows the stock every 2½ weeks. There are two farrowing pens with 14 in each unit.

After the pigs are 4½ weeks old, the pigs are put in the nursery with the temperature warm. This is done to keep the pigs from chilling and becoming diseased. Gradually, the temperature is lowered a few degrees per day, until the outside temperature is reached.

At that time, the pigs are moved to a finishing house, where, once they reach 230 pounds each, they are sent to auction.

Corn, mineral mix

The hog feed includes corn and soybeans, both grown on the farm, and an added mineral mix. Soybean meal is fed to the sows as a protein source. After weaning, the pigs are fed and watered twice a day.

"The biggest job is getting them bred," he said. "When they're farrowing, you have to be watching them in the sense that they're just little things you have to do to make sure the little pigs are warm and other things."

Beam said, "We keep our own sows, because we're always scared of disease. We keep our own gilts and sows and breed them."

The pigs are cross-bred. The farm retains about 50 percent Yorkshire breed in the mothers, "because they just milk a little bit better than the Durocs and Hampshires."

Explosion in development

Beam remains concerned about the explosion in development over the last few years.

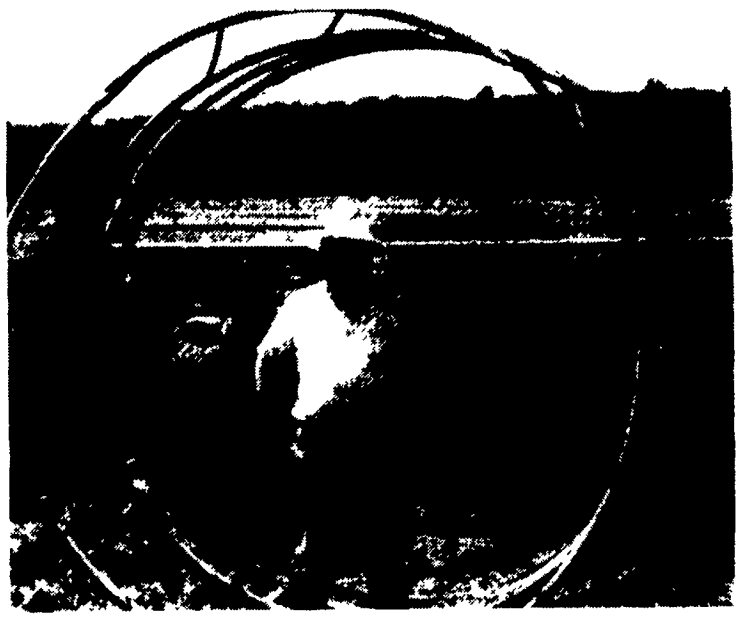
The sad part of it, according to Beam, is that, within a five-mile radius during the past winter, seven farms have changed hands,

During the last winter, seven farms have changed hands, 'and only one of them has gone back to a farmer. The others went to spectators, developers, or whatever.'

"and only one of them has gone back to a farmer. The others went to spectators, developers, or whatever."

Beam said the biggest influx of people is from areas near Route 100, only eight miles away. There, lots are sold for $100,000 to $120,000.

"People come up here and pay $60,000 for a lot and think they are saving a lot of money, and that's what they're doing."



Beam, standing under a round bale feeder, has been a member of the Soil Conservation District since 1957. Recently, he was awarded the Chester County Conservation Farmer of the Year Award at the Chester County Crops Day.

Efforts working

Beam is grateful, however, that the efforts of the Chester County Agriculture Development Council are working and people are becoming more aware of development.

'Today you have to produce just to survive. Years ago, you could farm enough for a family to live off of and they could easily do it.'

"Very few people care if farms fold or not, because they take it for granted there's always going to be food," said Beam. "It's a God-given blessing that this country has, that they don't have to import food like other countries. It's something we take for granted, but if we'd lose it, we'd be in deep trouble."

"When I was a young man, the thinking was, if you can't do anything else, you can farm. But today, if you can't farm, you'd better do something else. It's completely turned around because of so much money invested. You have to know where to put your money in order to survive. It's just that simple.

Reading Phillies Host Dairy Promotion Night

PHILADELPHIA — The Reading Phillies baseball team joins forces tomorrow with the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association (MAMMA) to create a family fun extravaganza at Reading Municipal Stadium.

Free ice cream, ice cold chocolate milk and high-quality equipment bags are all part of the Dairy Day event to remind fans that dairy products are not only nutritious, but also the foods to eat when having fun.

Dairy Day also reminds fans that June is Dairy Month.

Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff is to throw out the first ball of the game and to officiate a cow-milking contest.

The milking contest, vying teams from radio stations WAGO and WYCL, begins at 12:30 p.m., just prior to the game. WAGO is the play-by-play voice of the Reading Phillies.

Also, the first 1,500 youth, aged 14 and younger, to show for the game will receive an equipment bag from one of several dairy princesses. The equipment bags are emblazoned with the Reading Phillies logo and the message, "Milk. It Does A Body Good."

Fans can also receive free ice cream loaded with toppings from a 50-foot banana split provided by the local county dairy promotion groups. Free ice cold chocolate milk will be provided by Clover Farms Dairy of Reading.

Singing the national anthem will be a former alternate state dairy princess, Laurie Sterner. Sterner attends Messiah College on a music sholarship.

Sale to be held at John Lindley's Farm located at Prosperity, Pa. - 10 miles south of Washington, Pa. on Rt. 18 or approx. 35 miles south of Pittsburgh, Pa.
DIRECTIONS: Take I-79 South to 70 West. Go approx. 4 miles to Exit 3 (Taylorstown Exit). Take Rt. 221 South approx. 7 miles to Prosperity, Pa. Watch for auction signs.

John & Marilyn Lindley have decided to discontinue their dairy operation. They will be dispersing their entire herd of Holstein cattle along with all milking equipment and computer feeder.

The Lindley herd consists of 112 milk cows, the remainder being bred heifers, yearlings, calves, and 2 Service Age Bulls.

The cattle are housed in freestalls and milked in a parlor. They are not fed excessive amounts of grain and are on pasture 18 to 20 hrs. a day.

The Lindley's herd is in good flesh and in Ex. health. They are currently averaging over 60 lbs. per day out of the tank. Several sell milking over 100 lbs.

If you need milk or cattle bred to milk you should attend. This is a good honest herd.

Valiant, Elevation, Astronaut and Arlinda Chief account for most of the blood in this fine young herd.

Extension Home Economist Goes To Jail

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.) — His heart raced, his palms sweated, his whole body shook as he peered between the bars on the glass-block windows.

He strained to see the eight-month-old baby that his grandfather was carrying across the prison parking lot. This was to be the first meeting between him and his little girl. He had seen neither his daughter nor a picture of her before this day.

The baby's father was incarcerated at the Dauphin County Prison before the baby was born. Due to regulations and personal circumstances the two were kept apart. However, through the PATCH (Parents And Their Children at Home) Program, the father was able to meet his daughter.

PATCH founded

More than a year ago, Mary Laeger-Hagemeister, Penn State Extension home economist in Dauphin County, began conducting parent education programs in the prison. The incarcerated parents had been identified as a need via county commissioner, Carol Peters. Working with the prison education department, Mary initiated a four week discipline class.

The first session was for the females, since Mary had never worked within a prison before.

"I wanted to feel as comfortable as possible," she said. "When that session ended and we began planning for the next dates the education staff, Marita Kelly and Jane Hautzinger, asked if I would be willing to offer the same session for the men. I was up for another challenge so we did!"

The staff found that the fathers were very receptive and hungry to learn how to be better dads.

After the two discipline classes were over, Mary and Marita were evaluating the outcome when Mary raised the question of the incarcerated parents getting a contact visit.

"I was concerned about two things, one that the parents needed hands-on experience with their children to implement what they had been learning; and second, was the issue of the parent-child relationship," she said.

"The children of these parents are at-risk and it seemed that they were also being punished by not being able to see their parent. The only time an inmate can get a contact visit is if he or she is a trustee. In order to become a trustee one has to be incarcerated for several months in order to earn that trust. Otherwise the only visit inmates have with their family is by talking to them via phone behind a heavy glass," Jane Hautzinger said.

PATCH develops

When discussing the concept of expanding the parent education classes to include a contact visit, a lot of excitement was generated. First, of course, the warden had to approve of the innovative idea.

"That wasn't a problem at this prison. However, that wouldn't be true every place," said Marita Kelly.

Upon further discussion within the prison, Cris Laudenslager, training officer, offered to teach vital signs, community CPR, and fire safety.

"It became an opportunity for different departments within the prison to work together for the inmates," Jane said.

The whole PATCH concept expanded to three phases. Phase I involves parent education newsletters from Penn State Extension given to the parents and the parents corresponding with their children. Included in this correspondence are worksheets and letters. Parents send age appropriate worksheets home for their children to do, who then return them to the parent who places a sticker or some sort of positive reinforcer on the paper. Once again the papers are sent back to the children to see the parents comments.

Jane Hautzinger coordinates this phase from within the prison. Phase II is the classroom instruction on parenting skills. It involves a variety of topics including: vital signs, fire safety, community CPR; toy selection, discussing safety issues, age appropriate choices, and sex-role stereotyping; self-esteem sessions focus on the parent's own self-esteem first, then on the child's; effective discipline; and the importance of play where the parents actually practice playing and making crafts so they're ready to implement these aspects with the children.

In addition, the inmates must go through six group-counseling sessions as part of a prerequisite for a contact visit. All of these sessions are implemented through the prison staff and Mary Laeger-Hagemeister.

"We do have one volunteer from the "outside" participating in the program," said Jane. "A professor from Penn State Harrisburg, Dr. Amon, discusses children's literature with the parents. He gets them involved in reading and in capturing the children's attention. In the year of family literacy, this adds an important dimension to the entire program."

"That was the extent of Phase II for the first PATCH program with the mothers. When we offered it the second time to the fathers, it was expanded even more," said Mary. "The medical staff volunteered to be a part of the program by discussing children's diseases, and Children and Youth Services also shared how they can be of assistance to these parents when they're released," Jane said.

This program has brought agencies together within the county as well as departments in the prison, all working to help these individu-

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.) — It was a perfect day! Blue skies overhead, warm sun, and hours of festivities all in one location.

Dauphin County Cooperative Extension held its second Extension Extravaganza on Saturday, May 19, at the Dauphin County Agriculture and Natural Resources Center. The event was initiated last year to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the Cooperative Extension nationally.

"It was so successful we decided to continue the event another year," said Mary Laeger-Hagemeister, Extravaganza chairperson and county family living agent. Last year over 350 participants were reached with more than 50% being a new audience for Dauphin County Cooperative Extension.

Interdisciplinary approach

"We have a new staff here in Dauphin County, and this gave us a chance to work together on a project that brings all the disciplines together," remarked Jim Welshans, county extension director.

The Extravaganza offers the staff a means to disseminate the vast variety of information available for the clientele. In addition to the county-based staff, the Extravaganza draws upon the expertise of the multi-county agents who serve Dauphin County as well as professionals from neighboring counties. Information was shared via a variety of exhibits on display in the auditorium. The exhibits focused on a Radon Kiosk, a food safety quiz board, 4-H'ers doing face painting, tractor safety, and nutritional information on fat and sugar. Participants also tested their trivia quotient about Penn State's College of Agriculture.

Extension Extravaganza Provides Family Fun

Children learned gardening skills by transplanting tomatoes and marigold plants, and by making garden signs under the supervision of volunteers, Ann Staver, Sue Loy, and Dorothy Sweigard.

Clothing and Textile Master Volunteers Audrey Cini and Trish Edminston demonstrated the "Clothing for Special Needs" and "Window Furnishings" displays. Both of these programs are available for presentations to interested individuals.

Young and old alike were able to enjoy the barnyard. It provided a "hands-on" experience with pigs, ducks, geese, sheep, and goats. The children especially enjoyed being able to cuddle the poultry. Several children were even able to adopt a duck or goose as a pet.

In addition to the exhibits, participants engaged in numerous mini presentations. Topics included: "Celebrate Your Family," "Household Hazardous Wastes," "updated nutritional information on low cost protein, bran, and healthful diets," to "Common Sense Approach to Pesticides and Foods" and "Lyme Disease."

Besides the indoor sessions, Woodlot Management walking tours were conducted and kids of all ages could be seen on the front lawn hula-hooping, baton twirling, playing with beach balls, and participating in other activities as they learned about "Fitness for Kids".

An added highlight was the performance by the "New Kids on the Block" Theater 4-H Club. Helen Riley, 4-H agent, uses theater and dance to reach kids. "The arts are a positive way for the children to express themselves and build self-esteem," she said.

Volunteer involvement

"A key to the success of any of our programs is volunteer involvement. Without all the volunteers' contributions we could not have made this happen," said Mary Laeger-Hagemeister.

Volunteers were involved from the beginning when the staff was brainstorming for last year's event, and board members were present to give grass roots input. Their suggestions were implemented as well as their time and talents.

One volunteer expressed the sentiments of many when she said, "I didn't know extension offered so much!"

An added attraction this year was a chicken barbecue. The 4-H Exchange Club, and the Twin Valley Lions Club of Halifax co-sponsored the meal. In so doing, the Exchange Club was able to have a fund raiser while the Lions (who support 4-H in other ways) were able to share the work load and expertise.

Future directions

"We will definitely do it again," Hagemeister said. "Our goal is to build the family and this is one means to demonstrate our concern."

Kids of all ages enjoyed "Fitness for Kids".

Laurie Hicks Crowned For Dairy Promotion

ATGLEN (Chester Co.)— The Chester County Dairy Princess Pageant was held on June 2 at West Fallowfield Christian School, Atglen. Laurie Hicks, West Chester, was crowned the 1990 Chester County Dairy Princess. Her alternates are Renee Robinson, Oxford, and Stacey Stauffer, Cochranville.

Laurie is the 17-year-old daughter of John and Linda Hicks. She owns registered Holsteins, which she shows at area dairy shows. Very active at home and at school, Laurie will be a senior at West Chester East High School where she is a member of the National Honor Society and varsity sports.

Renee Robinson is the 16-year-old daughter of Howard and Janet Robinson. Renee will be a senior this fall at Oxford Area High School where she is active in different committees and events.

Stacey Stauffer is the 16-year-old daughter of Terry and Nancy Stauffer. Stacey's hobbies and activities center around church and school. She will be a junior at Octorara Area High School this fall.

The Mistress of Ceremonies was Kerry Hoffman, pesticide education project assistant at Penn State. After the contestants were introduced, the audience was entertained through music by Tiffany Yeager, Spring City, and the 1988 Chester County Dairy Princess. Also present was Pat Purcell of Mid-Atlantic Milk Marketing Area to educate the audience on the functions and current promotions of their organization.

A panel of three judges made their decision based on poise, personality, speaking ability, and individual presentations -- promoting the dairy industry -- done by each contestant. All three young ladies will represent the dairy industry in Chester County for the coming year.

Chester County Dairy Princess Laurie Hicks, center, Renee Robinson and Stacey Stauffer, alternates, were chosen to promote dairy products for Chester County.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

On a busy day your microwave oven can turn out a meal for six in less than 35 minutes.

All it takes is a little thinking and planning to decide which food to cook when. Here's the way to microwave this hearty meal.

1. Microwave Vanilla Pudding Supreme. To speed chilling, place pudding in freezer while preparing the rest of the meal.

2. Prepare Karen's Best Meatballs and microwave. Stir in dairy sour cream; cover and let stand while completing steps 3 and 4.

3. While meatballs microwave, start water boiling to cook noodles in a large saucepan on range-top. Slice onions and peppers for Italian-Style Green Beans.

4. While meatballs stand, microwave beans and cook noodles.

5. Drain noodles. Microwave meatballs on High, covered, 1 to 2 minutes, and pour over noodles, sprinkle with parsley.

6. Right before serving, stir sour cream into pudding; spoon into serving dishes and add toppings.

For a really busy day, make the pudding and meatballs ahead. If you do, total before-meal preparation time is only about 20 minutes.

To make pudding ahead: Microwave according to recipe, cover and refrigerate. For meatballs: Prepare and cook meatballs. Do not add sour cream. Cover and refrigerate meatballs.

About 20 minutes before eating: Remove meatballs from refrigerator. Bring water to a boil on range-top and cook noodles while microwaving the rest of the meal. Cook beans according to recipe; let them stand, covered, while heating meatballs. Microwave meatballs on High, covered, 5 to 7 minutes, stir in sour cream, and microwave 1 to 2 minutes or until hot. Continue with steps 5 and 6 (above).

Vanilla Pudding Supreme

2 packages (3¼ ounces each) regular vanilla pudding mix
3 cups milk
1 cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup graham cracker crumbs
Marshmallow creme
Chocolate syrup

In microwave-safe 1½-quart bowl, combine pudding mix and milk. Microwave (High), uncovered, 8 to 9 minutes or until boiling, stirring after each 2 minutes. Cool completely. Fold in sour cream. Spoon into 6 to 8 sherbet dishes. Chill. Sprinkle with graham cracker crumbs; top with marshmallow cream and chocolate syrup. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Each serving — ⅙ of recipe: 274 calories, 5g protein, 12g fat, 43g carbohydrate, 256mg sodium, 24mg cholesterol.

Hint: Pudding mix must come to a boil — same as in conventional cooking — or it will not thicken.

Karen's Best Meatballs

1 pound lean ground beef
½ cup quick or old-fashioned oatmeal (uncooked)
⅓ cup red wine or milk
¼ cup finely chopped onion
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
½ cup milk
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 package (8 ounces) egg noodles, cooked and drained
Garnish: 2 tablespoons chopped parsley (optional)

Combine ground beef, oats, wine, onions, salt and pepper. Mix well: shape into about 30 1-inch meatballs. Place meatballs in microwave-safe 11x7-inch baking dish. Cover with wax paper. Microwave (High) for 5 to 6 minutes, gently stirring and turning over meatballs after 3 minutes. Drain. Stir in soup and milk. Recover and microwave (High) 3 to 4 minutes, stirring once. Stir in sour cream. Microwave (High) 1 to 2 minutes or until hot. Serve on hot noodles. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Each serving: 472 calories, 24g protein, 24g fat, 37g carbohydrate, 578mg sodium, 117mg cholesterol.

To make ahead: Cook meatballs, stir in soup and milk; cover and refrigerate. Before serving, microwave on High, covered, 5 to 7 minutes; stir in sour cream and microwave 1 to 2 minutes or until hot.

Hint: Gently stir and turn over meatballs about halfway through cooking as directed. Rearrange meatballs so least-cooked ones are toward outside edge of dish.

Note: For fewer calories and less fat, substitute non-fat plain yogurt for dairy sour cream.

Italian-Style Green Beans

2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen green beans*
½ teaspoon Italian herbs
2 large green onions and tops, sliced
½ small red bell pepper, thinly sliced
1 tablespoon olive oil or butter

Place beans in a microwave-safe 1½-quart casserole; sprinkle with herbs. Cover tightly with plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 5 to 6 minutes or until thawed. Stir in onions, peppers, and butter; recover. Microwave (High) 4 to 5 minutes or to desired doneness. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

* French-cut green beans or Italian green beans may be used.

Each serving — 1/6 of recipe: 34 calories, 1g protein, 2g fat, 4g carbohydrate, 47mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Questions and answers —

Q. I was given a microwave steamer basket, but I don't have the directions for it. I bought a bowl to set it in and have a lid that fits tightly. What can I cook in it? How much water should I use in it?

A. Some foods that steam well are fresh and frozen vegetables, fish and shellfish. With some brands you could steam sausages or poultry.

Pour ¼ to ½ cup water into the bowl. Use hot water to speed cooking. The amount of water depends on the size of bowl you use. Have the water so it's not touching the bottom of the steamer basket. The more water you use, the slower the cooking. So use more for a large vegetable (like whole cauliflower) or a vegetable that doesn't tenderize well in the microwave (like green beans) than you would for something like fresh peas or cabbage wedges. Since more water slows cooking, it allows the large vegetable to cook more evenly.

Put the steamer basket in the bowl; add the vegetables, cover and microwave on High until almost done. Steaming time is almost the same as or just slightly longer than regular microwaving time for any given food. It's important, then, to let the food stand, still tightly covered, about 5 minutes to finish cooking. Be careful not to burn yourself when lifting off the cover. Open away from your hand and face.

In the soda jerk talk of yesteryear, "split one" was a call for a banana split. A pink stick was a strawberry ice cream cone and "patch" was strawberry ice cream in a dish. A "white cow" meant a vanilla milk shake, and a "black cow" referred to chocolate. A chocolate and vanilla sundae was a "mystery." The cry "vanilla" alerted staff to a pretty customer. Like Latin, soda jerk talk is dying, but ice cream treats are here to stay.

Cool Off With Dairy Sippers

What better way to cool off on a summer day than sipping a milkshake, float or ice cream soda. Our readers have again showed their originality by sending in new recipes for dairy punches and drinks. Keep guests afloat with these delicious dairy sippers.

These recipes, and all those that appear during the month of June, are those contributed to our dairy recipe contest. The winners will be announced in the June 30 issue. In the meantime, you're certain to find plenty of recipes to delight your family and guests. And, isn't it fun to read the comments that many of our readers included with their submissions? Makes us feel like next-door neighbors.

CREAMSICLE PUNCH

1 quart vanilla ice cream
2 pints orange sherbet
1 quart milk
16-ounces lemon-lime soda

Combine softened ice cream and sherbet with milk; chill. Just before serving, add soda. Beat until smooth. Garnish with orange slices, if desired.

This recipe can also be made ahead for special events. Combine first three ingredients and freeze. Defrost in the refrigerator the evening before it is to be used and add soda before serving.

Our family often makes creamsicle punch ahead of time; it's a wonderful cooler on a hot summer evening.

I served creamsicle punch at nearly every store promotion during my year as Perry County Dairy Princess in 1983-84. It was most recently served to nearly 300 people at the reception before Newport FFA's 50th anniversary banquet in May.

Roxanne Lea Gabel
Newport

BLACK COW COOLER

1 package (4.3 grams) root beer flavored powder
½ to 1 cup sugar
2 quarts milk (skim, 1% or 2% or whole milk)

Mix and stir to dissolve. Refrigerate till thirsty crew comes in from field. A scoop of vanilla ice cream into each glass is good, too.

I've been doing this for years - using milk instead of water. A pleasant, delicious and nutritious change from chocolate or white.

I've included a package (AuntWicks) for you to try for your family or staff. Grocery stores usually have it beside Kool Aid.

M. Lucille Hoover
Patton

PURPLE COW

1½ cups cold milk
2 scoops vanilla ice cream (about ⅔ cup)
3 tablespoons frozen grape juice concentrate vanilla ice cream

Blend milk, grape juice concentrate and two scoops vanilla ice cream in blender until smooth. Pour into two 12 oz. glasses. Top with scoop of vanilla ice cream in each glass. Serve immediately.

REAL FRESH MILK

Remove milk container from refrigerator. Pour into a glass, cup, bowl, anything! Drink and enjoy!

We live on a dairy farm in Womelsdorf, Pa. We milk 44 cows and raise and feed over 100 heifers and steers. My husband and I have been farming since October of 1980. We were married in May of 1981. Since then we had four children, Jeffrey (8), who helps with the barn work, Amy (7), who takes care of my youngest, Kristen (2) and Sarah (5 months) while I'm doing the barn work. Martin, my husband, does the most of the field work. We have 125 acres mostly in corn, alfalfa and a little oats.

We all enjoy being on a farm as well as the country. My husband and I would never give up our dairy operation, we enjoy making a good, clean and healthy product MILK. I don't have a lot of time to make fancy meals with four children, and the farm work so what I make has to be simple and easy and quick!

My children love macaroni and cheese, if it was up to them, they would live on it.

Kristen loves frosting on cakes and that is all she will eat. This smooth frosting is her favorite because it has whipped cream.

The banana split dessert we all like and it is simple to whip up. It is great for a hot summer evening snack.

But best of all is Fresh Milk!

Melissa Moyer
Womelsdorf R1

HEAVENLY PUNCH

1 can pineapple juice
1 quart gingerale
2 quarts water
2 cups sugar
1 package unsweetened raspberry Kool Aid
1 package unsweetened cherry Kool Aid

Mix in punch bowl and add scoops of raspberry sherbet.

Pam won a prize from the Automobile Association of American for this non-alcoholic drink that the organization featured in their New Year's publication.

Pam and Rodney and their children, Dawn, 17; Brian, 15; and Heather, 18; live on a chicken farm in Chambersburg.

The family opens their home to college students from nearby Shippensburg University and serve as a "family away from home" for students.

STRAWBERRY FRAFF

4 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 quart frozen strawberries, crushed
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 quarts milk

Beat eggs. Add sugar. Beat until fluffy. Add strawberries and chop them until mixture is smooth. Add vanilla. Add 2 quarts milk and mix. Can be prepared in blender.

Marietta Z. Zimmerman
Mifflinburg

RASPBERRY MILK PUNCH

1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 quart raspberry sherbet
16 ounces gingerale
1 quart milk

Combine softened ice cream, sherbet, and soda. Chill. Before serving, gradually add milk. Beat until smooth. Serve in chilled punch bowl. Garnish with raspberries. Makes 12 cups.

I enjoy baking and cooking and trying new recipes. I find many good recipes in Lancaster Farming.

Donna D. Gockley

MILK PUNCH

1 pint milk
1 cup vanilla ice cream
1 pint lime sherbet
1 cup lemon-lime soda

Mix milk, ice cream and sherbet in blender. Before serving, add soda and garnish with mint leaves and stemmed maraschino cherries. Makes 6 ¾ -cup servings.

Here is a recipe that is cool and refreshing for the summer months. I am a mother of seven children so of course I have to mix more than 1 batch, although our youngest (age 5 weeks) doesn't need a glass full yet! We live on a dairy farm.

Alta S. Nolt

PEACH SHAKE

1 10-ounce package frozen peaches in syrup, partly thawed
1 pint vanilla ice cream
2 cups cold milk

Beat peaches and ice cream in blender. Add milk. Whip just until foamy.

Fresh fruit can also be used but add a few ice cubes when blending. If desired, add 1 capful of almond flavoring.

We enjoy this milk shake on hot days. It is a good pick- me-up.

Linda Rock

CREAM SHERBET PUNCH

1 quart orange sherbet
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 quart ginger ale
2 large cans pineapple juice or frozen orange

Combine sherbet and ice cream with juice. Blend until smooth. Add ginger ale before serving.

Ruth Lapp
Myerstown R2

ORANGE FLUFF

1 pound cottage cheese, small curd
1 large whipped cream topping
1 large orange flavored gelatin
2 cans mandarin oranges, drained

Put all in one bowl, mix with electric mixer. Let set overnight in refrigerator or can be eaten right away.

ORANGE MILK PUNCH

1 quart vanilla ice cream
2 pints orange sherbet
1 16-ounce bottle carbonated lemon-lime beverage
1 quart milk

Combine softened ice cream, sherbet, and lemon-lime beverage. Chill. Orange sherbert can be substituted for strawberry or other flavors. Before serving, gradually add milk; beat until mixture is smooth. Serve in punch bowl. Serves 24 ½ -cup servings.

This is a very good and popular beverage. I have used it many times for store promotion sampling. It seems to be very popular for weddings, parties, and baby showers.

QUESTION — Jerome Klien from Holland, Michigan, would like a recipe for dill pickles made in a crock, not canned, and left set in the brine all winter. Usually stored in an outdoor shed.

ANSWER — Ruth Quade, Medford, N.J., wanted to know where she can purchase ceramic buttons, bracelets and pins on which a decal is placed and baked. Thanks to a reader who said to write to Cridge Inc., Dept. A, Box 210, Morrisville, PA 19067 or call (215) 295-3667.

ANSWER — Carrie Sponellen, Gettysburg, wanted low cholesterol recipes. Thanks to Mrs. William Truckner of Avonmore for sending several.

Apple Nut Dessert

1 jumbo egg white, beaten
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 to 4 cups chopped unpared tart apples
½ cup broken walnuts

Combine egg, sugar, and vanilla. Stir together flour, baking powder, and salt. Add dry ingredients to egg mixture and blend well. Stir in apples and nuts. Spread in greased 8-inch square baking dish. Bake 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Wacky Cake

¾ cup unbleached flour
¾ cup whole wheat flour
1 cup sugar
4 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt, optional
4 tablespoons oil, prefer cannola
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
1 cup warm water

In ungreased 8-inch square pan, combine dry ingredients. Make three holes in mixture; pour oil in one, vanilla in one, and vinegar into the third. Add warm water and mix until well blended. Bake 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes or until pick inserted in center comes out clean. Serve as is. For 9x13-inch pan, bake 25 minutes.

Carrot Cake

Mix or sift together:
¾ cup whole wheat flour
¾ cup unbleached flour
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat 2 jumbo egg whites and 2 to 4 tablespoons oil, prefer cannola. Add ¼ cup water and 1½ cups grated carrot and 1 teaspoon vanilla and ½ cup chopped walnuts and dry ingredients. Mix very well. Bake in greased 9-inch square pan at 350 degrees for 35 minutes. Serve with vanilla sauce.

Vanilla sauce:
½ cup sugar
2-6 tablespoons cornstarch
Dash salt, optional
1 cup of 1% milk
1 tablespoon butterbuds
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix cornstarch with a small amount of milk. Combine remaining ingredients in a heavy saucepan. Stir and bring to a boil. Add cornstarch mixture and continue to boil until thickened. Using 2 teaspoons cornstarch makes a very thin vanilla sauce.

Modified No Bake Fudge Cookies

Mix in saucepan:
2 cups sugar
½ cup baking cocoa
4 teaspoons butterbuds
¼ cup oil (cannola)
½ cup milk

Bring to a rolling boil for ½ minute. Stir in ½ cup old fashioned peanut butter. Boil an additional ½ minute, no more than 1 to 1½ minutes total. Remove from heat and add light vanilla. Stir immediately into 5½ cups old fashioned Quaker oats. Immediately drop by teaspoonful on wax paper and let cool. These taste better if stored in the freezer or refrigerator.

Modified Famous Oatmeal Cookies

½ cup oil
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup sugar
1 jumbo egg white
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups old fashioned Quaker oats
1 cup whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup chocolate chips, optional

Beat together oil, sugar, egg, water, and vanilla. Mix together dry ingredients and add to liquid mixture and mix well. Bake on greased cookie sheet 10 to 12 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes 5 dozen.

Stones Found In Baby Food

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Beech-Nut Nutrition Corporation of Canajoharie, N.Y., is voluntarily recalling 11,000 cases of baby food distributed in 22 states east of the Rocky Mountains, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official said recently.

The recall was initiated following the company's discovery of stones -- a potential choking hazard -- in samples of its products during quality control inspections. The stones ranged in size from 1/8 to 1/2 inch.

The products being recalled are:

• Beech-Nut Table Time Vegetable Stew with Chicken, packaged in 12-ounce glass jars. Each jar carries the code "28FEB92 02A0848" followed by an "A", "B", "C", or "D". The jars also carry the federal inspection mark and "Est. No. P-68." They are packed 12 to a case. The product is for children aged 1 and older.

• Beech-Nut Stages 3 Chicken Noodle Dinner, packaged in 6-ounce glass jars. Each jar carries the code "09MAR92 03BO212" followed by an "A", "B", "C", or "D". The jars also carry the federal inspection mark and "Est. No. P-68." They are packed 24 to a case. The product is for children aged 9 months and older.

• Beech-Nut Stages 3 Dinner Variety Pack, which contains the chicken noodle dinner as one of four jars of different varieties of food. The company is recalling the entire pack, but only the chicken noodle dinner might contain stones. In addition to the code on the jars of chicken noodle dinner, the wrapper of the pack carries the code "USE BY MAR 92" and either "0423H" or 0424H." Six variety packs are contained in each case.

"No injuries have been reported," said Dr. Catherine Adams, assistant administrator of USDA's Food Safety and Inspection Service. "However, as a preventive measure the company encourages consumers to return all jars of the products to the store where purchased."

The company indicated that it traced the stones to a shipment of frozen peas, Adams said. No Beech-Nut products other than those specified are being recalled, she said.

The recall involves the following states: Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, North Carolina, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Consumers with questions about the recall may phone the toll-free USDA Meat and Poultry Hotline at 1-800-535-4555. the hotline can be reached from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. (Eastern Time) Monday through Friday. At other times a recording with information about the recall will be provided. Callers in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area should call 447-3333. Both phone numbers provide access to a telecommunications device for the deaf.

The Food Safety and Inspection Service inspects all meat and poultry sold in interstate commerce to ensure that it is safe, wholesome and accurately labeled.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Here was a scene that was surely being repeated under similar circumstances at thousands of sites across the country.

A congregation, gathered elbow to elbow, waited in upbeat anticipation. Smiles topped the sea of suits, dress shirts, summer pastel dresses. Even a few hats. Latecomers began lining walls as participation overflowed seating capacity.

An air of suppressed excitement hovered over the gathering. Pride. Joy. Gratitude. Maybe just a shade of misty-eyed emotionalism. And a little bit of nostalgia. Then, to the opening strains of the familiar processional in organ-piano duet, came the first of the shimmering blue gown parade. Tassels bobbed against hard, square headpieces above the solemn, marching faces.

Is it likely that more than just my eyes blinked tears that threatened while hearing those traditional chords of "Pomp and Circumstance."

"I hate that song!" had been the comment just a short time before. "I've heard it so many times I'm sick of it."

"One, two, three, four... one, two, three, four... everyone march together on the beat!" The grousing had continued.

"And we have to take our hats off when they say 'Let us pray.' All of us at the same time!"

"Why do we have to wear those dumb hats, anyway?"

"I'm not staying for that reception. When it's over I'm out the hall, around the corner, and outta' there!"

"Why do we have to do this, anyway?"

While I have no proof of the fact, it would seem likely from this mother's experienced point of view that the above running commentary of pre-ceremonial complaints was probably repeated ad infinitum across this great land. These or similar cynical observances were uttered by countless graduates who would much prefer to be out riding their motorcycles, cruising The Loop, sunbathing, ruining their hearing with high-decibel hard rock, fishing, downing fast food, or shopping.

As you no doubt have figured out by now, we "suffered" through graduation this week. We "endured" the ceremonial processionals and recessionals, the obligatory speeches on opportunity, on striving to be your best, and on the world being in your hands. We "put up with" hugs, and congratulations and beaming relatives and having it all recorded for posterity.

"Put your gown on so I can take some pictures before you leave," I had requested prior to his leaving for baccalaureate.

"Because I want some pictures from out on the lawn," was my further explanation to the grumbling reluctance.

"PUT THE GOWN ON AND GET OUT THERE. NOW." finally produced the grinning results. "YES, THE CAP, TOO!"

And an era in our family life abruptly ended as the youngest shed the growled-about cap and gown for the final time and fled the school parking lot -- to glorious post high-school freedom -- without so much as a fond look back.

A sentiment shared by many in his class of nearly 400 graduates, I betcha.

That will come later. The looking back, the celebration of traditions, I think, is most appreciated by us "old folks" of us who have already lived them. After all, it is adults who plan and take pride in milestone ceremonials marking our children's passage rites, from kindergarten "graduations" to achievement and awards programs, to the classic, sober, ceremonial commencements of higher education. It is us -- proud parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles -- who lug along the 35-mm cameras and the video recorders to save and savor these moments.

Looking back, it seems I recall similar weariness with what then seemed like more ritual and an impatient sense of "just give me my diploma and let me outta' here to get on with my life."

Maybe it's a defective family gene. Or just an age of eagerness to embrace the opportunities of the future.

So go for it, graduates!

June Dairy Baby Welcomed

Lancaster County Dairy Princess Angela Spickler, left, and Julie Greider, chairperson for county dairy promotion, center, announced that Alec Taylor, held by his mother Christine Splain of Marietta, is the county's June Dairy Baby.

Since Alec was the first baby born in Lancaster County on June 1, he was awarded a basketful of dairy-related gifts. Ten days overdue, Alec weighed in at 10 pounds 7¾ ounces.

"He'll need a lot of milk," his mother said.

During June Dairy Month, babies born in the county's five hospitals will receive an infant T-shirt printed with the logo, "I love milk." Both the county and the state Dairy Promotion program joined together to distribute 144 shirts.

Quads Born To Dorset-Cross Owned by 11-Year-Old Boy

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

KINZERS (Lancaster Co.) — Calvin King is only 11 years old, but every night he gets up and feeds two crying babies.

The babies are lambs born to his Dorset-cross sheep who gave birth to four lambs on May 29.

Because the mother did not have enough milk for the four, Calvin and his brother are feeding the two smallest ones with a bottle.

They use goat's milk, which they buy from a neighbor, and feed the lambs every four hours.

"They only drink one or two ounces at a time," Calvin said. "I heard if you start to bottle feed animals, you need to finish up until they get to be around three months."

With their wooly coats, long tails, and spindly legs, the lambs scamper around the pen that they share with their mother. The mother ewe chews contently as she watches them. She doesn't seem to mind that Calvin feeds two of them.

Calvin, who has been raising sheep for several years, said that this is the first time that he has bottle fed a lamb.

Last year, the mother ewe had twins, but one died. This year, Calvin was shocked when the ewe had quadruplets. Dr. Susan Harper, a livestock veterinarian of Hummelstown, said that it is uncommon for Dorsets to have quad births. The three males and one female were born on May 29.

Calvin has three brothers and five sisters. The Kings care for three ponies and four pheasants in addition to their sheep. Calvin helps his dad built gazebos for Pequea Storage Shed, owned by his father, Abner King of Kinzer.

These energetic quads would not stand still long enough for a picture. Pictured are three of the lambs with their mother. The other refused to stand still.

Have you started to cook outside yet? When the weather's warm, outdoor cooking's cool cookin' and lots of fun, if you know how.

Here are some special treat recipes to try out on the grill after your mom or dad has cooked the meal and the coals are still hot. Any of the following could be your next "grill dessert"!

S'mores

2 graham crackers
1 marshmallow
2 squares plain chocolate bar

Place candy bar pieces on a graham cracker. Toast marchmallow and place on top of chocolate. Top with another graham cracker and press together.

Baked Apples
(4 servings)

4 apples
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon sugar
1 Tablespoon raisins or nuts

Core apples; combine remaining ingredients. Place each apple on a square of aluminum foil. Fill cored holes in apples with the sugar mixture. Seal with bundle wrap. Bake on coals 15 minutes. Rotate, bake 15 more minutes.

Sweet Treats

1 loaf unsliced bread
1 can (14 oz) sweetened condensed milk
1 cup flaked coconut

Slice bread into 1 inch cubes. Place milk and coconut in separate small bowls. Place bread on skewer or stick. Dip into milk and then coconut; toast over coals until lightly browned.

Banana Bites

4 teaspoons honey
2 teaspoons peanut butter
1 medium banana

Tear off a 9-inch sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil. Blend and spread honey and peanut butter in center of foil; place banana on top. Cut in ¼ -inch slices, keeping banana in shape. Bring two side of foil together above banana; fold down loosely in a series of locked folds allowing for heat circulation and expansion. Twist ends to seal. Grill over medium hot coals 10 to 15 minutes or until warm.

Makes: 1 serving.

Remember safety first-

Always use tongs or hot pads to handle hot food packets from the grill.

To open packets, slit with a knife or fork. Push aluminum foil aside with the utensil.

When opening packets, keep hands and face away from the slits because steam might come out.

If you are eight years old or older and would like to know more about outdoor cooking, there is a 4-H Foods and Nutrition project book just for you. For more information on how you can get this project book and join 4-H, call your County Cooperative Extension Office.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

The other week my husband and I went on a two day fishing trip. He likes to try different places and so this time we went to Beltzville State Park near Lehighton.

On the way we got lost so Allen blamed an old map. He said the route numbers were changed. Anyway, we arrived after noon-time and promptly put our boat in the water.

We had stopped on the way to buy ice as we forgot to bring some along. He is always an optimist and expects to catch some big ones. Actually, it is a job to remember the dozen or more items necessary for the trip. I pack the suitcase and a big lunch and he packs the fishing rods, life saver cushions, electric motor, battery, bait, licenses, etc.

We had two beautiful days with blue skies and a few puffy white clouds. There was a breeze and the sun shone. He used minnows and I used night crawlers. All the big fish evaded us and so after sitting for hours without even a nibble, I ask him to try several inlets along the shore of Beltzville Lake. Here we caught a number of small fish. It is a lot more interesting to get nibbles now and then rather than nothing for hours on end.

This 947-acre lake is well known as a place for boaters. And, I mean big, high-powered boats. We went to see the large beach area before we left for home. There were some colorful sailboat-type crafts on the water too.

We arrived home before dark and I hurried to the garden to pick strawberries and sugar peas as rain was expected. I'm hoping I'll be able to sell most of them as there are still some in my freezer from last year. After the berries are picked, I always sort them before selling any as I want people to remember that I have nice berries. We use some of the berries on cereal and in jello. Some will probably be turned into jam but that too takes time.

als and families draw on their strengths.

Some comments shared by the staff concerning the parents involved in the program included the following:

Cris Laudenslager said, "I didn't think they'd pass CPR, but they all passed! It was great to see their progress."

Mary said, "They are like other parents, they want to do the best job possible. Most of them don't come from healthy home lives and don't feel very well about themselves. By the end of the program we could see a big change in their personalities and attitudes. It's exciting to watch them grow!"

"The contact visits are like giving birth!" said Jane. "I get so excited because everyone has worked so hard to make this happen. I just don't want anything to go wrong with the program. It's especially exciting to see the parents and children reunited — for some it's been months!"

Contact visits are the third and final phase of PATCH. Children are brought to the prison by either a family member or guardian. Contact visits are offered twice for two hours each. For the first visit the staff plans the schedule with some input from the inmates.

"We try to include something of everything that was taught during the sessions," said Mary.

The second visit is totally planned by the inmates. "It's exciting to see them work together which isn't typical in a prison, plus to see how they put into practice what they've learned," said Jane.

The participants and family members are very positive about the program.

Families have commented to the staff about the positive impact this program has had for the children. To have them united and in contact with their parent, even if limited, has made a difference for the children.

Parents have also expressed their views. One mother wrote a thank-you letter to the PATCH program. She said, "For the first time I completed something, thanks to you!"

This same mom later reported that because of the program and being certified with CPR she was able to get a job as a nursing assistant at a community nursing home!

"One of the important aspects for the parents is the certificate they receive. We have a "graduation" ceremony at the first contact visit where they are awarded a certificate for completing the PATCH parenting program!

"For some, this is the only graduation or recognition they've ever received," Mary said. "Our primary goal is to increase the individual's self-esteem. That seems to be the one characteristic that the majority of the inmates share, low self-esteem. If we can build their esteem in one area of their life, hopefully it will carry over into the rest of their life. They will do almost anything for their children, their most precious resources. I would say that 75% or more of the parents who have gone through the program have said for the children's sake they would never get in trouble again. We want to help them believe in themselves in order to make that possible!"

In addition to the change seen in the parents and children, Mary and Jane have also produced a documentary video tape to help other correctional institutions learn about the program and implement it for their incarcerated parents! The PATCH program has also been presented at PAACE, Pennsylvania Association of Adult Continuing Education, Penn State "Celebrate The Family" Symposium, and is slated for the National Correctional Trainers Conference in October of 1990.

"Seeing the father united with his eight-month-old daughter for the first time, and the moral support he had from all the other dads in the program makes all the work worthwhile," Mary said.

The Cold Facts About Freezer Freshness

With the hot days of summer just around the corner, it's time to open your freezer and take a long, hard look. Like yesterday's baseballs stars, there are undoubtedly a few has-beens lurking in the background. A snow-covered tub of ice cream. A package of petrified popsicles. Last year's tuna casserole. Foil-wrapped items that defy identification.

Knowing how to wrap and store frozen foods can help keep them fresh and ensure they will last longer. The following guidelines will help you develop "packing savvy" so you can prevent freezer burn, soggy foods, food spoilage and other freezer foul-ups in the future.

• Don't be a pack rat and overpack your freezer. This inhibits proper air flow. Keep the freezer two-thirds full to maintain an ideal freezer climate.

• Use airtight wraps such as resealable freezer bags, freezer paper, sealed plastic containers and aluminum foil to keep food from drying and from transmitting odors. Ideal freezer wrapping should be moisture and vaporproof.

• Store foods at 0 degrees F. Purchase a freezer thermometer to insure that your freezer maintains this temperature.

• Label and date all food before placing it in your freezer. Maintain a "first-in, first-out" policy. Food that is frozen first should be used first.

• Freeze foods quickly to maintain important vitamins and minerals as well as premium taste and texture. To fast-freeze, place foods in direct contact with freezer walls and on shelves with freezer coils. Relocate once frozen.

Freezer Friends And Foes

Some foods freeze very well while others are not so freezer friendly. You can avoid a few foul-ups by becoming familiar with the following list of freezer friends and foes:

Friends: Grated hard cheese, bread, nuts and dried fruit, soup stocks and most fresh herbs.

Foes: Cooked egg whites, raw tomatoes, vegetable, greens, mayonnaise, sour cream, cottage cheese and yogurt.

AGRIPRO SOYBEANS
NUMBER ONE IN RESEARCH

AP-3023
Big Yields On Lighter Soils.
This fast-growing Group III variety combines drought adaptability with very good Phytophthora tolerance For maximum yield and stress tolerance. This high-performance variety does well with no-till practices, and we recommend planting at moderate populations in 30-inch rows AP-3023 has a very good resistance to shattering, protecting your yield when harvest is slightly delayed

AP-4321
Short, Stout and Bred to Yield.
You can expect big yields when you plant this high profit early Group IV variety on your better soils. It adapts very well to narrow-row planting and responds strongly to fertility. AP-4321 produces excellent yields without lodging. It's an excellent companion to popular AP-350

AP-350
The Soybean The Others Would Love to Beat!
This proven performer is the benchmark early Group IV variety.
Maturity is 4 days later than Williams 82, and 1 day later than AP-4321. It produces consistently high yields and has excellent resistance to Phytophthora root rot. AP-350 does well even on wider rows and adapts to a wide variety of soil conditions and management practices

TAKING TIME

Nurturing Responsible Children

In recent days, homes across our communities experienced a startling change. THE KIDS ARE OUT OF SCHOOL!

But just because school has recessed does not mean learning should be put on hold. In fact, summers may be the best time for children to grow. And unlike their class schedule, you have greater control over the way they spend their time.

You can encourage your children (of any age) to take steps toward becoming responsible adults by providing them with opportunities to gain new skills, to make choices, and to succeed at a task.

When I was in college, I remember meeting other students in the laundry room. You'd be surprised at the number of people who don't learn to wash clothes, pay bills, or make spaghetti until they've ventured out into the world. I was fortunate. (At the time I called it "punished.") My parents expected each of my brothers and sisters and I to work for two hours a day around our farm during the summer months.

I may have been the exception.

An English teacher shared her experience: "When I assigned an essay on the topic How I Would Raise My Children Differently from the Way My Parents Raised Me, I expected statements such as, 'I would get off my kids' backs' or 'I would let the kids stay out as late as they want.' Was I surprised. Ninety-seven percent of the students said they wished their parents had given them more responsibility."

Of course, you won't hear too many brash teenagers volunteering that information!

Working, either as a contribution to the family farm/home or for pay, can be a great opportunity. If your children are earning money, take the lesson one step farther. Set the standard for responsible use of money by expecting them to deposit a percentage of their earnings in a savings account.

Statistics show that children who develop a pattern of saving are much more likely to continue this habit in adulthood than those who only spend.

Allow a daughter to decide which item to purchase with her hard-earned dollars.

Give your son a chance to choose. Many youth feel a lack of control in their lives. When carried into adult life, this can be quite harmful. You, as an individual, do control much of your own destiny by the decisions you make. Begin to let your son select his own chores, pastimes, meals.

Mistakes will occur. Poor choices will be made. But that too is a reality of life. It's okay. Protecting children from responsibility and pain is not beneficial in the long run.

Finally, help your children (and for that matter your spouse) to be successful. And be careful to define success in broad terms.

Success may be:

- attending overnight camp for the first time
- making lunch without help
- saving money to buy a trendy mini-skirt
- completing a mundane task like taking out the garbage without being asked

Every person has the potential to succeed. Unfortunately in our high-tech, fast-paced society, we tend to zip past those achievements in search of the solutions to a world's problems.

Don't cheat your kids out of the encouragement they need. Tell them frequently that they're okay. Point out the things they've done well. You may think these small compliments are insignificant, but think how nice it would feel for someone to say to you, "You always fold the shirts so they fit in the drawer just right!"

This summer many kids will have time on their hands. Give them some direction, some limits. Create opportunities to learn practical skills, to make choices, and to succeed. Make this summer time well spent.

Dairy Dessert Contest To Be Held

JONESTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — Calling all cooks! The Lebanon County Dairy Promotion Committee wants you to enter their June is Dairy Month Dairy Dessert Recipe Contest. The contest will coincide with their annual princess contest held June 16.

Recipes must feature at least one "Real" dairy product as a main ingredient. Judging will be base on: effective use of dairy products, taste and eye appeal, originality and creativity, and ease of preparation. The contest is open to all residents of Lebanon County.

To enter the contest, prepare your favorite dessert and bring it and the written recipe to the Midway Church of the Brethren (intersection of Evergreen Rd. and Lincoln Avenue) between 10 and 11 a.m. on June 16. Cash prizes will be awarded: first, $40; second, $25; and third, $10. Prizes will be awarded during the Dairy Princess Coronation held at the Lebanon County Vo-Tech School at 7:30 that evening. All recipes will be compiled and be available at the Contest. Please call 865-5727 with any questions.

June is National Dairy Month, a time to say thanks to the dairy families of America. So take a break, and toast them with a cool, frosty milk shake, malt or soda.

Cow Milking, Princess Crowning, Sundae Building At MAMMA Kickoff Promotion

EVA MARTIN
Maryland Correspondent

HAGERSTOWN, MD — The ballpark is an unusual place to crown a dairy princess, but that is what happened this year as MAMMA (mid-Atlantic Milk Marketing Agency) had their first kickoff promotion for June Dairy Month at the Hagerstown Suns Ballpark.

Heather Frey, 17-year-old senior at Smithsburg High School, and the daughter of Cletus and Janice Frey, was crowned the new 1990 Washington County Dairy princess by Kaylena Martin, the 1986 Washington County and Maryland State Dairy Princess. Washington County has not had a paticipant in the dairy princess program since 1986.

Heather is an honor student, plays on the basketball and track teams, is active in 4-H and helps on her family's dairy farm where they raise registered guernseys and farm about 500 acres.

As the announcer called out "Bring on the cows", Kenlin and Kevin Martin led two of their registered Holsteins to stand on tarps on each side of home plate for a cow milking contest between the two ball clubs. Glenn Presgraves, the sports announcer for Channel 25 Hagerstown, and three Hagerstown Suns players, Joe McKeon, Pat Austin, and Walt Harris, while John Price, Tim Mauser, Dan Kayhill and Bucky Mahia were the opposing Reading Phillies team.

The giant 50-foot sundae was distributed to the patrons at the game.

The Reading Phillies won with 4½ pounds of milk while the Suns had a total of 2½ pounds. The Suns complained, in fun, their cow moved her foot, frightening one of their milkers, who jumped back and spilled his milk, which

50 years of quality balers

In 1940, New Holland Machine Co. introduced the world's first automatic pickup, automatic tying baler.

It revolutionized agriculture, and forever changed how farmers baled hay.

That's why this year—the 50th anniversary of that introduction—Ford New Holland is proud to introduce the next revolution in square baling.

The Models 565, 570, and 575 balers meet and exceed your capacity, bale quality and reliability requirements.

And they've already been honored by a professional engineering organization for design excellence.

Stop by and see why we're proud of these new balers . . . and proud of our New Holland baler heritage.

Celebrate June Dairy Month With These Recipes

MILK PUNCH

2 quarts milk
2 quarts orange juice
2 quarts orange drink
1 liter 7-up
1 quart orange sherbet

Joyce Martin
Ephrata

MILKSHAKE

2 cups ice cream
¼ -½ cup skim or lowfat milk

Blender the ice cream and milk.

I am married with two children, a boy, 6; and a girl, 2.

We have dogs, cats, birds, rabbits, and fish. We do furniture refinishing and chair caning part-time at home. I do volunteer work at New Day Equestrian Center with handicapped riders.

Cindy Eshleman
Jonestown

CREAMY RASPBERRY PUNCH

½ gallon low fat milk
2 6-ounce cans frozen lemonade, thawed
1 quart raspberry sherbet, softened
2 quarts ice cold ginger ale

In large bowl beat with hand beater. Soften sherbet and lemonade. Add ice cold milk and stir. Pour in punch bowl, blend in ginger ale and serve cold. Yields: 40 half cup servings.

I often volunteer to do the punch for social events, and I make it a point to make a milk punch. This is my small way of doing a little dairy promotion.

It is important to serve them ice cold, and don't make them very long ahead of time, make a fresh batch as you run low. Recently, I made four batches for a church social and not a drop was left. Also received many raves and inquiries on the ingredients. Many are surprised you can mix fruit juice and milk.

COFFEE MILK

3 teaspoons instant coffee
¼ cup sugar

Add ¾ cup boiling water to dissolve. Add eight ice cubes. Add enough milk to make one quart. Our favorite dairy recipe.

I usually make two quarts at a time. It doesn't last long. The first year we were married, my husband worked for a Hungarian family. In the afternoon when they were making hay, they would bring this drink (coffee milk) to the field. It was very refreshing, and has been a favorite for us for 30 years.

EASY CREAM CHEESE CLOUDS

1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
½ cup confectioners' sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup heavy cream
1 can cherry pie filling
Chopped nuts, optional

With electric mixer on medium spead, mix cream cheese, sugar, and vanilla. Gradually add heavy cream. Mix well. Whip until thickened. Using the back of a spoon. Shape into 10 3½ -inch shells. Place on waxed paper-lined cookie sheet. Freeze two hours or overnight. When ready to serve fill with cherry pie filling. Sprinkle chopped nuts on top if desired. Can use any kind of filling you desire.

HOMEMADE VANILLA ICE CREAM

9 teaspoon vanilla
2⅔ cup sugar
1 pint heavy cream
2½ quarts milk
6 junket tablets

Mix together vanilla, sugar, cream, and milk. Heat until warm, not hot. Mix junket tablets in ¼ cup warm water. Soak until dissolved. Add to milk mixture. Stir thoroughly and pour into ice cream container. Let set 20 minutes. It will look like custard for 20 minutes. Refrigerate until completely cooled. When cooled completely, it is ready to be cranked in a ice cream freezer.

This is my husband's favorite dairy recipe. We live on a dairy farm and have about 75 Holsteins. We have 3 children, Melanie, 9; Jordan, 6; and Charity, 4. There is no better place to be than living here on the farm. We spend a lot more time together than most families can.

STRAWBERRY CREAM SALAD

1 10 oz. package frozen strawberries, thawed

Strawberry juice and cold water to make 1 cup liquid

1 large package strawberry flavored gelatin
2 cups hot water
1 cup whipping cream for salad
1 cup whipping cream for garnish

Drain the thawed strawberries reserving juice and add enough cold water to make one cup. Dissolve gelatin in hot water, add strawberries and one cup strawberry juice and water. Stir thoroughly. Chill mixture in refrigerator until gelatin begins to set. Whip the cream until stiff. Beat the partially set gelatin until foamy then fold whipped cream and gelatin mixture together. Pour into 1½ quart ring mold. Chill in refrigerator until firm. At serving time unmold strawberry ring on a chilled platter and place a small bowl of additional whipped cream in center of the ring. Garnish with fresh strawberries in season. Makes 12 servings.

This is a luscious salad. We especially enjoy it with fresh strawberries in June.

I like real cows as well as the —not real ones—!! We have a Holstein dairy farm in Bradford County and our family includes a daughter who is graduating from college this month and a son graduating from H.S. in June.

CHERRY PIE SUPREME

1 9-inch unbaked pie shell
1 21-ounce can cherry pie filling
4 3-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup dairy sour cream

Prepare pie shell. Spread half of cherry pie filling in bottom; set remainder aside.

Bake shell at 425 degrees for 15 minutes. Remove from oven. Reduce oven temperature to 300 degrees.

Meanwhile, in a small bowl, with portable mixer, beat cheese with sugar, eggs, and vanilla until smooth. Pour over hot cherry pie filling. Bake 25 minutes. Cool completely on wire racks. To serve: spoon sour cream around edge of pie. Fill center with remaining cherry pie filling. Serves 8.

This is my family's favorite dessert. My husband and I, and our 19-year-old son recently moved off a hog farm after having farmed 25 years. We now enjoy the wooded setting of our new house.

CHOCOLATE NUT SUNDAE

First layer, crust:

1½ cups flour
½ cup butter
⅔ cup chopped nuts

Mix well. Press in bottom of 9x13-inch pan. Bake at 300 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool.

Second layer:

1 8-ounce package cream cheese
1 cup confectioners' sugar
6-ounces whipped topping

Spread on baked and cooled crust.

Third layer:

2 boxes chocolate pudding
3 cups milk
6-ounces whipped topping

Make pudding according to package directions, using only the 3 cups milk. Spread on top of cream cheese mixture and top with the remaining whipped topping. Refrigerate.

CHOCOLATE ANGEL STRATA PIE

1 9-inch baked pie shell

Beat together until soft mounds form:

2 egg whites
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Add gradually, beating until meringue stands in stiff glossy peaks:

½ cup sugar

Spread on bottom and sides of baked pie shell. Bake at 325 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes. Cool.

In double boiler, melt:

1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate chips.

When melted, add:

2 slightly beaten egg yolks
¼ cup water

Stir well. Spread:

3 tablespoons chocolate mixture over cooled meringue.

Combine and beat until thick:

¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup whipping cream

Spread half of the cream mixture over the chocolate in pie shell. Combine remaining whipped cream and chocolate mixture. Spread over whipped cream in pie crust. Chill at least 4 hours.

FROSTED DROP SUGAR COOKIES

1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup shortening
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon soda, dissolved in buttermilk
1 teaspoon baking powder
4 cups flour

Beat together ingredients. Drop by spoonfuls on cookie sheets. Bake at 325 degrees until cookie is lightly done. Cool and frost.

Pink frosting:

3 cups confectioners' sugar
⅓ cup butter
1½ teaspoons vanilla
2 tablespoons milk
Red food coloring

Beat ingredients until light and fluffy. Frost cookies. Add several drops of red vegetable coloring to make a pink frosting. Add more milk if needed to make icing of spreading consistency.

These cookies are the favorite of most of my grandchildren. We have five children and 13 grandchildren. Our children were the fourth generation reared on the family farm.

Allen, our oldest son, with his wife Carolyn lives in E-town. They have one son and two daughters. Allen is a guidance counselor at Middletown High School.

Anne and her husband Ray Rife live in Abington. They have two sons. Anne is a registered nurse doing home visiting nursing care.

Joyce and her husband Glen Raser live in Deodate. Joyce is a secondary education English teacher now on leave for several years to care for their two sons and one daughter.

Lane is our farm manager here on the farmily farm. He and his wife Judy have two sons and one daughter growing up as fifth generation Sollenbergers on the home farm in Fayetteville.

Lynn and his wife Andrea live in Gainesville, Florida, with their two sons. Lynn teaches and is in agronomy research at the University of Florida.

FLOUR ICING

1 cup milk
1 tablespoon flour

Heat in a saucepan and mix with spoon until smooth and thick. Let cool. It will look like paste.

Combine the following:

1 cup sugar
½ cup shortening
½ cup butter
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix until well blended. Add flour and milk mixture and beat until high speed until it looks like whipped cream.

We have two children, Joel and Joann. We milk 60 cattle on our farm. The children enjoy their pet goat, lamb, kittens, one dog, and a puppy. Joel ask me to icing the cakes I bake with this icing. They both enjoy trying to help Mom make it.

Three To Compete For Lebanon Title

Three young ladies will be competing for the title of 1990 Lebanon Co. Dairy Princess. They are Dianne Dice, Terry Hill and Stephanie Wagner.

Dianne enjoys working full time on her family's farm, Blue Mountain Jerseys, Inc., where she owns 10 head of Jerseys. Miss Dice is the 20-year-old daughter of Harold and Audrey Dice, RD 1 Fredericksburg, where they farm 60 acres and milk 105 Jerseys. Dianne is a 1988 graduate of Northern Lebanon High School where she was actively involved in FFA, serving as chapter president, county sentinel and state FFA treasurer. She's a member of the PA Jersey Cattle Club and former member of the Norlebco 4-H Dairy Club. When Dianne isn't working with cows, she enoys reading, working outdoors, meeting new people and showing cows.

Terry, 17, daughter of James and Bernice Hill, RD 6 Lebanon is a 1990 graduate of Northern Lebanon High School. She was a member of the National Honor Society, Who's Who Among American High School Students, served as county FFA vice president and member of FFA chapter's dairy judging team. Miss Hill is active in the Norlebco 4-H Dairy Club and president of the county Jr. Holstein Club. She is a member of the dairy bowl team that won the State title and will be competing for National honors the end of June. Terry helps full time on Little Hill Farm which consists of 120 acres and 100 Holstein and Brown Swiss. In her spare time, she enjoys volleyball, bowling and genetics.

Stephanie owns 15 Holsteins of Ju-Vindale Holsteins where she helps to milk 50 cows and the family farms 94 acres. She is the 15-year-old daughter of Vincent and Juliet Wagner, 641 S. Ramona Rd., Myerstown. Miss Wagner will be a junior at Elco High School where she has been involved with class council, SADD, cross country running and track. A dairy enthusiast, she's active in dairy judging, dairy bowl and served as secretary and news reporter for the county Jr. Holstein Club. Steph enjoys showing Holsteins as a member of the ELCO 4-H Dairy Club where she served as vice president. Other interests include 4-H Tractor club, cooking, baking and reading.

The public is invited to attend the pageant, Saturday, June 16, 7:30 p.m. at the Lebanon Co. Vo-Tech School. Kynel Bomgardner, 1989 Dairy Princess will give her farewell remarks before crowning the new winner. After the coronation, an ice cream social will follow with make-your-own sundaes. Alicia Mase, 1989 Lil' Miss Dairy Princess will also be on hand to crown a new 1990 Lil' Miss Dairy Princess. Five little girls (ages 4-6) will be vying for the title. They are Alisha Arnold, daughter of Ed and Pat Arnold; Tracy Berger, daughter of Clifford and Fay Berger; Stacy Geesaman, daughter of Samuel and Starr Geesaman; Katie Lentz, daughter of Gary and Barbara Lentz and Crystal Moyer, daughter of Ray and Astrid Moyer. The Little Miss will be making some appearances with the Dairy Princess during the year.

I'm Looking For The Perfect Farm Wife

I own a very specialized phone response service. It is for sale. All clients use our 800 number so the entire operation can easily be moved to your farm if:

1. You have had some college or good business experience such as an office manager, executive secretary, etc., you must have a good clear voice English as second language ok..if you understand slang and idioms.
2. You must be able to run at least 6 Telco lines to your farm. (Chk with Telco to see if possible)
3. You must be good at keeping records We store (limited amounts) of merchandise. We ship Via UPS/Postal Service and we bill via MC/Visa and AMX. We are not an answering service but a unique sales response service for 80 different companies.
4. Because of the above you and your family must have an excellent credit rating and financial stability as well as being able to furnish us references of your personal honesty and work ethics.
5. The company is growing rapidly because it does not have any competitors that can match it for service or competitive pricing, or the ability to answer the phone, ship the orders and give our customers payments for their credit card orders. This company is truly unique.
6. It will require two operators plus manager, to cover the hours of 8 AM to 11 PM. It operates seven days a week
7. Net income, not including any salary you pay yourself will be in the 20 to 30 K range at the present client level Sales price will be 75 pct of one years gross income or three times net Some clients have been with me for over 15 years so the paramount issue is getting a good person to take over and to continue this business. We will help finance the sale.
8. To learn more about this business, write Mr Greene in care of PO Box 39009, Friendship Station, Washington, DC 20016 Every reply will be answered. If you are curious why I asked for the perfect farm wife.. the answer is I married one 30 years ago and I know how good they really are!

JIMMY CARTER DESSERT

Crust:
1 cup flour
1 stick margarine
⅓ cup peanuts, crushed
Blend together and press into bottom of 9x13-inch pan. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool.
First layer:
8 ounces cream cheese
⅓ cup peanut butter
Cream together, then add:
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 cup whipped topping
Cream all together and put on top of crust.
Second layer:
1 package instant vanilla pudding
1 package instant chocolate pudding, small package
Mix together and add:
2¼ cup milk
Mix until thickened. Put on top of cream cheese layer. Top with whipped topping. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

My husband Darrel and I along with our three children, Denae, Danette (twins 3½ years old) and Derek, 15 months, live on the family farm. Along with dairy cows, we raise all our heifers and bull calves. While the children sleep, I am able to milk with Darrel in the mornings while a neighbor boy helps in the evenings and Saturdays. Over summer months, he works here as well. That relieves me to care for the children and garden work as well. Our times of vacation cannot be taken over milkings as we are by ourselves. Instead, we enjoy playing ball together, a trip to feed the ducks or sitting in the kids pool on a hot summer afternoon. Farm life offers so much by just being together that no other life can.

FRUIT PIZZA PIE

Crust:
½ cup sugar
½ cup 10X sugar
½ cup butter
½ cup vegetable oil
1 egg
2 cups plus 2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon vanilla
Mix ingredients. Grease two 9" pie plates. Divide dough into plates and flatten with hands dusting with flour if necessary. Build up a slight rim around edge. Bake at 350° for 10 to 12 minutes.
Cream Cheese Filling:
8 oz. package cream cheese
⅓ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup whipping cream.
Cream together and put into cooled crusts. Then spread fresh fruits on the pies in a decorative pattern. Three strawberry halves in center. A circle of blueberries around the strawberries. Then freshly sliced peaches around the strawberries and blueberries in pinwheel fashion. Next whole green grapes in a circle around the peaches like a string of beads. Last around the edge of plate sliced bananas overlapping each other. Pour cooled citrus glaze on top.
Glaze:
½ cup water
½ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons clear jell
Combine in saucepan. Boil one minute, then cool. Spread over fruit layer. Refrigerate until serving time.

This pie is a favorite of our family. My husband and I have five children and live on a dairy farm. I enjoy gardening and my husband does custom woodworking when he's not busy with farm work.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING

8 ounces cream cheese
2 cups confectioners' sugar
Dash salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons melted butter, optional
Beat together. Makes enough frosting for two 9x13-inch cakes.
Contributor writes: "This moist icing is a favorite in our family for cake frosting. Sometimes we vary it by adding chocolate syrup for chocolate frosting. When we buy a case of cream cheese, we freeze it and then blend it smooth in a blender.

they felt was about 2 pounds.

Each team was given a basket of dairy products for being good sports and participating in this event.

As the ballgame began, about fifty volunteers from farms in Washington and Frederick counties, moved behind the grandstands to make a giant fifty-foot ice cream sundae to give to the patrons who came to watch the game. They used a new rain spouting lined with plastic wrap and filled it with twenty-five half gallons of ice cream cut into chunks, 24 pounds of chopped bananas, 8 quarts of fresh sliced strawberries, 2 gallons of chocolate syrup, 12 cans of whipped cream and three pounds of chopped nuts to complete this giant masterpiece.

The crowd lined up to get a taste long before it was ready to serve. The entire sundae was consumed in about ten minutes, a lot less time than it took to construct it.

Each person who attended the game also received a white tote bag advertising milk from MAMMA and a carton of chocolate milk provided by Daisy Maid Dairies of Frederick, Maryland.

OUR FAVORITE CREAM PIE

5 cups scalded milk
7½ tablespoons flour
2½ tablespoons corn starch
1¼ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
5 egg yolks
2 teaspoons vanilla

Combine dry ingredients. Add 2 small portions of the scalded milk to dry ingredients and mix thoroughly. Return to scalded milk in the double boiler and cook about 10 minutes. Stir often.

Stir a small portion of hot mixture into the egg yolks. Return to the double boiler and cook several minutes. To make my husband's favorite pie, I add about 2 cups coconut to this pie. Cool slightly. Add vanilla. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Top with meringue and brown in the oven.

If I had a dollar for every coconut cream pie that I've made during our 40 years of marriage, I'd have a small fortune! This recipe is the one I got when I was in high school while in home economics at Sugar Valley High School, Logan-ton, Pa.

My husband Joe and I have farmed on our own farm since 1953. In the fall of 1981, we moved to a new house that we built on the north edge of the farm. Our youngest son Tim with his wife and daughter, Mandy, moved into the farm house. In 1982, Jason joined the family.

Joe continues to be active in the activities of the farm. He and Tim rent two additional farms and raise crops and sell them. When Joe and I lived on the farm, we had a dairy herd always, and for some years also had chickens, but Tim's prefer not to be tied down with a dairy farm so things have changed through the years.

Our oldest son, his wife, and son Dannny, live outside of Indiana, Pa., Dana works as a psychiatric counselor.

Our daughter Laurie with her daughter Justine likes the West and lives in Hasty, Col. With so much diversity in this small family, I don't know what kind of picture I could send you! Happy eating!

STRAWBERRY TOP CHEESECAKE

2 prepared graham pie crusts
1 cup yellow cake mix
2 8-ounce packages cream cheese
½ cup sugar
3 eggs
1½ cups milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla
3 teaspoons lemon juice

Combine all ingredients except pie crusts. Pour into pie crusts. Bake in 300 degree oven for about 60 minutes.

Strawberry topping:
4 tablespoons clear jell
¾ cup sugar
1 cup cold water
3-ounce box strawberry Jell-O
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 quart strawberrys, sliced

Mix clear jell, sugar, and water. Stir until smooth. Cook over medium heat until thickened and clear. Remove from heat. Stir in Jell-O and lemon juice. Fold in strawberries. Other fruit such as blueberries or cherries can be substituted for fruit. Top with whipped cream or ice cream, if desired.

My husband is a dairy farmer in partnership with our son. They ahve about 50 milking cows plus calves and heifers. We enjoy reading Lancaster Farming.

LEMON CHEESE PUDDING

1 small package lemon Jell-O
1 cup hot water
1 package graham crackers
¼ cup butter
1 tablespoon sugar
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
1 cup sugar
1 pint whipping cream with 1 teaspoon vanilla OR whipped topping.

Dissolve Jell-O in 1 cup hot water and cool, but do not allow to jell. Crush graham crackers and mix with melted butter and 1 tablespoon sugar. Press cracker crumbs in dish. Reserve some for the top. Cream the cream cheese and 1 cup sugar. Add cooled lemon Jell-O. Fold in whipped cream. Pour over crumbs in dish. Top with remaining crumbs and chill.

SOUR CREAM RAISIN BARS

2 cups raisins
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup butter
1¾ cups quick cooking oats
1 teaspoon baking soda
1¾ cups flour
3 egg yolks
1½ cups sour cream
1 cup sugar
2½ tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook raisins in water to cover for 10 minutes. Drain and let cool while mixing remainder of bars. Cream together brown sugar and butter. Add oats, baking soda and flour. Mix well. Put one-half of mixture into greased 9x13-inch pan. Press down and bake for seven minutes at 350°. In a heavy saucepan, combine egg yolks, sour cream, sugar and cornstarch. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Add raisins and vanilla. Pour over crust and top with remaining crumbs. Bake 30 minutes at 350°. Cool and cut into bars. Refrigerate to store.

MARGARINE KIPFEL

2 cups flour
½ pound margarine
½ pint sour cream
1 egg yolk

Mix dough. Divide in 2 balls after chilling. Roll on floured surface until the size of a large pie. Cut into wedges.

Filling:
2 egg whites
1 cup confectioners' sugar
1 cup finely chopped nuts

Place small amount of filling on wide end of wedge. Roll up. Bend corners in. Place on ungreased baking sheet in 350 degree oven. Bake. This is a light, flaky cookie that is easy to make. You can also fill them with your favorite jam. I got this recipe from my mother-in-law.

We operate a dairy farm in the Cooperstown, N.Y. area. We have three daughters, Stephanie, 11; Kristina, 8; and Liesl, 2. My husband Horst and his brother are also operation a driving range and plan to open a golf course next year. I teach pre-first grade in Richfield Springs.

MOM'S CHEESECAKE

Graham cracker crumbs
1 pound small curd cottage cheese
2 packages (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1½ cups sugar
4 eggs
⅓ cup cornstarch
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup margarine, melted
1 pint dairy sour cream

Grease 9x3-inch springform pan; dust with graham cracker crumbs. Place cottage cheese into large mixing bowl. Add cream cheese. With mixer at high speed, beat until smooth and creamy. Beat in sugar, then eggs. With mixer at low speed, beat in next 3 ingredients. Beat in margarine and sour cream until smooth. Pour into pan. Bake in 325 degree oven about 70 minutes or until firm around edge. Turn off oven. Let cake stand in oven 2 hours. Remove and chill. Remove side of pan. If desired, cover with cherry pie filling. Serves 12.

For a wonderful dairy dessert, you can't beat cheesecake. My mother made this one since I was a yound child. Now I make it for my family and friends and it's always a winner.

HOT CHEESE DIP

1 8-ounce cream cheese
¼ pound dried beef
2 tablespoons green pepper
½ cup sour cream
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons onion
2 tablespoons milk
½ cup chopped English walnuts

Soften cheese. Add milk and remaining ingredients except walnuts. Sprinkle walnuts on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Serve with crackers.

My husband, Bob, and I have two boys, ages 5½ and 2½ , and a daughter, 2 months old.

We farrow 150 sows and finish approximately 900 per year. We farm 100 acres of wheat, corn, and soybeans.

The main thing my husband enjoys and takes pride in is all the custom work that he does. He does custom corn planting, haybining, baling, and combining.

Our two boys, Bobby and Michael, love the farm and helping with the pigs. They try to ride in the combine every chance they get. I enjoy crafts, cross stitch, cooking and growing and arranging flowers.

TACO SALAD

8 ounces cream cheese
8 ounces mild taco sauce
2 cups shredded lettuce
1 green pepper, diced
½ large Vidalia or Spanish onion, chopped
4 ounces Cheddar cheese, grated
1 tomato, chopped
¼ cup sliced ripe olives
¼ cup sliced fresh mushrooms

Bring cream cheese to room temperature and spread thinly on a foil-covered cookie sheet or pretty tray. Cover with taco sauce and sprinkle remaining ingredients on in order. Serve with corn chips. Chill well before serving.

Note: use your imagination to add other ingredients that your family enjoys. This salad can be used as a nutritious snack by dipping chips or as an accompaniment to an entree for a buffet-style meal.

This is a favorite recipe that is popular on our dairy farm in Indiana County. Our two sons, Ron and John, manage our 40-cow herd of Holsteins and raise corn and hay.

I enjoy trying new recipes and look forward each week to "Home On The Range!"

PEAR-LIME SALAD

1 16-ounce can pear halves
1 3-ounce package lime-flavored gelatin
1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 8-ounce carton lemon yogurt

Drain pears, reserving syrup. Bring juice to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Let cool slightly.

Coarsely chop pear halves. Combine cream cheese and yogurt; beat at medium speed of electric mixer until smooth. Add gelatin mixture gradually and beat well. Stir in pears. Pour into oiled 4-cup mold. Chill. Yields: 8 servings.

This is my husband's favorite salad. It's very tasty and refreshing. My husband and I have two daughters, Jenna, 3; and Tara, 1½ . We live on an University of Delaware dairy farm.

CHICKEN-ETTIE

1 8-ounce package spaghetti, cooked and drained
3 to 4 cups chicken, cooked and diced
¼ cup green peppers, diced
1 cup chicken broth
¼ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¾ pound Velveeta cheese
2 cans cream of mushroom or chicken soup

Put into a greased casserole. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

HAMBURGER CASSEROLE

1 pound hamburger
1 small onion
1 8-ounce package egg noodles
1 can cream of celery soup
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 cup milk
8 ounces shredded Cheddar cheese
1 cup frozen peas

Brown hamburger and onion. Cook noodles according to package directions. Mix together in 3-quart casserole: soups, milk, and cheese. Add hamburger mixture and noodles. Cook frozen peas in microwave for 1 minute and add to casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. This is an excellent make-ahead casserole. It freezes well.

Our family has been receiving Lancaster Farming for about 5 years. Although we don't live on a farm, we are very interested in your newspaper and farming in general. Your paper is read from cover to cover by our son, Brian Weldy, and I have cut out and saved every recipe printed. Hopefully, I'll get to try most of them.

Brian started subscribing to Lancaster Farming when he started the Ag Program in the eighth grade. He had always been interested in farming. Upon entering ninth grade, he continued in the Ag program and became a member of the Garden Spot Chapter at Lampeter Strasburg High School. On June 5, he graduated and will pursue a career in agriculture. He is working on a dairy farm for a farmer who does custom harvesting. In March, he purchased his first Holstein heifer and will slowly be building a dairy herd of his own.

We also raise Mini-Lop rabbits. This started out as an FFA project and now has been transferred to Mom because the field work and milking takes up most of the day.

As I said before, all of us enjoy Lancaster Farming. Even my husband who puts up with our animals, enjoys the articles, especially "On Being A Farm Wife."

½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2½ cups milk
Nutmeg, if desired

Mix eggs, add sugar, salt and milk. Add vanilla and nutmeg, if desired. Pour into unbaked pie shell and bake at 425 degrees until crust begins to brown. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until custard is firm, about 45 minutes.

Egg custard can be baked in custard cups, which are placed in a pan containing a small amount of water.

My husband and I live on our family farm, which was purchased by Paul's parents in 1916. Our son and four nephews are engaged in dairy farming, making the third and fourth generations. We are retired but continue to have a garden; we have laying hens and raise broilers. Country life is enjoyable and we have seen many changes take place throughout the years. I like preparing dinner for some of our men and look forward to recipes that are shared in the Lancaster Farming.

YUM YUM DESSERT

60 Ritz crackers, rolled
¼ pound butter, melted
2 quarts vanilla ice cream
1½ cups milk
2 packages instant coconut pudding

Mix crackers and melted butter. Reserve ½ cup. Put remainder in 9x13-inch pan. Bake 375 degrees for 5 minutes. Beat milk and ice cream until thick and according to pudding mix. Pour over crumbs. Sprinkle remaining ½ cup crumbs on top. Refrigerate.

I am a ninth grade student at Greencastle-Antrim High School. I play the clarinet in the band, this is my fifth year playing. I am also on the Bible Quiz Team that our church has. I go to the Ebenezer United Brethren in Christ Church. I attended 3 years of 4-H Tractor Safety Club and got my tractor trophy. I am just starting to get interested in sewing. I made myself a dress in school. I also made a dress at home for my older sister and a pair of shorts for myself. I am going to make a pair of shorts for my one younger sister and a dress for my other younger sister.

I would really love to win one of your cow prizes because I collect cows of all kinds.

We live on a dairy farm and I help at the barn and in the fields.

I also play hockey at school although our team wasn't very good this year, but I still love to play the game. I am 15 years old.

EGG CUSTARD PIE

4 eggs, well beaten
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2½ cups hot milk
1 9-inch pie shell, unbaked
Cinnamon/nutmeg

Add sugar, salt, vanilla and milk to the beaten eggs. Mix until frothy. Pour into unbaked pie shell and sprinkle with cinnamon and or nutmeg. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

My name is Julie, Mrs. Paul M. Peachey. We live in Big Valley and I bake pies for the Flea Market, which is held every Wednesday in Belleville.

Tuesday is my bake day. I gather my ingredients and bake from 15 to 50 pies each of large and small sizes. Other items include lemon bars and zucchini bread.

I enjoy baking and also milking cows when I have the chance. Although my husband comes from a dairying family, he is a truck driver with hopes of being a farmer some day.

DOUBLE FUDGE FANCIFULS

Filling:
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
½ teaspoon vanilla

Base:
1 package devil's food cake mix
3 eggs
⅓ cup oil
1 cup water

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour 13x9-inch pan. In small bowl, blend all filling ingredients; beat at highest speed until smooth and creamy. Set aside.

In large bowl, blend cake mix, eggs, oil, and water until moistened. Beat 2 minutes at highest speed. Pour half of batter into pan. Pour cream cheese mixture over batter, spreading to cover. Pour remaining batter over cream cheese mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 55 minutes or until toothpick inserted in middle comes out clean. Cool completely. Frost with fudge frosting. Store in refrigerator.

This cake is my husband's favorite.

TOMATO-CHEESE BAKE

4 medium tomatoes, peeled
1 teaspoon sugar
Dash pepper
2 cups shredded cheese
½ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely chopped onion
27 Saltine crackers, crumbled
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Slice tomatoes into quarters. Sprinkle with sugar and pepper. In a mixing bowl, toss together cheese, celery, and onion. In a 1½ -quart casserole, arrange half of tomato slices. Sprinkle with half cheese mixture. Repeat. Toss cracker crumbs with butter. Sprinkle on top. Bake 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes.

I am 18 years old and am attending Eastern Mennonite College in Harrisonburg, Va. I am majoring in International Agriculture and I really like it. I went to the 4-H Tractor Club and earned my tractor trophy. In the summer of 1988, I was honored to attend the Pennsylvania Governor's School for Agriculture. That was really a neat experience. I grew up on a dairy farm. I play flute and was active in the band both in middle school and high school.

FRENCH CHICKEN BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

1 pound fresh broccoli, sliced in spears and steamed 2 minutes or 3 packages (10 oz. each) frozen broccoli spears, thawed
3-4 cups cooked chicken, skinned, boned, torn in large pieces

Sauce:

⅓ cup butter, melted
¼ cup cornstarch, dissolved in ½ cup water
⅓ cup chicken broth or white wine
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1 jar (2 oz.) diced pimientos
1 package (8 oz.) Old English cheese, cubed or 8 ounces grated sharp cheddar cheese

In greased 13"x9"x2" baking dish, layer the broccoli spears and chicken pieces alternately. Set aside. In a saucepan over medium heat, combine melted butter, dissolved cornstarch, broth, seasonings, milk and pimientos. Cook until thickened. Add cheese; stir until melted. Pour warm sauce over top of chicken and broccoli layers. Bake at 350° for about 35 minutes or until bubbly. Yield: six servings.

COMPANY CASSEROLE

4 tablespoons butter
1 pound lean ground beef
½ to 1 teaspoon garlic powder (depending on taste)
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground pepper
1 (15 oz.) can tomato sauce
1 (8 oz.) sour cream
1 (8 oz.) cottage cheese
1 (8 oz.) cream cheese
3 medium size green onions
8 oz. egg noodles

Melt two tablespoons of the butter and brown the ground beef. Add the garlic powder, salt and pepper and mix well. Add the tomato sauce. Simmer for one-half hour, stirring occasionally. Mix the sour cream, cottage cheese and cream cheese in a bowl, blending them well together with a fork. Add the green onions, finely chopped, and mix again. Cook the noodles in salted water, al dente (firm), drain and mix with the two remaining tablespoons of butter. In a casserole, start with a bit of meat sauce. Add a layer of noodles, then a layer of sour cream and cheese mixture. Repeat the same procedure, ending up with a layer of meat on top. Bake, uncovered, in a 350° oven for approximately 45 minutes. Serves four to six.

We own a dairy farm in Central Pennsylvania and milk Jersey cows. When my sister, Sherry, comes to visit us, we always have fun together as you can see by the enclosed photo. Greenwood FFA Holds Awards Banquet

Mary Leager-Hagemeister
Dauphin Co. Correspondent

MILLERSTOWN (Perry Co.)— Greenwood FFA held their annual awards banquet on May 7, with Amy Byers, Melanie Brookhart, and Brian Clouser serving as mistresses and master of ceremonies. In addition to the numerous degrees and awards presented, the keynote speaker, John Hess, Eastern Region state vice president and member of the Manheim FFA chapter gave an arousing speech. John began by praising one of the oldest professions -- a career in agriculture! He also stressed the importance of not only leaders but followers. "Without followers, leaders don't do much good!" It's the followers who help make FFA work and by following one learns to lead!"

John also complimented the Greenwood FFA Chapter on being so active. In addition, he emphasized three points to remember. Awards are given to students who have worked to achieve an award. Honor needs to be given to all those who help sponsor the FFA Chapter and Appreciation to family and friends who help make it all happen! John emphasized the importance of saying "thanks" and to continue to sing the praises of agriculture.

Thirty-five degrees were awarded.

Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

This 24' Ruffneck from M. H. Eby is an investment in quality

Your cows deserve the best

A new aluminum trailer, like this one from E.M. Eby, Inc., looks bright and clean when it comes from the factory. The surprising thing is it stays bright and clean for years — with very little maintenance.

Aluminum offers another big advantage over conventional wood and steel trailer construction. It's lighter — as much as 35% lighter.

Please call or write for more information and the name of the dealer nearest you.

CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

You'll get more out of an Eby aluminum grain body. Lightweight and rugged aluminum provides rigid, fuel-efficient support to fill your grain hauling needs.

Eby packs years of experience, workmanship and performance into every aluminum body it manufactures. And special Eby options let you customize your body to your individual operation. Available in standard lengths, each unit is designed to provide you with an investment in durable performance and practical economy.

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction.
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot - never needs painting.
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work.

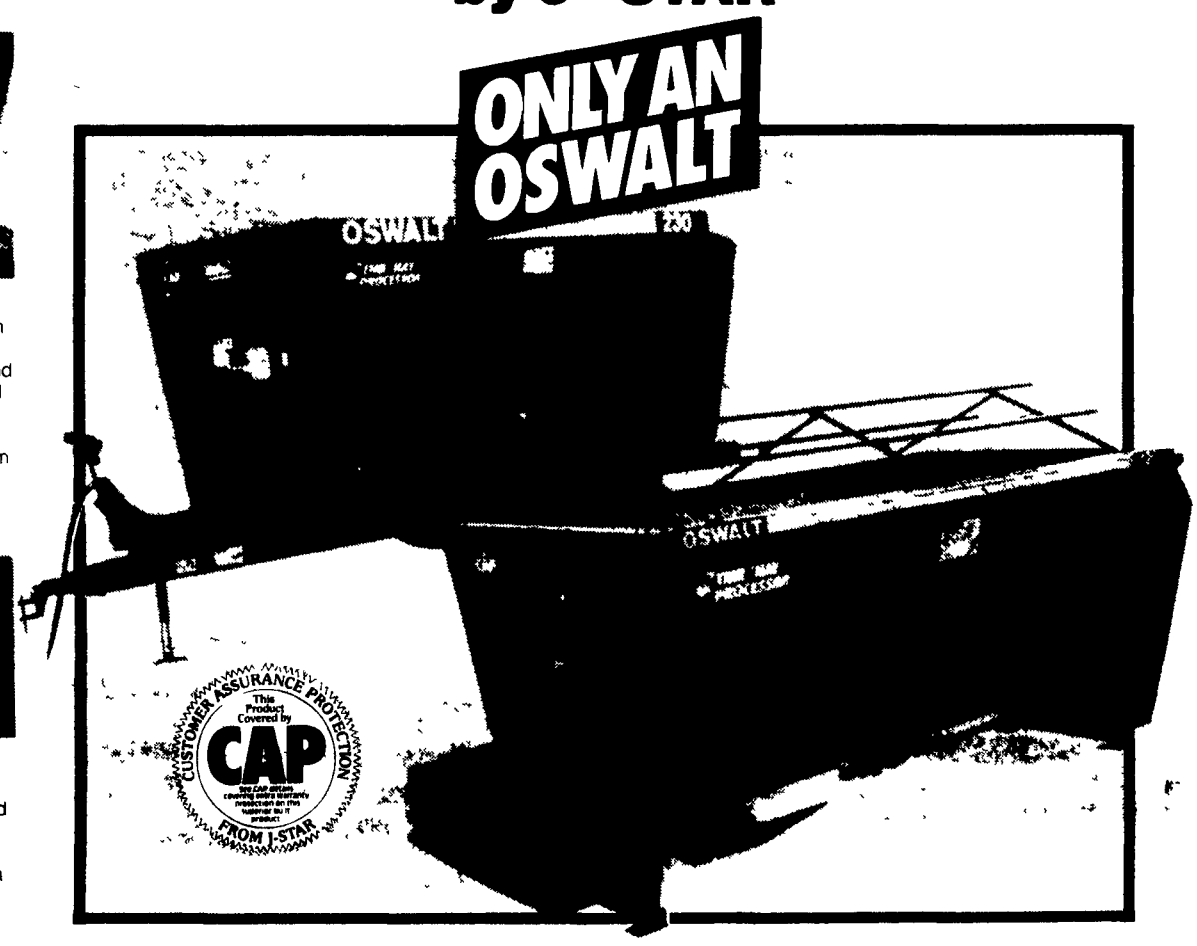
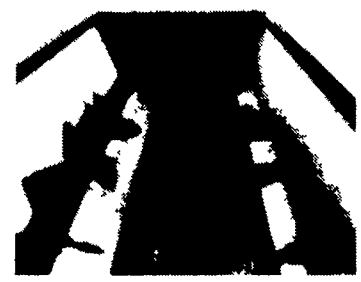
Model 180 & 230 TMR HAY PROCESSORS

Rear drive.
This heavy-duty enclosed drive system features rugged high speed chain and sprockets trouble free ball bearings and massive alloy shafts Shafts are welded and permanently aligned in the auger tubing to eliminate shimming of flanges and to maintain alignment Entire system runs continuously in an enclosed oil bath for added protection and longer life

Tuff-Glide bearings.
Sleeve type front auger bearings made from ½" Tuff-Glide require no grease and are not affected by moisture or acid Greatly extend bearing life and reduces friction for smoother performance over a longer period of time





Patented square auger design.
Proven square sectional top augers provide outstanding agitator mixing action Each unique square corner grabs the ration to produce a thorough blending of ingredients Heavy-duty sectional notched bottom auger and exclusive Oswalt shear-shelf construction help eliminate wedging by pulling roughage materials apart

External shear pin.
Easy to replace Designed to release at torque level of 100% above normal mixing requirements Easily accessible

These Oswalt Mixers do a better job of mixing and carry the industry's only five-year mixer warranty!

Mix and process your rations and hay... the Oswalt way

Better design and more know-how have made Oswalt the leader in mixing.
Oswalt TMR/Hay Processors are clearly superior in their ability to mix all types of ration ingredients, including dry hay. A reel-type mixer, particularly when fully loaded, retains a quantity of the dry hay in the center of the reel which then simply turns over with the reel and receives little mixing. Your hay just gets a free ride and your final mix is uneven at best. In an Oswalt TMR/Hay Processor, the hay is processed and evenly and aggressively mixed throughout the ration. It has no place to hide.

A key element of mixing dry hay into a ration is processing the hay while all ration ingredients are being mixed That means tearing the hay apart and reducing fiber length during the mixing process

In an Oswalt, the notched bottom auger working against the shear shelf, does the primary job of tearing the hay slabs apart and reducing the length of long hay stems

The aggressive square top-augers (a patented Oswalt exclusive) grab the hay slabs and finish the processing job

Only an Oswalt!

In 1962, Daniel S. Smucker founded and opened his small harness shop on his farm approximately 1½ miles from the present location. In 1972 the shop relocated to Route 23 in Churchtown. The company's specialty is custom-made harness for show or daily usage.

Harness Shop Grows

CHURCHTOWN (Lancaster Co.)— In 1962, Daniel S. Smucker founded and opened his small harness shop on his farm approximately 1½ miles from the present location.

While traveling in Ohio in 1970, he was tragically killed, the victim of a horse/truck accident. At that time, Mose B. Smucker, who was the eldest of 10 children, assumed responsibility for the shop and continued the business started by his father.

In 1972 the shop relocated to Route 23 in Churchtown. For the past 18 years, the business has grown from its humble beginnings with a staff of one to its current work force of more than 30.

The company's specialty is custom-made harness, for show or daily usage. The company also carries large inventories of harness and driving accessories, English and Western saddles, and numerous horse-related items.

Sales extend to 50 states and include many foreign countries such as Australia, Colombia, Germany, Sweden, United Kingdom, and Canada.

Plant Double-Cropped Soybeans

NEWARK, Del. — Bob Mulrooney, University of Delaware cooperative extension plant pathologist, said that Delmarva farmers should plant their double-cropped soybeans now.

"The date of planting will affect the length of time required for soybeans to reach maturity," he said. "As planting is delayed, soybeans are exposed to shorter day lengths and warmer temperatures during the vegetative stages of growth. Therefore, late-planted beans will flower in fewer days and reach maturity in fewer days than May-planted beans."

Mulrooney stressed that the planting date is far more critical for double-cropped beans than for single-cropped beans. Each day delayed in planting double-cropped beans may result in a 1/2-bushel yield loss. So a key to achieving high yields from double-cropped beans is to plant as early as possible.

Mulrooney said that planting behind barley gives an earlier planting date than planting behind wheat. He also notes that no-till planting into small grain stubble will allow soybeans to be planted earlier and conserve soil moisture as well. Finally, he says that both crops can be fertilized before the small grain is planted. This will reduce the preparation time prior to soybean planting.

"When choosing a cultivator for late planting, growers should keep in mind that late-planted beans require fewer days to mature than May-planted beans," Mulrooney said. "Growers should not automatically switch to a shorter-season bean." Short-season beans do not produce as much vegetative growth as full-season beans. And later planting dates greatly reduce the amount of vegetable growth.

The specialist said that the combination of a short-season bean and a late planting date will produce a very short plant with a small canopy and low yield potential. In general, full-season beans will outyield short-season beans, even when planting is delayed.

The later the planting, the more the varieties will benefit from narrow-row planting, he said. This will also greatly improve weed control by shading the row-middles as soon as possible.

"In our demonstration plots, we've grown some Group 2 maturity varieties," Mulrooney said. "They produce very little vegetative growth and set what few pods they make 2-3 inches from the ground. Under no circumstances do we recommend any maturity group earlier than Group 3."

Growers should aim for a final soybean population of 100,000 to 150,000 harvestable plants per acre. The higher end of the population range is appropriate for late-planted, double-cropped beans.

Gribaldi Superior Sickle Bar Mower

7' dynabalance type mower features latest in design technology. No more broken Pitman rods to worry about. A heavy-duty power head with articulating arms drives both section bar and guard bar providing a dual cutting action. It is possible to cut with the sickle in any inclined position. A safety release with automatic rehooking is provided to prevent damage. This mower is 3-point in design and comes standard with extra section bar.

COMPARE THESE FEATURES AND OPTIONS

Simple hydraulics allows one valve to operate the lift and stabilizer cylinders. Center plumbing means less hose length and easier coupling.

The model 700 dump wagon is designed for years of trouble free service. The hydraulic system with a cable assist is designed to unload large loads of up to 20 000 lbs. quickly and efficiently even if the load is not distributed evenly

In The Market For A Good Mower Conditioner? See Us For A Demonstration!

THE Gehl 2140/2170 mower conditioners will thoroughly condition your hay These pull-type mower conditioners are built for fast cutting, fast drying and worry-free performance. The wide, intermeshing rubber rolls with intermittent ribs give you 35% more working edges than continuous-ribbed rolls, for more thorough conditioning. That means shorter drying time with less leaf damage. See Binkley & Hurst, your Gehl dealer today on how the 2170 with a 9 ft. 3 in cutting width, will fit into your hay haymaking operation 3 Pt. You Won't Find A Better No-Till Drill Than GREAT PLAINS

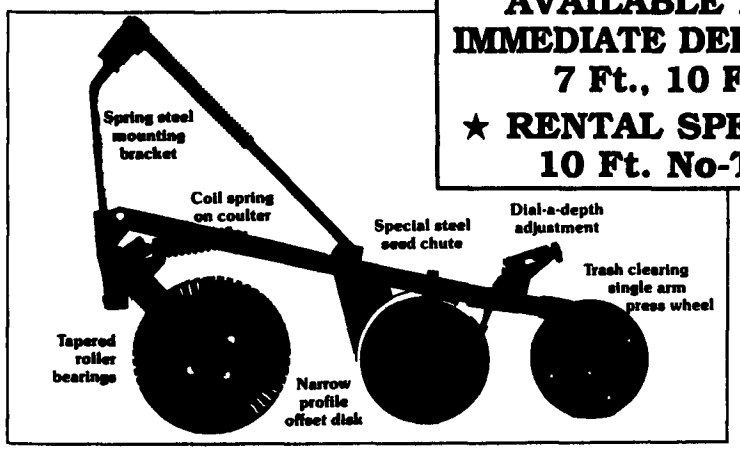
AVAILABLE FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY:
7 Ft., 10 Ft.
★ RENTAL SPECIAL - 10 Ft. No-Till



Great Plains Solid Stand no-till drills have the planting accuracy drilled soybeans need;
(1) Depth-Gauging Press Wheels keep the opener from penetrating too deep; planting depth can be quickly changed with exclusive dial-a-depth adjustment system.
(2) The spring-loaded coulters offer up to 400 lbs. per row of down-pressure, ensuring that they open a groove in even the toughest residue and soil. Each coulter is integrated with its opener and press wheel arm so that coulters and openers are close enough for good tracking but separated to allow good trash flow.
(3) A spring steel mounting bar allows the entire planting system to flex with the terrain, for even more flexibility for the coulter and opener assembly.
(4) The double-disk openers and coulters flex independently to pass over stones easily. A sturdy down-pressure spring with 56 lbs. of pressure per inch holds the opener firmly in the groove.

THE NO-TILL DRILL THAT WORKS

Here's why:
The end wheel-opener alignment means that the openers neither gouge the soil nor leave the ground when traversing rolling ground; they simply follow the terrain right with the end wheels. The end wheels also act as stabilizers to hold the openers steady when seeding on slopes. By keeping the ground-working components well protected within the profile of the end wheels, the operating costs are low on our Solid Stand No-Till Drill.

Their versatility, their residue clearance, and their compact design make these drills a natural choice. Their narrow widths make them perfect for narrow roads and gates.

Even with all these outstanding no-till capabilities, these drills are well-suited to conventional seeding as well. And of course they have the same great opener and press wheel system offered by all Great Plains Solid Stand drills.

GET THE EXTRA EDGE

Put a Vicon three-bladed disc mower conditioner through wet, heavy, tangled crops. Then compare the difference.

With almost double the number of cuts per minute over two-bladed disc competitiors, and six times the cuts per minute over sicklebar systems, it's easy to understand the clean, fast, NO PLUG performance of Vicon KM disc mower conditioners.

KM321 10' 6" CUT

Add the extra suction created by Vicon's unique triangular discs, the full swivel hitch that lets you cut square corners on the move, and gentle, full width conditioning, and you're looking at a high capacity machine that puts productivity in a whole new dimension. Four models cut from 7' to 10'6" widths.

Vicon's got the edge. The extra edge.
See for yourself. Visit your local Vicon dealer, today.

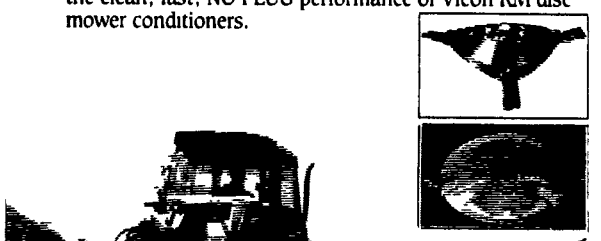
GET THE EXTRA EDGE

Put a Vicon three-bladed disc mower conditioner through wet, heavy, tangled crops. Then compare the difference.

With almost double the number of cuts per minute over two-bladed disc competitors, and six times the cuts per minute over sicklebar systems, it's easy to understand the clean, fast, NO PLUG performance of Vicon KM disc mower conditioners.



Add the extra suction created by Vicon's unique triangular discs, the full swivel hitch that lets you cut square corners on the move, and gentle, full width conditioning, and you're looking at a high capacity machine that puts productivity in a whole new dimension Four models cut from 7′ to 10′6″ widths.

Vicon's got the edge. The extra edge.

See for yourself. Visit us today.

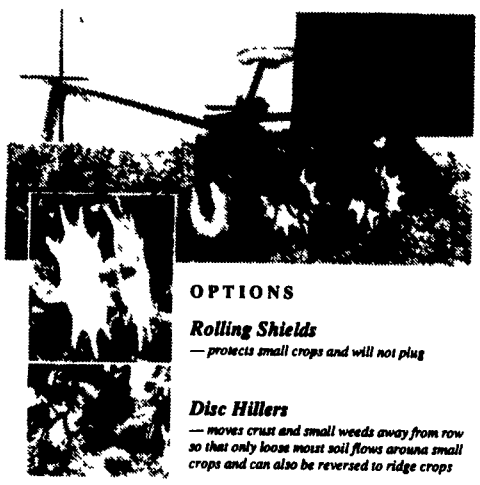
The I&J Cultivator



OPTIONS

Rolling Shields
— protects small crops and will not plug

Disc Hillers
— moves crust and small weeds away from row so that only loose moist soil flows aroung small crops and can also be reversed to ridge crops

Work-Saving Features of the I & J Cultivator:

- Durable "S" tine shanks
- Middle units have gauge wheels for independant floating over ridges and furrows
- Available in 1-2-3-4 row units easily steared with feet
- Easy ride spring seat
- Lifting is easy with heavy-duty spring-lift action

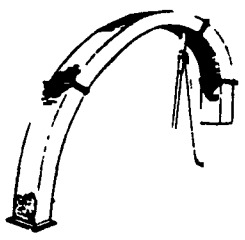
From Stahl Mfg., Inc.

AND

Lancaster Level-Flow Goosenecks To End Your Plugging Problems.



You can blow in as much as three tons of haylage a minute - over 100 feet up - with a new 12" center-fill Gooseneck from Lancaster Level-Flo.
High profile and 33% larger diameter reduce friction to make plugging a thing of the past. And the Lancaster Level-Flo 12" gooseneck is fully enclosed to make sure your silage and haylage go into your silo - not on the roof.

WARNING,
ALL SILO OWNERS
Check Your Silo Now For Rotten Staves. If You Have Been Using Your Silo For 10 To 15 Years For Either Corn Silage Or Haylage, It Is Time To SHOTCRETE.

Check Your Silo For Deteriorated Concrete!
If you have a 15 year old silo.. get it fixed or insure it better! But don't wait until the last minute to have it repaired because we may not be able to fix it if you wait too long.
REMEMBER your silo will not fall over when it's empty - it will fall over when it's full. It cannot stand on deteriorated concrete...

Lancaster BELT FEEDER AND "NEW" Lancaster CONVEYOR. Modern dairy and beef feedlots can be automated with the use of bunk feeders using "belt feeder" units Corn silage, haylage, high moisture corn and other feed material can be distributed quietly, evenly and with no separation A traveling plow unit places the feed directly to the center of the bunk trough Simple operation and very low horsepower requirements make this Lancaster belt feeder popular with dairy and beef operators Rubber belt and wooden trough design—keeps silage from contacting or corroding metal

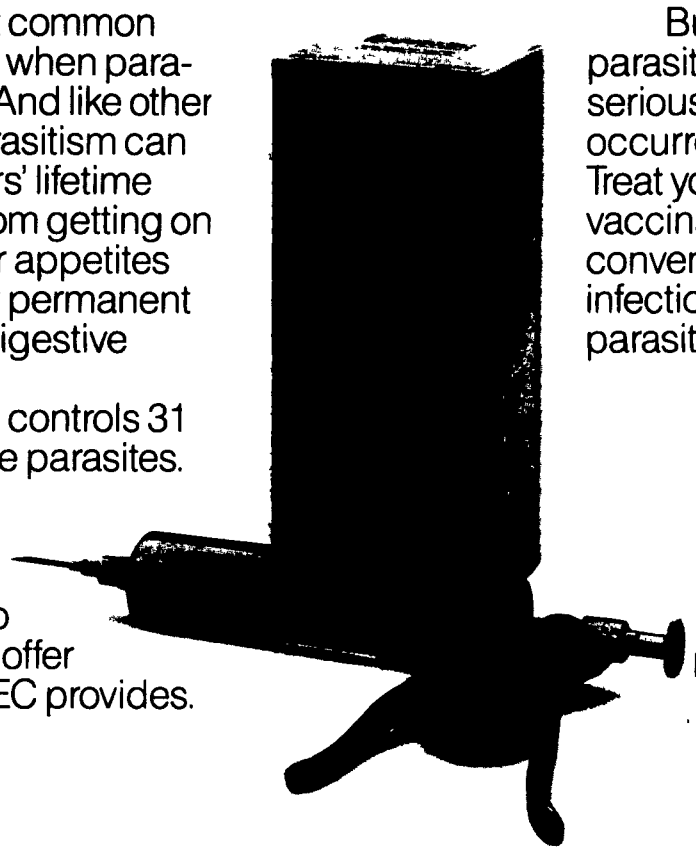
Parasitism, one of the most common diseases in heifers, occurs when parasites are left uncontrolled. And like other uncontrolled diseases, parasitism can adversely affect your heifers' lifetime productivity: delay them from getting on the milk line, suppress their appetites and, in severe cases, inflict permanent physical damage to their digestive systems.

IVOMEC® (ivermectin) controls 31 kinds of adult and immature parasites. And only IVOMEC can control both internal and external parasites at the same time. You'll find no other parasite product can offer the broad spectrum IVOMEC provides.



But, if you wait to see signs of parasitism, it may be too late. By then serious damage may have already occurred. So don't wait until it's too late. Treat your heifers with IVOMEC while vaccinating for other diseases. It's a convenient and easy way to prevent infectious diseases and help control parasitic disease at the same time.

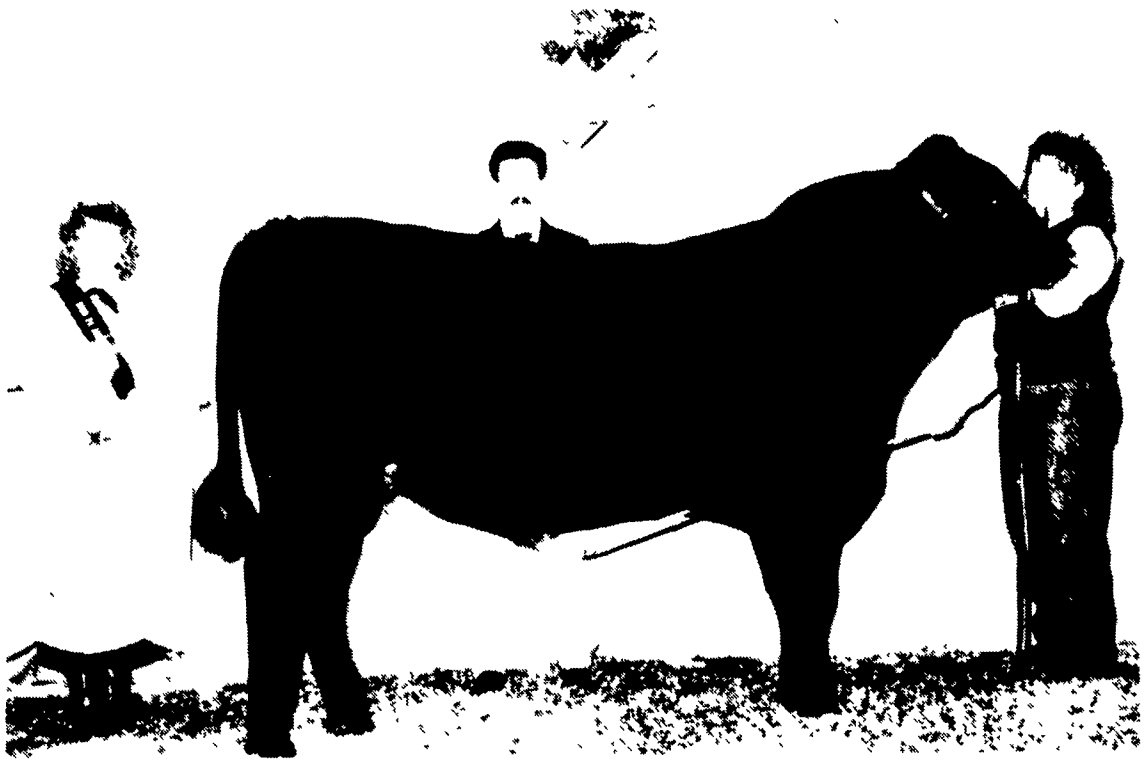
Youngsters Parade 168 Head At Angus Show



J L C Mac Babett, a February 1989 Grubbs MacKenzie son, was named the bred-and-owned grand champion bull at the 1990 Atlantic National Junior Angus Show held in Timonium, Maryland. The bull was shown by Jennifer Calderazzo, York, Pennsylvania.

Sandy Eisenhour, Wellsville, Pennsylvania, received senior and overall champion showmanship honors at the show. Also pictured are Brian Fitzgerald, Kennett Square, Pennsylvania, judge; Lori Cash, Centre Hall, Pennsylvania, Miss American Angus 1990; Kirk Hoffman, Paris, Kentucky, judge; and Mac McGuigan of Manna Pro Corporation.

TIMONIUM, Md.— Young Angus exhibitors paraded 168 head of cattle around the show ring to vie for championship honors at the recent Atlantic National Junior Angus Show at the state fairgrounds.

Judge Craig Wallace of Knob Noster, MO, placed classes and picked winners for the divisions of bred-and-owned heifers, "owned" heifers, bred-and-owned bulls, cow/calf pairs, and registered steers.

Grand champion honors in the bred-and-owned heifer division went to the spring calf winner, Kruegers Belladonna, shown by Erin Kreuger, Coatesville. This heifer is a March 1989 daughter of Grubbs MacKenzie. Mark Moxley, West Friendship, MD, led out the reserve grand champion female in this division. D A Fairlea 4295, a February 1989, Grubbs MacKenzie daughter, was earlier named reserve spring calf champion.

L A F Felicia 8905 won grand champion laurels in the "owned" heifer category for exhibitor Ty Krebs, Gordon, NE. This May 1989 heifer sired by Grubbs MacKenzie was also named summer calf champion. Knapp Moxie won both the "owned" spring calf and reserve grand champion female banners for Shelley Weaver, Brimfield, IL. Her heifer is a March 1989 daughter of Grubbs MacKenzie.

Judge Wallace awarded Jennifer Calderazzo, York, with bred-and-owned grand champion bull honors. Her champion, J L C Mac Babett, is a February 1989 son of Grubbs MacKenzie. The reserve rosette was presented to Jason Goff, Norwich, OH, for his entry J

Pork All-American Program Celebrates Anniversary

DES MOINES, Iowa — This year marks the 20th anniversary of the Pork All-American Program which annually recognizes the pork industry's most innovative and motivated individuals.

The program was started in 1970 by the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) and Fermenta Animal Health as a way to recognize an individual or team in each state for their involvement in the pork industry and their communities. The 1990 Pork All-Americans will be honored at reception and program on Sunday, June 3, at the Marriott Hotel in Des Moines, IA.

In the past 20 years, 647 men and women between the ages of 25 and 40 have been honored as Pork All-Americans. Members of the Pork All-American Team are selected on the basis of their contributions to the pork industry through management and leadership ability, to the pork producer organization, and to family and community.

Pork All-Americans are selected by their state producer association and are honored at their state's annual meeting. At the meeting, Fermenta presents the individuals with a plaque and round-trip to World Pork Expo. NPPC honors the Pork All-American Team at an annual recognition banquet during Expo. The state honorees are presented with their All-American plaques and pins this time. Until three years ago, the All-Americans were honored at the former American Pork Congress.

The following is a list of this year's Pork All-Americans:

Arizona- Bob Beck, Arkansas- Bill Moeller, Alabama- Albert and Jimmy Haraway, Colorado- Dennis G. Schneider, Florida- Clevie Selph, Georgia- Wayne Long, Hawaii- Lansing Kakazu, Idaho- Joseph Ray Baerlocher, Illinois- Bob Meeker, Indiana- Kevin F. Scientist Awarded For 'Environmental' Herbicide Work

WASHINGTON, D.C.— On May 10, 1990, Dr. Marinus Los, associate director of crop sciences at American Cyanamid's agricultural research division in Princeton, New Jersey, was named Distinguished Inventor for 1990 by Intellectual Property Owners, Inc. for his discovery of a new, environmentally compatible class of herbicides known as imidazolinones.

The imidazolinone herbicides require only a small amount of active ingredient per acre to effectively control target weeds. They are also considered much safer because they exert their effect by attacking an enzyme that is present in plants but not in humans or other mammals.

To date, scientists at American Cyanamid, in the spirit of the original intention of patent rights, have developed four very successful products from this class of chemistry. Included in that stable of products is a herbicide that aids farmers in controlling harmful weeds in the production of soybeans. Another is registered for both soybeans amd other leguminous crops. A third product is used in vegetation control along highways, utility and railroad right of ways, and in reforestation. The fourth is a herbicide that is used to control target weeds in cereal grain production.

Dr. Marinus Los

In a special award ceremony and reception in the Russell Senate Caucus Room, Capitol Hill, Donald Banner, president of the Intellectual Property Owners, presented Los with the award.

Los has been employed by American Cyanamid for 30 years. An American citizen, he is Dutch-born and English-educated. He completed his undergraduate training at Edinburgh University where he later received a Ph.D. degree in organic chemistry. he was also a postdoctoral fellow at the National Research Council in Ottawa, Canada. He currently holds 48 U.S. patents.

Beacon Removes Problem Grasses

GREENSBORO, N.C.— Every season, corn growers across the country struggle with problem grasses such as shattercane, Johnsongrass, and quackgrass. These weeds reduce corn yields and leave growers in the dark, searching for answers.

Beacon®, a new herbicide from the Ciba-Geigy agricultural division, received a label from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in mid-May 1990. The herbicide is a postemergence product for control of problem grasses in corn.

As an added benefit, Beacon features unique packaging, with pre-measured doses in water-soluble packets. There's no concern for container rinsing and/or disposal.

It also is effective at low rates. A single box (the size of a child's shoebox) contains enough product to treat 50 acres of corn.

With EPA approval, last year Ciba-Geigy set up more than 100 test plots in 15 states using an emergency use permit (EUP). "We saw consistent results in plots in all states last season," said John Mitchell, Beacon product manager. "With excellent grass control, growers can expect a yield increase, too."

Beacon is a sulfonylurea herbicide. The recommended Targeted Control™ program also requires early planning to develop a grower's complete corn production program.

Targeted Control includes a pre-emergence application of a broad-spectrum herbicide such as AAtrex®, Dual®, or Bicep® to get early control of other annual grasses or certain broadleaf weeds.

Finally, proper application timing of Beacon is important, too. Growers should apply the herbicide at the recommended two-acres-per-packet rate (0.76 ounces per acre) when corn is between four and 20 inches high.

Growers are warned, however, not to apply Beacon if Counter® insecticide is used in the corn field anytime during the season. When other insecticides are used at seeding, growers should wait 20 days before they apply Beacon.

Beacon may be tank-mixed with broadleaf herbicides such as Banvel®, Buctril®, or 2,4-D to increase the spectrum of weed species controlled.

It is not necessary to incorporate Beacon, so there's less risk of soil erosion or loss of moisture because of cultivation, a benefit for reduced tillage practices.

With Targeted Control, Beacon controls problem grasses such as shattercane, johnsongrass, and quackgrass. It also controls broadleaf weeds such as velvetleaf, cocklebur, giant ragweed, pigweed, kochia, sunflower, and others.

Beacon's three-week residual in the soil means growers can rotate corn fields treated with Beacon to soybeans or grain sorghum the following year with no carryover.

The highly concentrated formulation means low dosage and more convenient handling and storage. Beacon will be available in an easy-to-open, disposable polyethylene bag that contains five packets, enough to treat 10 acres of corn. Five bags come packaged in a small box, enough to treat 50 acres.

With the water-soluble packets, however, it is important to have the spray tank half-full with agitating water before dropping the Beacon packets into the tank. Then add either a nonionic surfactant such as X-77® or an appropriate crop oil concentrate before adding more water.

According to Mitchell, who worked with Ciba-Geigy's regulatory experts to provide safety data to EPA, the late date for label approval means Beacon only will be available in selected markets -- parts of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Nebraska, Texas, Tennessee, and Wisconsin.

Beacon received a national label in May, but because of the late approval from EPA and first-year production limitations, supplies of Beacon will be limited, according to Mitchell. However, full distribution will be available for the 1991 growing season. He recommends that growers contact their local agrichemical dealer for more information.

Sowa Appointed Meat Board V.P.

CHICAGO, Ill.— Jeanne M. Sowa has been appointed executive vice president for marketing for the National Live Stock and Meat Board, according to John L. Huston, president of the 69-year-old meat industry consumer marketing coalition.

"Jeanne's experience and background make her especially suited for this job," said Huston. "We are delighted that she has accepted this position."

Sowa, a native of Nanticoke, holds a master's degree in human nutrition and is a registered dietitian. She has served on the faculty of Michigan State University and was the executive staff officer of the Michigan Beef Industry Commission before joining the Meat Board in 1983 as coordinator of promotion for the Beef Industry Council (BIC).

She was promoted to BIC vice president of promotion in 1988. In that position, she directed beef checkoff-funded retail and food service promotion programs and consumer advertising, including the award-winning "Beef. Real Food For Real People" advertising campaign.

Jeanne M. Sowa

In her new position, she will have staff responsibility for information and research functions at the Meat Board, including consumer information, test kitchens, education, research, meat sciences, and lamb and pork programs. She also will work to coordinate the annual marketing plan of the Meat Board. Sowa replaces John J. Francis, who will join Agri-Beef in Boise, ID, in July.

The GA 732, Kuhn's new twin rotor concept Gyrorake, rakes up to 17 acres per hour and has two rotors which rotate in opposite directions to achieve a large, in-width adjustable swath from 3 foot 7 inches to 6 foot 3 inches.

Kuhn Introduces Rotary Rake

VERNON, N.Y.— A new super size rotary rake, featuring a working width adjustable up to 24 feet for faster, more efficient harvesting, is available from Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc.

The GA 732, Kuhn's new twin rotor concept Gyrorake, is designed for maximum machine output and ease of operation. It features an adjustable working width of 21'4" to 24' and an easily adjustable working height. In addition, the GA 732 turns windrows, providing faster drying time and easier baling.

Raking up to 17 acres per hour, the GA 732 has two rotors which rotate in opposite directions to achieve a large, in-width adjustable swath from 3'7" to 6'3". For following the contours of the ground, the rotos are centrally articulated on the lift bar, aiding in fuller pick-up for high density bales.

When transporting or storing, the rotors fold up to an 8'8" overall width by use of a hydraulic system operated from the tractor cab. Both rotors are driven by a C.V. PTO, allowing the rake's rotors to be lifted into tranport position without causing machine vibration.

The GA 732's pivoting rotor wheels reduce the risk of scuffing, even when turning sharp corners. The unit is equipped with wide tires for increased flotation at high raking speeds. The GA 732 also features a fully enclosed, reinforced roto gearbox that ensures minimal maintenance and longer service life by protecting components from dust and dirt.

For additional information on the Kuhn GA 732 Gyrorake contact Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., P.O. Box 224, Vernon, N.Y. 13476, (315) 829-2620.

Ag Progress Days Draws Thousands

ROCKSPRINGS (Centre Co.) — Ag Progress Days, a three-day event which attracts tens of thousands of visitors to the Penn State research center here, is scheduled for August 14-16.

"Food and Environmental Quality: Preparing for the 21st Century" is the theme of the show. The focus will be on ways the ag community can address the issues that will affect our food and our future.

The event features tours of conservation education areas and research farms; demonstrations by Penn State faculty on recycling, ag safety, gypsy moth control, and more; more than 250 commercial exhibits; Pennsylvania crafts; animal care methods; a working computer classroom; antique home and farm implements; educational exhibits on food safety, water quality, and biotechnology; and machinery demonstrations.

Ag Progress Days site is nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45. Admission and parking are free.

TEMPERATURE OF SHELL EGG STORAGE MAY NEED STUDY

Herbert C. Jordan
Associate Professor
Of Poultry Science

If shell eggs on the way to a retail store are subject to wide variations in temperature above or below their starting temperature, changes in quality values may result.

The egg is one of the few foods prepackaged to contain living tissue. Most perishable foods are designed to sustain life after birth or hatching. The egg is designed to start and maintain embryonic development inside a protective shell before hatching. As such, the normal egg must breathe or exchange gases with its environment.

Temperatures too low or too high may cause living tissue or matter in an egg to die or behave abnormally. Therefore, fertile eggs should be held at 60 degrees Fahrenheit (plus or minus 3 degrees) whereas nonfertile eggs may need more study.

Shells on eggs may have tiny cracks or a prestressed weakness in them that open or get worse with wide variations in temperature — such as 45 degrees Fahrenheit in a new display case and 85 degrees Fahrenheit in a car on the way home in summer.

Shell eggs that have been refrigerated may condense moisture on their shells if exposed to warm, humid conditions. This moisture may allow bacterial penetration through the shell if they are present on the shell or in the environment where the eggs are stored.

Handling, bumping, or simply moving eggs when they are rapidly cooling or heating may cause fragile shells to weaken or break.

We need more practical information on variation in temperature or general environment of egg storage prior to making accurate decisions on how cool market or table eggs can be successfully stored and not increase shell damage problems.

A survey by Zoann Parker, 4-H agent in Lancaster County, of four large hatcheries May 31, 1990, found storage temperatures of fertile eggs prior to incubation to range from 55 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit with two hatcheries storing fresh fertile shell eggs at 60-65 degrees Fahrenheit.

One hatchery ranged as high as 70 degrees Fahrenheit to store fertile eggs, while another hatchery ranged as low as 55 degrees Fahrenheit. Fertile eggs represent a very small portion of all commercial table eggs sold today.

Council Honors Kruse

KANSAS CITY, Mo.— At its annual meeting here, the National Pedigreed Livestock Council (NPLC) recognized Marvin Kruse of Springfield, MO, for contributions to the dairy industry. NPLC consists of elected officers and administrators of U.S. livestock groups.

Kruse was honored with NPLC's 1990 Distinguished Service Award. A lifetime member of the dairy industry, Kruse has served both the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders and Milking Shorthorn associations as chief executive officer.

Kruse has been instrumental in establishing overseas markets for the Brown Swiss group. He has given his time and energy in improving animal performance information programs of the industry.

At the May meeting, the NPLC endorsed the concept of cattle identification methods including electronic implants and, with further study, on how best to utilize technology for its members.

A resolution was passed encouraging production of a quality product, national high standards of animal health, conservation of natural resources, and support for family traditions.

Some 50 members attending listened to experts explain transgenetic patenting, genetic engineering, animal welfare, and electronic identification.

The group supported House Bill 1556 with minor amendments. The bill would permit patenting transgenetic animals.

Re-elected NPLC president was Wendell Schronk, executive vice president, American Braham Breeders Association, Houston, TX. Zane Akins, chief executive officer, Holstein Association, Brattlebor, VT, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Elected to first terms as directors were Rex Hoppes, National Spotted Swine Registry, West Lafayette, IN, and George Harris, Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders Association, Beloit, WI.

Re-elected directors were Kathy Krafka, National Suffolk Sheep, Columbia, MO; Gene Kuykendall, Beefmaster Breeders Universal, San Antonio, TX; and Ronnie Blackwell, American Quarter Horse Association, Amarillo, TX.

The annual meeting next year will be held at the IMMGEN Bloodtyping Lab, Texas A & M Univeristy, College Station, TX.

AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION EASEMENTS

Alan W. Strock
Farm Management Agent

(Third in a series on farmland preservation.)

The 1988 Amendment to the Pennsylvania Agricultural Security Area Law (Act 43 of 1981) authorized a statewide program to purchase agricultural conservation easements from landowners who had joined an Agricultural Security Area (ASA).

The purchase of an agricultural conservation easement (ACE) provides an option to farmers who want to continue farming, but whose farm's property values have risen because of development pressure.

Chosen applicants for the ACE program will be paid the difference between fair market value and "farmland value." The land must then be maintained in farming.

The ACE program aims to preserve thousands of acres of prime Pennsylvania farmland, while making it easier to transfer the property to the next generation.

What is an agricultural conservation easement?

Property ownership is often compared to a "bundle of legal rights" with each "stick" in the bundle representing a separate, divisible right.

Included in this "bundle" are the rights to sell, will, lease, mortgage, and cultivate; along with the surface, mineral, air, and water rights; and easements of access and development rights. As divisible rights, they can be disposed of separately. In Pennsylvania it is common for landowners to separate and sell coal and other mineral rights.

Similarly, ACE's are purchased by the county and/or the state who then have the right to prevent development or improvement of land for any purpose, except agricultural production.

Selling one's ACE would not prevent the construction of new buildings used for agricultural production, including structures for housing seasonal or full-time workers.

ACE Program administration

Under provisions of the Agricultural Security Area Law, many county governments have already established a county program to purchase, in conjunction with the state, ACEs from farmers in ASAs. The program's goal is the long-term preservation of farmland, so easements are purchased either for 25 years or forever.

Participating counties must set up county Agricultural Land Preservation Boards which consist of 5, 7, or 9 members. Boards must have representation from agriculture, development, local government, and citizens. One less than the majority of the board shall be resident farmers of the county.

The county's governing body, usually the county commissioners, will appoint the board, whose role is to establish local priorities for buying easements through a ranking system for objectively evaluating farms, select competent appraiser(s), and administer purchases.

The 17-member State Agricultural Land Preservation Board has been created to oversee the ACE Program. This board has adopted guidelines for administering the statewide effort and standards for certifying county boards. Annually, the board will determine the funding level, distribute funds to the counties, and monitor the program by approving state-funded easement purchases.

Who is eligible?

The land must be located in an ASA to be eligible to sell the ACE. Additional requirements for purchase include consideration of quality and quantity of the farmland, stewardship of the land, and likelihood of conversion to non-farm use.

To meet the minimum state guideline for easement purchase, the farms must be capable of generating gross receipts of $25,000 annually.

At least half of the tract must be either harvested cropland, pasture, or grazing land, and it must contain at least 50 percent of soils in the Soil Conservation Service identified capability classes of I-IV.

Applicants must also have demonstrated conservation and best management practices.

County rating system

Each county must develop a detailed list of rating factors to score and select farms from which easementswill be purchased.

Location and site factors, and agricultural productivity factors, are the two classifications of the ranking system. Location and site factors in the ranking system may include the extent of non-agricultural development in the area, proximity to planned development, proximity to farmland protected by perpetual easements or restrictive covenants, buffering of parks, environmentally sensitive areas, historical structures or districts, soil and water conservation practices, size of the farm parcel, proximity to sewer service, and cost (or percent donation of appraised easement value).

In selecting farms for easement purchase, county boards may decide to consider easement costs (Bucks County has placed a $10,000/acre limit on easement purchases), and whether to target purchases in keeping with the county comprehensive land use map. Some counties may elect to target funds to areas of most intense development pressure while others may place higher priority on locations with less development pressure where large farm acreage blocks can be protected.

Determining the value of the easement

The difference between the fair market value and the "farmland use" value is the ACE value, as in the example below.

Example: $5,000 Market Value/Acre

- $1,400 "Eased Value" or "Farmland Value"/acre
- $3,600 Agriculture Conservation Easement Value/acre

Fair market value as defined by the act is the price as of an evaluation date for the highest and best use of a property. The "farmland use" value, also called the "agricultural value" in the act, must be determined by appraisal.

A seller who disagrees with the county board's approved appraisals may retain another licensed appraiser. Any differences in the two valuations are resolved by a simple formula contained in the act.

Landowners who sell perpetual easements receive full conservation easement value. Easements for 25 years pay only 1/10th of the full easement value, or in the example above, $360/acre.

(Next week: The complex issues of "agricultural value.")

Examine Corn Plants

EDWARD J. WOODS
County Agricultural Agent

When corn is about knee-high, it is time for a good "physical examination."

The problems related to poor soil fertility are beginning to show. Look for these nutritional problems.

• Nitrogen deficiency: Plants are pale-green and stunted. Lower leaves turn yellow at the tip and up along the mid-rib in an inverted V fashion. The outer edges of the leaf are the last part to lose their green color. Bottom leaves show this first as the new leaves draw nitrogen from older leaves.

• Phosphorus deficiency: At knee high and earlier, leaves turn purple. Plants are stunted.

• Potassium deficiency: The outer margin of lower leaves turn yellow, then brown. Like nitrogen deficiency, it starts with the older leaves. However, unlike nitrogen, the outer margins of the leaf deteriorates first before they are around the mid-rib.

• Magnesium deficiency: The lower leaves show a white, striped appearance. The leaf veins stay green.

When you see these and other abnormal appearance, act then to confirm the problems. Take a look at the roots and look for damage. Finally, and most important, take a soil sample and have them analyzed. We have information on how to have these samples analyzed.

Make Pastures Produce

The best way to improve your permanent pasture is to apply lime and fertilizer, practice rotational grazing, and clip regularly. This is quicker, cheaper, and involves less risk than tearing up the old sod and reseeding.

Most permanent pastures have sufficient seed of desirable grass species. The only thing they need is a little tender loving care and the opportunity to grow, and to recover from grazing pressures. Thus, fertility and rotational grazing are very beneficial. The more paddocks you have, the better it is.

If your acreage is limited for your size herd, restrict the amount of time cattle and livestock are permitted to graze. Don't let them trample the grass unnecessarily by allowing them to roam freely over the pasture while not grazing. After a paddock has been grazed, it can be clipped to control weed growth and to keep the grass young and nutritious. This is also a good time to apply fertilizer and necessary herbicides, while allowing the grass to recover prior to being grazed again.

Growing Onions

Medium-sized onion sets, one-half to three-fourths inch in diameter, are best in producing mature onions. If you plant large sets, over three fourths inches, many of them send up seedstalks. Pinch off seedstalks as soon as they develop.

If not removed, thick, double-neck onions will likely be produced. Use thick double-neck onions as immature green onions. If left to mature, these onions will not keep well and are undesirable for storage.

Bunching onions, also called green onions, form mild-flavored thick stems instead of bulbs. Bunching varieties, which are usually seeded in the fall or very early spring, produce tender young stems throughout the growing season. Onion sets spaced closely, about two inches apart, can also supply early green onions. Pull alternate plants when they are about six inches tall or just as the bulb begins to swell. Allow remaining plants to produce mature bulbs for storage.

The Sweet Spanish or Bermuda onions are mild-flavored large as long as other onion types. Grow these onions from young transplants.

Red onions have a deep red to purplish-red skin which makes them highly attractive in salads or where raw onion rings are used. Most varieties adapted to Pennsylvania conditions are fairly pungent and generally keep better nearly as well as the yellow storage types.

Generally, the stronger the flavor of the onion, the longer it keeps. When the leaves start to turn brown, bend the tops over — this stops growth and the bulbs start to ripen. When the tops are completely brown, pull bulbs and spread out to dry. Cut tops off about 1 inch from the bulb.

Kempton Sets Annual Fair

KEMPTON (Berks Co.) — A fair as traditional as graduation, a wedding, or roses in June, yet as new as a fresh field-grown strawberry — that's the Kempton Country Fair, a tradition for 36 years!

Billy Walker will return for the 13th time to top the Sunday night entertainment slot for the weekend event that begins Friday evening, June 15, and lasts through Sunday evening, June 17.

As always, this harbinger of summer offers not only the tops in country music entertainment, but exciting, action-packed events such as four wheel drags, figure eights, and obstacles in sanctioned E.C. races plus farm stock, garden, and ATV pulls.

And a Pennsylvania Dutch Queen.

Very new this year are two special attractions: a miniature golf course for erstwhile putters and an antique trolley ride, the replica which belongs to the Tamaqua Historical Society and which will be drawn by a pair of Belgian horses on the fair grounds. Small charges will be made for both ot these events.

Pat Garrett
Friday, June 15

Billy Walker
Sunday, June 17

Freddee Hart
Saturday, June 16

Heading the roster of musical talent, Pat Garrett and the Straight Shooters start off the Friday night program. They'll share the honors with Anita Stapleton and The Real Country Band, a unique, young group that has been together for five years.

Freddie Hart with Steve Lake's Swingmasters are a Saturday evening special.

Sharing the Saturday evening spotlight are Sherry Schafer and the Blue Mountain Ramblers.

One of the groups to perform are the Nixnutzers. Eight children ranging from 7 to 10 will square dance under Les Miller's tutelage.

Billy Walker, returning by popular request, has entertained Kempton audiences more than any other musical performer.

The coronation of the Pennsylvania Dutch Queen, a competition which will fill the afternoon with events including a talent contest, evening gown demonstration, and interviews, is also a Sunday event.

Farm stock tractor pulls along with 1/2 and 3/4 ton single wheel 4 x 4 stock pick-ups will take place in the natural amphitheatre. Spectators are invited to bring blankets or garden chairs to watch this evening-long program.

Saturday and Sunday, the Mountain Madness Off-road Racers will hold a series of sanctioned events with drag races, figure eights, and obstacle events included. On Sunday, the garden tractor and ATV pulls are an afternoon happening.

Gate prizes will be awarded daily. The fair goes on, rain or shine. Admission, which includes free parking, is $3 per person Friday and Saturday and $3 per carload on Sunday.

The Kempton Country Fair can be reached north of I-78 from either Rt. 145 (Lenhartsville exit) or Rt. 737 (Kutztown interchange). Information on the fair can be had from the Kempton Community Center, Box 42, Kempton, 19529, or during the fair by calling (215) 756-6444.

Maryland Project Improves Ground Water

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Maryland is a state with unique water resources. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has recognized this uniqueness and has provided support for a multi-agency water quality demonstration project in western Maryland's Monocacy River Watershed.

The Monocacy River Watershed Water Quality Demonstration Project is a cooperative effort by three USDA agencies — the Soil Conservation Service, the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service — in cooperation with the Frederick and Carroll County Soil Conservation Districts.

The goal of this joint venture is to improve the quality of Maryland's surface and ground water resources through voluntary adoption of management techniques by Maryland farmers to better keep nutrients and agrichemicals on the farm. The program will provide farmers with comprehensive, cost-effective farm management systems that integrate new and existing conservation techniques, such as nutrient management planning, conservation cropping systems, integrated pest management, and agrichemical safety education.

One of eight such demonstration projects sponsored in the United States by USDA, this effort will have important implications not only for Maryland farmers, but for everyone interested in water quality.

Tractors Are Rugged, Versatile

CAROL STREAM, Ill.— The new 56 Series tractors from Hesston meet the needs of producers who want the maximum value in a hard-working tractor without the cost of all the added features. Standard equipment on the 55-56/55-56DT and 65-56/65-56DT models makes for rugged, efficient, versatile 2-wheel and 4-wheel drive tractors.

The Fiat fuel efficient, direct injection diesel engine, which comes as standard equipment, offers improved economy, higher torque reserves, and cleaner operation. Its spiral intake ducts and Omega profile pistons give maximum fuel atomization and air/fuel intermix for more power from each charge. The tilting hood design gives easy access to the engine for service and maintenance.

A balanced power 4-wheel drive comes standard on DT models in the 56 Series and offers maximum agility and ground clearance. Outboard planetary final drives minimize power loss and double U-joints allow for a short turning radius without tire slippage.

The Lift-O-Matic 3-point lift with draft, position, and mixed control comes as standard equipment. The Lift-O-Matic allows producers to raise an implement on the 3-joint hitch and automatically return it to its pre-set depth with the touch of a button.

Other standard features include:

- Hydrostatic steering for maximum turning flexibility with minimum operator effort;
- An independent 540 RPM PTO with a console mounted control lever for easy starting and stopping;
- An 8 forward/2 reverse transmission with constant-mesh, 2 range gearbox, and synchromesh in 3rd, 4th and 7th, and 8th gears;
- A fully enclosed front driveline to eliminate crop wrapping and insure maximum safety;
- Conveniently placed controls for higher productivity and reduced operator fatigue; and
- A ROPS safety frame to minimize potential safety risks in case of an accident.

The 65-56/65-56DT models also feature as standard equipment a remote hydraulic valve with quick-disconnect couplers. On the 55-56/55-56DT, the remote hydraulic valve comes as optional equipment. On both models, a second remote is optional.

Additional information on the 56 Series tractors can be obtained from Hesston, 245 East North Avenue, Carol Stream, IL 60188.

MILK. IT DOES A BODY GOOD.™

The practical tractor for the practical farmer.

The world's most demanding farmers prefer M-F 300 Series tractors.

These popular 50-90 PTO hp tractors are a big reason why Massey-Ferguson is the Western World's largest tractor manufacturer. In fact, one in every five tractors now sold in the Western World is an M-F.

What makes Massey-Ferguson the practical choice?

An M-F 300 Series tractor gives you all the benefits of advanced Ferguson system hydraulics, for one thing. Plus the unmatched lugging power and fuel economy of a world-famous Perkins diesel engine. And with Massey-Ferguson, you get hydrostatic steering as standard equipment, not as an option.

Today's tractor buyers want quality and reliability, but in a package that stresses function and ease of operation. They want a tractor that's easy to service, inexpensive to operate and proves to be the best return for their hard-earned investment.

See your M-F dealer soon to find out why more and more farmers are discovering that an M-F 300 Series tractor is the answer to their demands for something more practical.

Pick the tractor sized for your operations.

Ag Field Days Examine Forage, Small Grains

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — Agricultural field days to commemorate former U.S. President Dwight D. Eisenhower's special interest in farming during his 100th birthday anniversary will take place at the Eisenhower farm four miles south of Gettysburg.

The field days on Thursday, June 14, 1990 (forage) and Tuesday, July 17, 1990 (small grains/milo) will afford farmers an opportunity to spend a day at the farm, visit the home, learn of Ike's interest in farming, learn something new, and collect some credits toward pesticide permit recertification, according to Thomas E. Piper, Adams Co. extension agent.

On June 14, sessions will include pasture management, farming in the National Park, evaluating the grasses as forage crops, hay harvesting equipment, weeds and forage crop weed control, and responsible use of chemicals on the farm.

Contact the Adams Co. Extension Office, 1135 Chambersburg Rd., Gettysburg, PA 17325 or call (717) 334-6271 for more information.

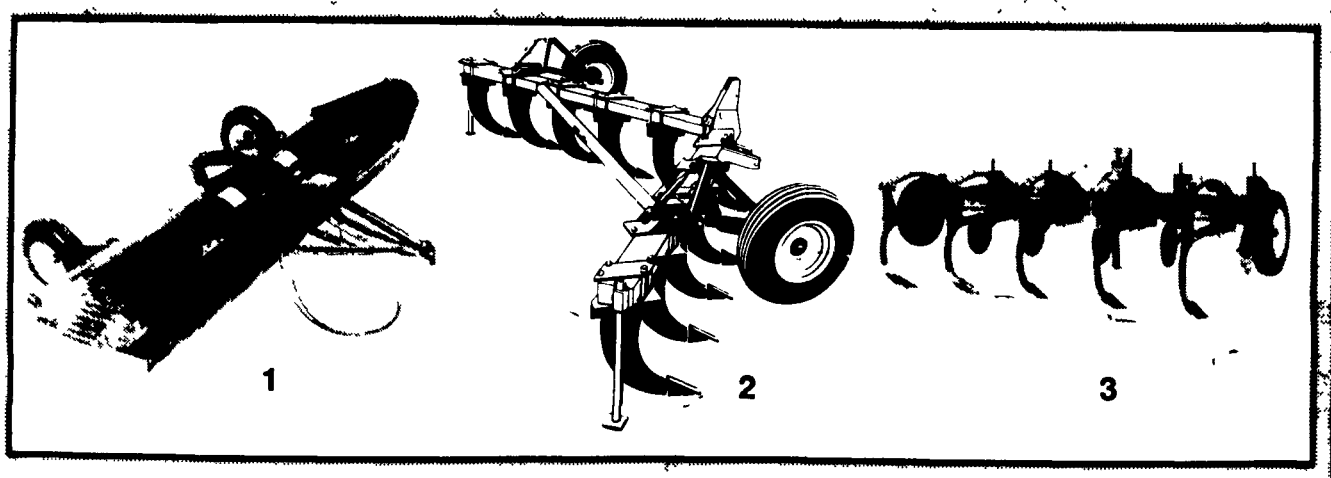
FLAIL SHREDDERS, SUB-SOILERS, 3 PT. DEEP-TILLS



1. BRILLION FLAIL SHREDDERS keep going when others stop! One of the most important features is that you get the heaviest gearbox on the market with this machine. 12' and 15'

2. SUBSOILER - A POPULAR, VERSATILE SOIL MANAGEMENT TOOL designed with husky, curved shanks, the subsoiler digs down as deep as 18". It opens up the soil allowing moisture to penetrate, root systems are no longer restricted and better drainage results. 3, 5, 7, 9, 11 Shanks

3. DEEP-TILL - Featured above is the 5-shank model Deep-Till with the Category II hitch. This model is equipped with single individual trash cutting coulters and cuts a 12'6" width, it uses manual gauge wheels. Also available as pull-type. 3-7 Shank

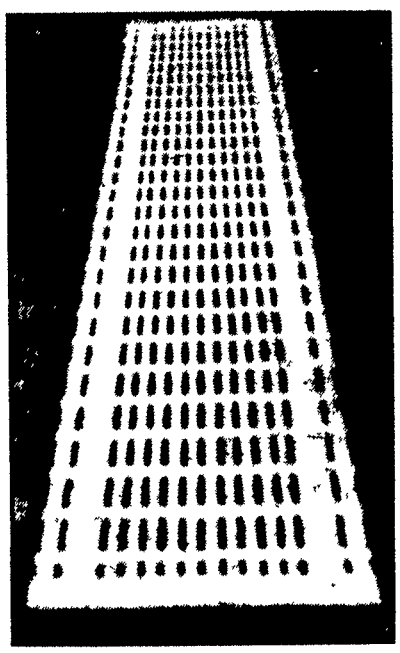
Waffle Finishing Gang Slats
7/8" or 1" Slot

2' or 4' Waffle Hog Slats can be custom made to any length that is suitable for your barn.

2' Waffle Hog Slats only weigh 20 LBS per sq. ft. so you can carry into existing barn.



Large percentage of opening keeps slats clean and dry.

Waffle slats are uniform and easy to install

Renovations Keep This Top Herd Cool

RANDY WELLS
Indiana Co. Correspondent

REYNOLDSVILLE (Jefferson Co.) — The first hot days of every June for years to come will probably conjure up memories of the Great Drought of 1988.

Dozens of consecutive days with triple-digit temperatures. Summer nights as hot as normal summer days.

Dozens of consecutive days without rain. Pastures reduced to little more than exercise lots.

When unseasonably warm weather arrived in much of Western Pennsylvania early this spring, Jefferson County dairyman Brad Smith decided now was the time to act, not later in the middle of what might be another scorcher.

Brad decided to proceed with some unusual renovations to the free stall area of his barn to help his Holsteins better weather the coming heat.

It's not unusual to use the term "unusual" in describing the Smith dairy operation. Brad did not get into the dairy business in the usual way, by inheriting or buying a farm from his father or grandfather. As a young man just out of college, he bought the operation from his employer as his own business.

And one of his goals is also a little unusual for dairymen: he plans to be out of debt by the time he's 40.

He believes comfortable cows will help him do that.

From the barnyard of the Smith farm between DuBois and Brookville you can see and hear the big trucks roll by on Interstate 80. Much of the land on the "home farm" has been strip mined. "When it's dry it's drier; when its wet, it's wetter," Brad says.

Brad and his brother Mark, who helps out occasionally on the farm, travel up to two miles to reach parts of another 30 acres he has in crops.

The farmer who owned the operation before Brad took over 10 years ago had added onto the barn nine times. There are different floor levels in the barn and roofs under roofs. But Brad noticed his cows spent most of their time under the loft part of the structure, trying to avoid what he called "the greenhouse effect" — the combined heat of the cows' own bodies and the heat radiating off the underside of the tin roof.

To get some professional advice on his problem, Brad contacted the Jefferson County Cooperative Extension office, which in turn put him in touch with Dr. Dan Meyer, a "backup specialist" to the county agents. Dr. Meyer is a Penn State professor in the College of Agriculture, department of agricultural engineers, at University Park.

After studying the situation, Brad undertook two of Dr. Meyer's suggestions: he has started installing Reflectix double-bubble insulation on the underside of the ceiling in the free stall area, and has hung five agriculture-rated, 56-inch ceiling fans.

The insulation, in rolls four feet wide and 75 feet long, is only about ½-inch thick, costs about $100 a roll, and was stapled in place. He has covered about 2,720 square feet so far.

The fans, placed over the feed bunkers to keep the cows comfortable in the hope they will spend more time eating, cost about $80 each. Brad was able to do the wiring and installation himself. Total cost: about $1,600 so far.

Although he hasn't received an electric bill since the fans were installed, Brad doesn't expect much of an increase. Each fan draws less than 0.5 amp, he said.

The weather has not been extremely warm since the renovations started, but the free stall area is already noticably more comfortable when the big fans are spinning.

Brad, a 1976 graduate of Delaware Valley College with a degree in dairy husbandry, knows quality feed is the key to increasing milk production. But he considers the next most important factor to be cow comfort.

"Comfortable cows give more milk" he said.

According to Dr. Meyer, the environmental stress on cows is more obvious to dairymen in summer than in winter.

"They notice it when paychecks drop off 10 percent in summer," he said.

Stress causes a lack of appetite; a reduced appetite results in less milk production.

"The bottom line," Dr. Meyer concluded, "is to make the cows comfortable."

It's common to find barns and other farm buildings in Pennsylvania not oriented toward wind flows, Dr. Meyer added. And in some cases ventilation flows have been blocked by trees, earthen banks or other buildings.

To reduce radiant heat from blistering hot roofs, interior sidewall height should be at least 10 feet, Dr. Meyer said. But adequate ventilation is more important.

Paddle ceiling fans are more efficient at moving air than box fans blowing horizontally through a barn. According to Dr. Meyer, paddle fans move about 15 times as much air as box fans, using substantially less electricity. In addition to keeping cows cooler, they give the added benefit of keeping floors drier.

The air-bubble insulation Brad used is preferred for agricultural applications, Dr. Meyer said, because it is less likely to be picked apart by birds. Ideally, it should be installed with about one inch of air space between the insulation and the ceiling. A 2x4 laid on its side makes a good purlin to anchor the insulation.

To retain its R-rating efficiency, an effort should be made to keep the reflective outer coating free of dust.

The bottom line financially of such renovations? Dr. Meyer estimates the installation of ceiling fans and insulation may cut Smith's summer milk production losses by 50 percent.

Expressed another way, Dr. Meyer said some farmers conceivably can achieve 50 percent payback per year on their investment for such improvements in reduced milk losses.

LEADERSHIP AT WORK™

The Smith farm in Jefferson County.

Keep This Top Herd Cool

Planning ahead and achieving production goals are nothing new on the Smith farm. In 1986, his herd won top DHIA honors in the state, and in 1989 he had the top DHIA herd in Jefferson County.

In 1986, Smith's 33.8 cows produced an average of 25,939 pounds of milk per cow on twice-a-day milkings. The state DHIA average that year was 16,475 pounds and the Jefferson County average was 16,421.

"Everything went right that year," Smith said. "Things just fell into place."

In 1989, his average production of 23,640 pounds was tops in his county, and included 899 pounds of fat per cow and 802 pounds of protein. That year his herd also finished 7th in the state in protein production, and 10th in the state in fat production.

"Sharon," a two-year old Holstein and the herd's top performer in 1989, produced 28,234 pounds of milk and 998 pounds of fat.

There have been some other outstanding performances on the Smith farm. "Lady" holds the all-time production record, producing 33,794 pounds of milk in 1988.

And in 1984, "Penny" produced 161 pounds of milk in one day.

Paying attention to details has helped set those records on the Smith farm. The cows receive accurate rations of haylage, corn silage, hay and a grain mix with a top dressing for the high producers, Smith said.

The Smith herd is a relatively small one, currently with 32 Holsteins and one token Guernsey. But Smith has no immediate plans to increase the size of the herd.

"If I can keep the bills paid with 32, that's enough," Brad said.

Also helping pay the bills is wife Marcia, a medical technologist at nearby DuBois Regional Medical Center. The Smiths have two children, Michelle, 6, and Dustin, 4.

Brad started to Delaware Valley College, intending to be a veterinarian. But to help meet school expenses, he worked on the college dairy farm, then took a second job at another dairy farm near the school.

After graduation he went to work for Byron Moore, the farm's former owner. When Moore retired, Brad bought the dairy operation in 1981, and got into farming "the hard way," without having a farm handed down through the family.

Brad paid off the cattle and machinery in his first six years. Beginning in 1987, he started payments on the real estate. When his 40th birthday rolls around in 1995, Brad's goal is to have that debt gone, too.

And he's confident that keeping his cows comfortable during the next five summers will keep him on track to reach that goal.
